Today

Mussolini Does Not Ask Rockefeller Free Port Machines Instead of Men Wall Street Cheers Up

—By Arthur Brisbane—

H. C. BYWATER, British naval expert, says Italy is building warships in secret, cruisers and destroyers "of phenomenal speed." The same Mr. Bywater criticized United States' 10,000-ton cruisers. He also "accused" this country of experimenting with the largest, most deadly torpedo in the world, electrically impelled, with high explosive power, to be launched against ships by entirely new methods.

Let us hope that accusation is sound, and that we are trying to do something to defend the country.

It is not likely that Mussolini is building his ships "secretly." He has always said to the rest of Europe: "You attend to your business, and I'll attend to Italy's business," and unlike ourselves, asks no one's permission to build ships or anything else.

The great Rockefeller City development in the heart of New York, seeking to avoid competition with other New York property owners, has wisely arranged to bring tenants from European countries.

England and France, through their governments, will exhibit their finest products in Rockefeller City space, and a bill signed by President Hoover makes that center, bonded by certain New York streets, a "free port."

Objects sent there for exhibition only can be admitted free of duty, no customs charge collected unless the goods are sold.

This takes you back to the middle-ages and the "Hanseatic League."

The late Judge Gary, of the big steel company, spoke of a free port in the South, where ore from Cuba and various metals for alloys could be brought in free of duty and sent out again, manufactured, for sale all over the world.

Copenhagen, Singapore, Hong Kong are some of the world's important free ports.

The Owens-Illinois Glass Co. re-organizes its operating schedule, working its men, instead of three eight-hour shifts a day, FOUR SIX-HOUR SHIFTS A DAY, six days a week. Six hours in a hot glass factory is plenty, and four shifts keep machinery working all the time, as it should work. The men have six hours of work, eight hours for sleep, 10 hours for what they choose, much of it, let us hope, for thinking and studying.

It will be a better world when industry is organized to make machines the slaves of men, instead of making men the slaves of machinery, which has been the rule since machines first arrived.

You realize what machinery does as compared with hand labor when you read that workers in a stocking factory in North Carolina are striking to get $2.25 for making 100 dozen pairs of stockings, about five pairs of stockings for one cent.

For some reason, Wall Street was cheerful yesterday. Prices up above the June rally. Cheerfulness was attributed by some to Senator Borah's statement that we ought not to collect what Europe owes us. If that is so, "The Street" is easily made cheerful.

Money is cheap all over the world, eight-hour call one per cent is the cost in Paris, and in New York money was lent at one per cent yesterday, with government securities as margin.

It is not a good sign when money is so cheap, it means nobody wants to borrow to start new enterprises that give employment. However, when money gets too cheap, those now afraid to lend except on a pawnshop basis will be compelled to adopt more liberal methods.

Germany's high court of the Reich sustains Von Hindenburg's appointment of a dictator to rule Prussia. Germany in a few days will hold another election, to decide between dictatorship and "democracy." Three such elections, without definite result, have been held already. Each costs five million dollars, which Germans might spend more usefully.

However, this is not the country to criticize anyone's foolish spending.

Santos Dumont, first man to fly in France, has just died in Brazil. His death reminds you of the rapidity of flying progress. It was Santos Dumont's friend, Blerlot, who won the $50,000 prize that Lord Northcliffe offered to anybody that would fly the English Channel.

Today an American young woman flies, alone, across the Atlantic ocean, just for the fun of it.

When Northcliffe offered his prize, the achievement was considered so improbable that he got Lloyds, for a small sum, to insure him against paying the $50,000. When Bleriot won, Lloyd paid it, so Northcliffe told this writer.

[Copyright, 1932, King Features Synd., Inc.]

HUSH RULE BLOCKS ALKY ING PROBE

WEATHER

Tuesday fair and warmer; Wednesday showers and thunder storms; cooler Wednesday night, moderate southerly winds.
High tide, 6:22 a. m.; 6:45 p. m.
Sun rises, 5:30; sets, 8:10.
Light all vehicles at 8:40 p. m.

The American is the only Boston daily paper using Universal Service and International News Service

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

A HOME PAPER FOR PEOPLE WHO THINK

VOL. 29—No. 108 Published Daily by W. R. Newspaper Pub Co. Entered as 2d Class Matter at Boston P. O. BOSTON, TUESDAY, JULY 26, 1932 2 CENTS ZONE PRICE 3 CTS

CURLEY BLASTS CHARITY WORKERS

Vets Fight Wrecking of Homes

BONUS ARMY BARRACKS TO BE RAZED

Steam Shovels Ordered for Direct Action to Evict Veterans at the Capital

Pictures on Page 7

Washington, July 26 (INS)—The bonus army was inevitably headed for trouble today. All peaceful moves of authorities to persuade the marchers to leave the capital have failed, and these failures have combined to create a situation which, police privately concede, is not relished.

Every victory of the bonus-seeking veterans over officials seeking to evict them from federal district buildings or property has increased their confidence, and correspondingly convinced the authorities that strenuous measures will be necessary to get the marchers to leave.

TENSION IS HIGH

The tension between police and all factions of the marchers was high today, and two serious gave open indication that the police were through with kid glove handling of the encamped veterans. Efforts to persuade the marchers to leave several federal-owned buildings were abandoned for direct action, and police inaugurated a policy of "no leniency" for any infraction of district laws.

The direct action called to effect evacuation of the lower Pennsylvania ave. quarter embodies physical "digging out" of the veterans. Steam shovels used to tear down the buildings to clear the ground for subsequent construction tomorrow will settle down to work regardless of whether veterans are living in the buildings.

NINE JAILED

Nine members of the so-called radical element of the army, including the two leaders, John Pace and Walter Eicher of Detroit, jailed when about 150 of their contingent tried to picket the White House, stood as testimony that police will stand for no infractions of law.

Several times the authorities have apparently "banged down" just prior to a "zero hour" of an eviction order, but both federal and district officials said that the decisions to extend the time limit for evacuation were made on the basis of "common sense."

The bonus marchers, for their part, are planning a court fight against ouster proceedings instituted against them by the government. Doak Carter of Cleveland, chief of staff to Commander Walter W. Waters, has charge of the legal work.

RICH MATRON IS SLAIN IN HOME

San Jose, Cal., July 26 (INS)—Mrs. Lillian Babcock, 44, society matron of Manila, Philippine Islands, was stabbed to death and her husband, Rider Babcock, wealthy importer and exporter, was critically wounded today by a mysterious assailant who broke into their room in the home of Mrs. Babcock's sister, Mrs. Laura H. Buckick, near Mountain View, north of here.

Maine Restaurant Man Ends His Life

Skowhegan, Me., July 26 (AP)—John D. Lockwood, 60, proprietor of a restaurant here, committed suicide in the cellar of his home today by shooting. Friends said he had been worried over his business. He is survived by his widow, three daughters and a brother, Oscar, who lives in Marlboro, Mass.

Poisoned Wife by Rubbing Ivy on Clothes

Northampton, July 26 (AP)—Antonio Ciaglio of Hadley pleaded guilty in district court here today in one of the most unusual assault cases ever before the court.

He admitted that he rubbed poison ivy leaves upon his wife's clothing and upon a towel she used with the result that the woman's life was for a time despaired of.

She was employed as a field worker and as she perspired her dampened clothing communicated the poison to her body and the towel she used to wipe her face did likewise.

The court continued the case for disposition.

CONRY SPELLING DONE BY GIRL

Miss Marie Maher, secretary to Traffic Commissioner Conry, took the rap today for the S-s spelling of "anonymous" in the prelude to yesterday's letter from "The Hatless Man, Station 16," anonymous critic of the police force.

Conry dictated the introductory paragraph, which contained the word, she said. She did not say he dictated the whole letter but reporters of newspapermen to see the originals of the two given out by the commissioner have proved unerring and a set of the only dictionaries containing some of the words used by "The Hatless Man" is in the commissioner's office.

YOUTH FLINGS GIRL FROM CAR

Dazed after being pushed out of a man's car, Miss Margaret Tubb, 19, of Warren st., Charlestown, was found lying on the Revere Beach parkway near the overpass at the Revere-Chelsea line today.

John Andrews, Coast Guard of City Point station, found her and drove her to Revere headquarters.

Here she told police she had met a young man whose name she did not know and who had driven her around all evening after meeting her at Revere Beach.

They were near the overpass, she said, when he became objectionable and she screamed. The man, whom she had been calling "Bud," stopped the car, threw her out and drove away.

The fall dazed her, she said, and she did not get the registration number.

She was turned over by Revere police to metropolitan district police at Revere, who sought a description of the auto.

Cross Ready to Run Again

Hartford, Ct., July 26 (INS)—Governor Cross will accept renomination if the Democratic party in Connecticut wants him for the office, he told International News Service today.

Good News

In the Day's News

(Further details elsewhere in this edition)

NEW HAVEN'S income for half a year was $96,785.

HUDSON Motor production increase is announced.

LOFT, Inc., reports sales increase for first half of 1932.

LOCKPORT, N. Y.—Lockport Cotton Batting Co., after operating at capacity for the past year, has begun construction of an addition to its bleaching department.

REMINGTON RAND, Inc., increases working force and starts night operations.

STEADY broadening in textile markets with increase in goods orders cheers producers.

ALCOHOL RING PROBE NEAR COLLAPSE

Many Witnesses Refuse to Testify and Federal Case Proves to Be Weak

Refusal of a score of witnesses to testify caused a serious hitch in the federal grand jury investigation of industrial alcohol syndicates operating in this section.

This was revealed after the jurors, assembled to make a report, adjourned until Thursday. It is rumored the report, when made, will not contain any indictments.

Witnesses who refused to testify, after being summoned to the warehouse when and alleged clerks, it is understood. Their grounds were that they might incriminate themselves.

ARREST THREATENED

At least one was threatened with arrest over the telephone by Joseph A. Tulco, leader of the special investigating squad, but the threat did not have the desired effect.

Refusal of the witnesses to testify against the alcohol gangs virtually caused a collapse of the probe on which thousands of dollars had been spent, with numerous agents gathering thousands of pages of evidence all over New England. About 20 witnesses did appear and testified.

It also came to light that agents of the local prohibition unit, some of whom were called as witnesses, failed to produce anything of value to the investigation.

PROSECUTOR REPORTS

Tutco, it was learned, was invited by Rev. Jonathan Lewis, the prohibition administrator, to study records in his office at the beginning of the special investigation. The special leader's terse rejection of the invitation is said to have caused some feeling.

Joseph Coldiron, special assistant attorney general, who was sent here from Washington to handle presentation of the evidence so laboriously gathered, to the grand jury, has returned to Washington.

Efforts are now being made to round up some alcohol gangs that hastily removed their headquarters from Boston early in the investigation and established themselves in Chelsea and Revere.

German Navy Ship Sinks; 40 Saved

Kiel, Germany, July 26 (AP)—The German naval training ship Niobe sank today in a hurricane off Fehmarn Belt lightship. Forty were saved and other naval craft went to the rescue.

Fehmarn Belt is a shoal off Fehmarn Island which lies in the Baltic not far off the coast of Holstein.

Von Gronau Gets Off on Hop to Montreal

Cartwright, Labrador, July 26 (AP)—Capt. Wolfgang Von Gronau took off at 8:50 a. m., E. S. T., today for Montreal, continuing the flight from Germany to Chicago. Ahead of him lay 1000 miles, much of it barren country.

Flier's Brother Dies

Oklahoma City, July 26 (AP)—Jennings Bryan Griffin, 33, brother of Bennett Griffin, Oklahoma City aviator whose attempt to circle the globe ended disastrously in Russia, died here today following an appendicitis operation.

ERNEST ALEXANDER AUGUSTINE FRANZOSA

Probe of Ring Nets Suspect in Police Death

MISS MONA LEVINE

Ernest A. Alexander and Augustine Franzosa of Dorchester, seized by police in an investigation of an alleged auto theft ring. Franzosa was grilled today on the killing more than two years ago of Patrolman Franklin B. Dreyer in Dorchester. Miss Mona Levine, in whose car the pair were found after it had been reported stolen, is shown at the right. (Staff photos.)

MELLON SCOFFS AT RESIGNING

New York, July 26 (AP)—Andrew W. Mellon, returning today on the liner Majestic, denied reports that he intended to resign as ambassador to Great Britain.

"That's news to me—mid-summer news," said Mr. Mellon.

The ambassador while on board the boat was not certain whether he would go directly to Pittsburgh or to Washington, but said he would spend no time in New York.

He declined to discuss the reason for his trip home, saying only:

"There was a lull over there for the time, and I took advantage of it."

He refused to discuss debts or reparations, or anything official.

Mellon received newspapermen in his stateroom aboard the Majestic.

"I don't want to make any statement about anything official or controversial," he told them.

Although he refused to discuss the debt situation, he said that he was keeping in touch with matters. He considered the Imperial Conference at Ottawa a matter about which he should not comment. He also was silent on the coming political campaign.

Walker Charges He Is Victim of Plot

New York, July 26 (AP)—Mayor James J. Walker's reply to accusations of unfitness filed against him with Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt will include a charge that there is a Republican conspiracy to discredit him, newspapers said today. The Mayor's reply is expected to reach the Governor about the end of the week.

N. Y. Asks Loan for Roads

Albany, N. Y., July 26 (AP)—New York State is prepared to take advantage immediately of Federal emergency highway loans by asking for bids on road work that would cost $4,500,000.

BALANCES AND RECEIPTS

Washington, July 26—Today's Treasury balance, $168,187,186; U. S. customs receipts, $13,991,024.

Curtis See Turn for the Better

Cincinnati, O., July 26 (AP)—Vice-President Curtis sees a silver lining through the clouds of current economic conditions.

"There is evidently a turn for the better," he said today as he halted here en route to the Olympic games. "We are getting reports every day at Washington about additional factories opening up here and there, and this news, together with advances in some farm products, like hogs and cattle, causes a feeling of hope as to the future.

"There is evidently a turn for the better."

SKINNER, AUTO LEADER, DIES

Kenneth A. Skinner, 73, one of the leaders in the New England auto industry and former world's champion roller skater, died today at Pondville Hospital in Norfolk after a long illness.

For 12 years Skinner defended his roller skating title against all comers, appearing in competition in various parts of the world.

Returning to Boston from Australia in 1897, where he had gone to live following his marriage to Miss Adelaide Cushman, an actress, Skinner brought with him one of the first gasoline driven autos. For several years he engaged in endurance driving contests and then established one of the first auto renting agencies in Boston.

He was one of the first to suggest a campaign against reckless driving.

At Braves Field

BRAVES		CUBS
Maranville, 2b		Hack, 3b
Leach, rf		Herman, 2b
Berger, cf		Cuyler, cf
Worthington, lf		Stephenson, lf
Moore, 3b		Moore, rf
Shires, 1b		Grimm, 1b
Ford, ss		Hartnett, c
Spohrer, c		Jurges, ss
Brandt, p		Smith, p

Game starts at 3 p. m.

GRILL YOUTH ON POLICE KILLING

Investigation of the unsolved slaying of Patrolman Franklin B. Dreyer in Dorchester in April, 1930, reopened today with the capture of two men in Roxbury in connection with the operations of a widespread New England auto theft ring.

They gave their names as Ernest A. Alexander, 27, of Adams st., Dorchester, and Augustine Franzosa, 26, of Center st., Dorchester.

Police said Franzosa was picked up as a suspicious person at the time of the Dreyer shooting. He was released after the patrolman, then alive, was unable to identify him at City Hospital.

The pair were booked as suspicious persons and were taken to City Prison. They will be arraigned in Roxbury court today charged with larceny of the auto in which they were found.

The capture of the two men occurred last night after they had been under surveillance for the past three weeks.

The two men were unarmed at the time of the capture, although police claim that both were reported to be desperate and armed.

The machine in which they were parked on Cummington st., the property of Miss Mona Levine of Hutchins st., Roxbury, had been reported stolen in Dudley st., Roxbury.

Shaw, 76 Years Old, Fit, But Says No!

Malvern, Worcestershire, England, July 26 (AP)—George Bernard Shaw, who is 76 today, spent his birthday here, where he is on a vacation, much the same as he spends every other day—"conceiling the fact that I'm 76."

He looked thoroughly fit. But he wouldn't admit it.

"I'm not fit," he insisted. "I'm very much overworked. I've been that all my life."

$130,000 for Bay State

Washington, July 26 (INS)—Allotments approved today for river and harbor work in various parts of the country included $130,000 for the Fall River Harbor, Massachusetts, for dredging a 35-foot channel through Mount Hope Bay.

SCORES THEIR TREATMENT OF RELIEF APPLICANTS

Also Raps City Councillors for Alleged Interference in Welfare Matters

Charge that some city councillors have attempted to intimidate workers in the public welfare department, and have also solicited voters to apply for welfare aid, was made today by Mayor Curley at a stormy meeting of the entire welfare department personnel in the City Council chamber.

The mayor severely criticized "certain visitors" of the department for regarding seekers of city aid as subservient to the visitors' "superiority complex."

Predicting that we will be out of the depression by mid-winter, Curley asserted, however, that conditions are so serious now that the amount of money necessary to care for the needy and the "new poor," is almost in excess of the amount that can be raised, and that unworthy persons must be stricken from the welfare list. The mayor said:

"I am a little bit disturbed with reference to the expenditures of the Public Welfare Department. I am also disturbed as to whether or not there will be sufficient money to meet the situation during the coming winter.

SERVANTS, NOT MASTERS

"I am likewise disturbed by the attitude of certain visitors laboring under the impression that they are spending their own money and also laboring under the delusion that the people seeking city aid and whom they are serving are subservient to them.

"Such visitors I wish to remember that they are only servants, not masters, and that they are exceedingly fortunate in having a job.

"I think that in certain cases the checking-up system of the welfare department is not all it should be. It is only natural, I suppose, that with the increasing number of cases there is a sort of letting down o nthe check-up. We should realize and shoulder responsibility in times like these.

CHARGES FAVORITISM

"Information has come to me that cases which should be checked are not; that reports of investigations that never were made are on file and that we are sending through cases with okays where okays are not warranted.

"I know those visitors who have done this sort of thing and are still doing it. Then, too, the element of favoritism is entering into the disbursement of public funds here as in every other great city.

"I have asked the police department to correct something which long ago should have been corrected if the staff visitors of the department did their work as it should be done and favoritism was not the root of gifts.

"I have asked the police to look up the number of cases and to look up cases, where applicants

Continued on Page 2, Column 6

In Today's American

Amusements	11
Classified	21
Comic Page	16
Crossword Puzzle	20
Daily True Story	16
Death Notices	21
Financial	18, 19
Girl About Town	11
Magazine Page	7
Political Notes	21
Radio	18
Seldes, True to Type	16
Sobol	21
Society	15
Sports	8, 9, 10
Skyscraper	17
"The Faithful Cheat"	17
Towne Books	15
Martha Lee	12

VET AID SEEN AS TWO BILLION A YEAR BY 1945

END OF RELIEF URGED TO MEN NOT DISABLED

Ex-Soldiers Push League to Work for Reduction in Government Expenses

New York, July 26 (AP)—Maj.-Gen. James G. Harbord today told the first national meeting of the National Economy League that conservative figures by the government indicate that by 1945 payments to veterans and their dependents would reach $2,000,000,000 annually under existing laws.

Delegates from 30 states attended the meeting to bring about a country-wide organization of the league, formed to aid in bringing about economy in government.

Gen. Harbord read a letter from President Hoover and a telegram from Governor Roosevelt, praising the movement. The General outlined the formation of the league early in May, when a few veterans, to whom it was apparent that the largest single economy that could be made in the national budget was in the elimination of unjustifiable appropriations o veterans who suffered no disability, decided to form an organization to correct that condition.

JUST REWARDS URGED

He pointed out that all of these items firmly believed in just compensation to men who were really injured, and their dependents.

President Hoover's letter said he was deeply interested to learn of the formation of the league, and pointed out there was "great need for a nationwide and non-partisan organization designed to give persistent attention to keeping down governmental expenditures."

Governor Roosevelt's message said he was glad the league would work to create a clearer understanding of all government expenditures on the part of the average voter, and added that "knowledge of and interest in federal and state budgets by the electorate is essential to sustain the executive and legislative branches of government in reducing government costs and balancing budgets."

EXPENSE SOURCES CITED

Granville Clark, president of the league, said 70 per cent of the annual federal expense is expended on four items, public debt, army and navy, public works and veterans. Of these four, he said, public debt is increasing, public works expenditures probably have increased, and army and navy costs can only be reduced if and when international disarmament becomes a reality, and therefore veterans' expense is the only one that can be cut.

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd termed the league a "national coalition of citizens to supply an effective method of correcting the gross governmental mistakes that are making this depression chronic."

Flying Is Entering Society -:- By FRANKLIN COLLIER

COMING OUT PARTY.
IF THAT'S SOCIETY, EX-CUSE ME!
MRS. DE SPOOF HAS GROUNDED ME TILL MILLY GETS BACK
THERE IS ALWAYS A CRASH-DOWN TO THIS FLYING BUSINESS
ALL THAT IS LEFT OF THE AIR HERO
PILOTS ENGAGED BY SOCIETY WILL BE REQUIRED TO MOW LAWNS DURING IDLE HOURS, THE SAME AS THEIR CHAUFFEURS.

ROOSEVELT MAY OPEN CAMPAIGN IN BAY STATE

Meets Ely Tomorrow; Plans Trade Revival to Restore Our Prosperity

Albany, N. Y., July 26 (INS)—Governor Roosevelt, in his first campaign speech, will offer some concrete suggestions for restoring prosperity through Democratic administration, his advisers said today.

Where the Governor will fire the opening gun of his campaign has not been decided, but it will be early next month. It may be in one of the New England states, possibly Connecticut or Massachusetts, or it may be in Ohio.

Some of Roosevelt's friends have advised him to open his campaign in Massachusetts as a friendly gesture to the Al Smith Democrats. He is scheduled to confer here tomorrow with Gov. Joseph B. Ely, leader of the Smith forces in the Bay State, in an effort to heal the wounds of the Chicago convention.

PROSPERITY KEYNOTE

While Gov. Roosevelt repeatedly has insisted the presidential campaign cannot and will not revolve around one chief issue, it is known he intends to stress the country's economic condition in a majority of his speeches.

"It cannot be said that any one particular issue is the major one of the campaign," he asserted. What is of paramount importance to one section of the country may be only of passing interest to another."

Roosevelt takes the position that his campain really got under way when he flew to Chicago and accepted the presidential nomination. He is anxious, however, to get out on the political firing line and he will do so as soon as he dinoses of the charges against Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York.

FOR TRADE REVIVAL

The governor is reported to hold the belief that one of the most sensible ways of restoring prosperity is to revive American trade abroad. Without going into the question of whether America should recognize Soviet Russia, the governor is said to feel that some steps might be taken to increase American trade in that country.

He has obtained some first hand information of conditions in Russia from Walter Duranty, American journalist who has been stationed for several years at Moscow.

"This was one of the rare occasions when I interviewed a newspaper man, instead of being interviewed," the governor commented, smiling.

Within a few days, it is said, Roosevelt will confer with another "expert" on Soviet Russia, which leads to the belief that the governor has something in mind concerning trade with that country in the event of his election.

Prussian Chief

General Rundstedt, named by President Von Hindenburg to command the affected regions of Prussia, where a state of martial law has been declared. The control of the Prussian police force of 90,000 men has been taken over by the Reichs. (International News Photos.)

BANKS TO ISSUE MONEY UNDER BOND DEPOSIT

Glass-Borah Clause Permits $995,000,000 Expansion in Currency for 3 Years

Washington, July 26 (AP)—A stream of inquiries from national banks concerning the possibility of their issuing currency with government bonds as security, as permitted under the Glass-Borah amendment to the home loan bill, continued today to flow into the office of the comptroller of the currency.

The act permits national banks to issue the currency by depositing with the United States Treasurer government bonds bearing not more than 3½ per cent. interest and paying a charge of one-half per cent. a year, together with the expense of turning out the money.

THREE-YEAR ACT

The act, operative for three years, would permit a maximum expansion of $995,000,000 in the nation's currency.

While the names of a number of banks which inquired about the law was made public yesterday, officials of the comptroller's office said today no more information would be announced.

The only facts to be given out hereafter, it was added, would be in a monthly circulation statement of the total of the new circulation or in the annual report of the comptroller. Heretofore the only report of currency issued by national banks has been in the annual report to Congress.

While requests for information from national banks indicated they desired to issue millions in new currency, there was a difference of opinion among officials as to whether the act would really bring about an expansion.

DIFFER ON RESULTS

Heretofore national banks issued currency on security of consol bonds paying 2 per cent interest issued by the Treasury for that purpose. Under the old law there was in circulation a total of $718,079,524 in national bank notes while Federal Reserve notes and Federal Reserve bank notes in circulation or held by the banks amounted to $3,100,000,000.

Some authorities took the view increases in national bank notes would be offset by decreases in Federal Reserve notes.

Meantime, officials expected to begin issuing currency under the new law within a week.

MARTIAL LAW IN GERMANY ENDS

Berlin, July 26 (INS)—President Von Hindenburg today lifted the decree of martial law imposed upon Berlin and the Province of Brandenburg last week.

This action was taken after renewed rioting had developed in Berlin over night and Gen. Kurt von Schleicher had made it known to all the political parties that bayonets and bullets would be used to end any further election disorder in Germany.

The action of liftine the decree of martial law makes little difference in the physical situation of Germany. Chancellor Franz Papen remains commissioner of Prussia.

The police throughout the country are officered by the selections of Von Schleicher.

The old cabinet of Prussia is out of office.

PEOPLE

Who Interest You and What They Are Doing

Mrs. Carr Gets Divorce From Former Yale Athlete

Oakland, Cal., July 26—Virginia K. Carr, wife of Sabin Carr, noted athlete and former Yale track captain, has received an interlocutory degree of divorce from him on grounds of habitual intoxication and neglect.

Mrs. Carr was given an order for $150 a month for support of their two children, Patricia Joan, 3, and Cynthia, 7 months.

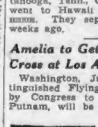
In 1928, Carr, a senior at Yale, broke all records for pole vaulting and won the Olympic title.

Sabin Carr

The couple were married at Chattanooga, Tenn., Oct. 16, 1926, and went to Hawaii for their honeymoon. They separated here two weeks ago.

Amelia to Get Flying Cross at Los Angeles

Washington, July 26—The Distinguished Flying Cross, awarded by Congress to Amelia Earhart Putnam, will be presented to the first woman solo flyer across the Atlantic in ceremonies attending the opening of the Olympic games in Los Angeles by Vice - President Curtis.



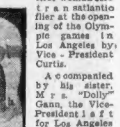
Amelia Earhart

As accompanied by his sister, Mrs. "Dolly" Gann, the Vice-President left for Los Angeles at 6:03 last night. He will spend today in Chicago and will resume his trip to the coast tonight.

It was at the special request of President Hoover that Curtis will make the presentation to America's outstanding woman flyer.

Laurence Schwab's Cruiser Destroyed by Fire

New York, July 26—Follow Thru, an expensive cruiser owned by Laurence Schwab, theatrical producer, was destroyed by fire off West 82d st. Capt. Edward O'Reilly, the only person aboard, was slightly burned as he jumped overboard and swam ashore. The loss was estimated at $50,000.



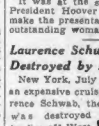
Laurence Schwab

Buddy Rogers, actor and orchestra leader, borrowed the boat from Schwab on Saturday to meet Mary Brian at Harmon. The actress stepped ashore at Duffy's Landing at 80th st. Rogers moored the boat to a buoy there, leaving O'Reilly in charge.

While gasoline was being put aboard yesterday a short circuit developed in the ignition and sparks ignited the gasoline. Three explosions sounded as O'Reilly dived.

Mrs. Mack, Bride Again, Day after Ex-Hubby Weds

Los Angeles, July 26—Mrs. Marion J. Mack, former wife of Charles Mack of "Two Black Crows" fame, became the bride here of Estelle G. Lawler, Hollywood broker.



Mrs. Mack

Her marriage took place a day after Mack married Mrs. Myrtle Buckley, of Oakland, Cal., at Ensenada, lower California.

The Macks were married in Washington, D. C., in 1920. Before the divorce took place last year, both filed divorce complaints against each other, making similar charges.

Save Stricken Man in Elevator Shaft

Brockton, July 26—Police and firemen rescued Howard Richardson, 23, of High st., today, from the top of an elevator where he lay unconscious in Chamber of Commerce hall on Legion parkway. Two fellow-workmen, Benjamin and Henry Gale, discovered him on the elevator after they had drawn it from the basement to a point between the first and second floors.

Richardson had collapsed from acute indigestion and fallen into the shaft. At Brockton Hospital it was said he would recover.

John J. Daley Out for Representative

John J. Daley, life-long resident of Lynn, today filed papers for the Democratic nomination for Representative in the 11th District. Daley is a graduate of Lynn Classical High and the Bentley School of Accounting and Finance.

REP. TILSON TO QUIT CONGRESS

Washington, July 26 (AP)—Representative Tilson of Connecticut, former Republican House leader, said today in a congressional record statement that he would resign soon and would not seek reelection.

Tilson said he had planned to "seek activity in other fields where I trust my talents will be equally well employed and where I hope the net financial return for my labors will at least be on the right side of the ledger.

"Making this decision at this time," he added, "does not necessarily mean that I am permanently retiring from the public service. That will depend upon circumstances."

It was announced yesterday that Tilson would manage the Eastern speakers bureau for the Republican national campaign.

Ancient Coins In Loot of Burglars

Old coins and specie were included in loot stolen by burglars from his home at 66 Sparks st., Cambridge, over the week-end, Atty. John Noble, who has offices at 62 Devonshire st., reported to Cambridge police today. The attorney discovered the burglary when he returned from his summer home.

The lot included $100 worth of old 50-cent pieces, three $1 bills dating back as far as 1860, other ancient money, four suits of clothing, two dress suits and four dresses.

Wife Says Husband Sailed With Divorcee

New York, July 26—Charges that her husband turned cavalier to a wealthy divorcee and sailed on the same ship with her to Europe were made by Mrs. Hazel Segur in a separation suit today.

Mrs. Segur declared her spouse, Roy Fletcher Segur, real estate salesman, is well aware of the suit because the papers were served on him as he strode nonchalantly up the gangplank of the Aquitania on June 29.

Tunney to Become Connecticut Voter

Stamford, Conn., July 26—Gene Tunney, who has offered his services to the Democratic party for the coming campaign, has taken his initial step toward becoming a voter in Connecticut.

The retired heavyweight champion, in a letter to Sheriff Thomas F. Reilly, Democratic registrar of voters, asked that his name be placed on the list of "to be made" voters.

A Local Girl Makes Good

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Got to make a big noise on the thunder machine for Ma Ferguson of Texas.

She swept the Texas Democratic primaries under the carpets, in the corners and out the back door.

Next thing she has to do is shellac Governor Sterling in the Democratic run-off election. After that she must knock off the Republican candidate in the regular gubernatorials.

If she grabs all three heats she gets the Texas loving cup and Pa Ferguson puts his shaving mug back in that Austin barber shop.

Pa says Texas is setting two governors for the price of one. He goes where Ma goes or Ma don't go out tonight.

Ma admits that she asks Pa for advice. But if there is lace on the Texas state seal you can say that she's the head man.

Copyright, 1932, Distributed by Universal Service, Inc.

2 STATES ENTER FIGHT ON WILL

Whether Massachusetts or Connecticut courts have purisdiction of the $12,000 estate of Lieut.-Comdr. Thomas G. Berrien, U. S. N., will be decided by Judge George M. Poland of Suffolk Probate Court in an action begun today.

The naval officer lived in the West End when he died in 1930, but also had residence in New London, Ct. His widow, who was Marion Day, former Follies girl, was burned to death a year ago.

The heirs are Edward B. Berrien of El Paso, Tex., father of the deceased officer; Mrs. Julia Day of Brooklyn, mother of Mrs. Berrien. The latter seeks to establish Massachusetts jurisdiction which would entitle her to $5000 as compared with $2000 under Connecticut jurisdiction.

VET HEADS LIST FOR CITY JOB

David C. Miles of Pleasant ave., Mattapan, heads a list of 17 persons certified, today by the Civil Service Commission for the position of clerk of works, city of Boston. Milne is a disabled war veteran.

The examination was held on May 4 and 45 persons took them.

The others on the list in the order named are:

Neal F. Boyle, Dorchester; John P. Kelly, Brighton (disabled veteran); Frank H. Whelan, Brighton; Joseph M. Morton, Dorchester; James J. Byrne, Boston; Cornelius F. Quinlan, Charlestown; Philip V. Maney, Dorchester; Ralph E. Quigley, Brighton (veterans).

Erwin A. Seifert, Dorchester; Maurice E. Maney, Dorchester; George E. Meyer, West Roxbury; Romeo E. Bessi, Boston; William K. McGarvey, Dorchester; Arthur N. Rae, Jamaica Plain; Thomas A. Quirk, Dorchester; James Needham, Dorchester.

IRISH-BRITISH PEACE FIZZLES

London, July 26 (INS)—Reports that new peace efforts had been inaugurated by Eamon De Valera, Irish Free State President, in an effort to end the Anglo-Irish tariff war, proved unfounded today.

Hugo Flinn, Parliamentary secretary of the Free State ministry, was said to have arrived this morning bearing overtures from De Valera and London Irishmen said he had talked to De Valera over the telephone and would call at the foreign office before noon.

Foreign office officials waited for hours for Flinn's appearance. Then De Valera's supposed emissary was found at Cork, Ireland, an dedclared he had no intention of coming to London and said he had never heard of any peace overtures.

FARLEY CONFERS WITH LEADERS

Washington, July 26 (AP)—James A. Farley, new chairman of the Democratic national committee, today presented the Roosevelt campaign plans to congressional Democratic leaders.

The chairman also at a lengthy conference on Capitol Hill listened to the suggestions of the party leaders here.

The conference was held in the office of Senator Harrison, of Missouri. Farley was accompanied by Robert Jackson, secretary of the national committee, and Charles Michleson, the director of publicity.

Those attending the conference included Senators Hull and McKellar of Tennessee; Connally, Texas; Ashurst and Hayden, Arizona; Black, Alabama, and Trammell of Florida.

Representative Rainey of Illinois, the Democratic leader, headed a group from the House attending the parley. Others from that side of the Capitol included Representative Ayres, of Kansas; Lewis, of Maryland; and Mrs. Pearl Peden Owen, of Florida. South Trimble, clerk of the House, also was present.

Chicago's Mayor Off to Europe for Heal'h

Chicago, July 26 (AP)—Mayor Anton J. Cermak left today for a six-weeks' trip to Europe in search of health at the baths in Carlsbad, his native village of Kladno in Czecho-Slovakia and the Italian villa of his friend, Paul V. Collani.

The mayor is accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Frank J. Jirka, and her husband, who is his physician.

Church Leader Dies

Halifax, N. S., July 26 (AP)—Noel H. Wilcox, 42, archdeacon of Halifax, died at his home in Dartmouth today after an illness of several months. He is survivedby his widow and four children.

CURLEY HITS AT WELFARE BOARD

Continued from First Page.

have been arrested more than twice in a single year.

PROTEST JUSTIFIED

"There are some cases where applicants have been arrested 30 times in a single year and during that entire year received aid from the city. There are nonsupport cases of similar description.

"The public are justified in protesting the increasing expenditures for welfare providing we fail to safeguard them against those not entitled to receive aid.

"Conditions are tending to improve today as a result of the legislative construction adopted and contemplated, and I feel certain now that by the middle of winter we will have well emerged from the depression."

Rec. McCarthy of the Welfare Department, said the department has about 25,000 cases. Of this number the "new group" or applicants forced to seek aid because of unemployment conditions, total about 12,000. The others are receiving "regular dependant aid" McCarthy said, old age assistance and mother's aid.

RAPS AT COUNCILLORS

It was further revealed that the Board of Overseers acts personally on only 12 per cent of all the cases, and that the expenditure of over $800,000 a month is decided upon by the Board of Supervisors, numbering three members, John J. Kelly, Horatio W. Nelson and Lillian M. Foss.

Curley remarked that he did not believe it good business to have only these three give the final word. The mayor brought the meeting to a close with this warning to the staff visitors:

"The mayor alone, by law, can remove you from office. No member of the City Council has any control over the actions of your department, although I am quite aware that there is considerable interference by city councillors."

He said he had seen letters sent out by city councillors urging voters to solicit aid from the welfare department. This, the mayor charged, is a political move by "council politicians" with an eye to the impending elections.

Rioting Jobless Loot Shops in St. John's

St. John's, Newfoundland, July 26 (AP)—Several hundred unemployed men rioted in the streets early today, pillaging shops and smashing windows. Two police men were injured and 18 rioters were arrested.

JANITOR'S CASH WILL BE HER'S

Mrs. Pauline E. Sanborn of Brunswick, Me., heiress to the $15,000 savings of George B. Edwards, her janitor-father, left Wakefield for Brunswick this afternoon with her aunt, confident that the small fortune would be hers.

In Middlesex probate court, this morning, Judge Hollis Harris appointed John L. Preston of Wakefield administrator of the estate. Mrs. Sanborn hadn't seen her father for 17 years.

Although there was some doubt Mrs. Sanborn would receive the money because an old will made by Edwards bequeathed his fortune to charities, Preston today dismissed the idea.

"No other will but this one has been found and this will is definitely invalid," he explained. "That being the case, Edwards died intestate and as there are no other heirs, all the money will go to Mrs. Sanborn."

Mrs. Sanborn, mother of two children had her hair marcelled today and left for home with Aunt McLellan of Westbrook, Me., smiling and happy.

Train Wreckage Is Combed for Bodies

Bellefontaine, O., July 26—All available wrecking crews and equipment were at work today searching the wreckage of 40 Big Four railroad freight cars believed to contain the bodies of between 10 and 15 train riders.

POWER HEADS IN PARLEY HERE

Public utilities commissioners of Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont and Rhode Island today had an important conference in the State House with officials of the New England Power Association over "financial problems of the electric industry."

It is understood that the immediate matter discussed had to do with the re-financing of the Grafton Power Co. and the $20,000,000 15-mile water power development in Barnet, Vt., and Munro, N. H. The Grafton company is a subsidiary of the New England Power Association.

The association was represented by President Frank D. Comerford and Treasurer Carl S. Herrmann.

Amesbury Rate Down

Amesbury, July 26—Amesbury new tax rate was announced today as $33.50, a reduction of 50 cents from last year's rate.

PROSECUTOR IS HOAX VICTIM

Los Angeles, July 26 (INS)—District Attorney Buron Fitts was made the victim of what is believed to have been a "poison tongue" plot early today.

He was reported to have died from a heart attack in the Malibu beach home of his brother-in-law, George Gregory.

But District Attorney Fitts is very much alive, and plans to make a thorough investigation to determine what lies at the bottom of the mysterious telephone calls that went out all night since midnight to newspaper offices, to the sheriff's office, to the police department, and to friends, all telling the startling news of his supposed sudden demise.

JOHNSON QUERY UP TO HOOVER

San Francisco, July 26 (INS)—United States Senator Hiram Johnson today had indirectly called upon President Hoover to announce his stand on prohibition.

"The nation," Johnson said, "is waiting to hear what the President has to say about prohibition. The wets say he's dry. The wets say he's wet.

"The President ought to clarify the situation in his statement accepting the Republican nomination."

Prohibition, Johnson declared, continued to be one of the outstanding issues of the day.

"Is it no longer a question of 'Are you in favor of a referendum?' " the Senator explained. "That has been conceded. The question now is: 'Are you for or against the Eighteenth Amendment?' "

COHALAN SAYS EUROPE CAN PAY

By STANTON B. LEEDS

(Copyright, 1932, by International News Service)

Paris, July 26—Daniel F. Cohalan, former New York State Supreme Court justice and foreign affairs authority, today declared that the European nations are perfectly able to pay their war debts to the United States and must do so unless Washington cancels the obligations.

In an interview, Cohalan characterized Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, and Walter Lippman, New York newspaper writer, as "propagandists" favoring America's cancellation of war debts, Cohalan said:

"I can find no talk of repudiating these debts in France, but perhaps it might be better for the United States if Europe did repudiate its obligations—then these nations never could get into us again.

"But what they want, and what propagandists liked Dr. Butler and Walter Lippman advocate, is that we should cancel.

"Why should we cancel war debts? Why should American workers pay the debts of two of the wealthiest countries in the world when they don't even talk of cancelling what they owe their own British and French nationals?

"Germany also could pay if the allies had not crippled her production.

"One of the great weaknesses of the Republican party is 'pussyfooting' over the war debt issue. The people fear the Republican administration will cancel American first mortgages, thus converting the bankers' present second mortgage to a first mortgage."

Held in Wife's Death

Three Rivers, Que., July 26—Five months after fire swept his home and fatally burned his wife, Donat Thiffault, farmer of St. Theole, is held here as material witness, Mrs. Thiffault had entertained fears for her life prior to the fatal fire.

FR. COX DEMANDS BEER; OFF TO AID BONUS VETS

SQUAW LIFE COOLS THEIR LOVE FOR INDIANS

WHITE BRIDES REVEAL TORTURES BY INDIANS

DIVORCE | Mrs. Keaton Asks One From Buster

BUSTER KEATON MRS. KEATON

JOSEPH KEATON ROBERT KEATON

The moving picture world was prepared for the announcement that Mrs. Natalie Talmadge Keaton had started action for divorce against the movie star, Buster Keaton. It has happened. "Extreme mental cruelty, great humiliation, mortification" are charged. Mrs. Keaton gets the boys, Joseph, 10, and Robert, 8. A property settlement has been made. It all started when Buster took the boys for an airplane ride. Mrs. Buster objected. (International News Photos.)

STAY TILL HELL FREEZES, PLEA TO MARCHERS

Fighting Priest Says Give Idle Money to Buy Brew, Then Provide It for Them

New York, July 26—The Rev. James R. Cox, pastor of St. Patrick's Church in Pittsburgh, Pa., who last January led the "hunger march" of unemployed on Washington returned from Europe on the liner Majestic today. He declared he is going to Washington to aid the bonus army.

He revealed that he is "receptive" to the presidential candidacy on the "jobless party" ticket. The party will hold a convention in St. Louis August 17-18.

Father Cox said:

BITTER FIGHT URGED

"I am going down to Washington at once and tell those veterans to stay there until hell freezes over," Father Cox said. "Their very presence in the capital of the United States is an eternal protest against existing conditions."

He said the plight of the veterans prompted him to cut short his European trip and that he is prepared to do anything he can for them.

Father Cox expanded somewhat on the "jobless party" and its plans to conduct a vigorous political fight for the unemployed. After disclosing that he had been approached to accept the presidential nomination and stating he was receptive to the suggestion, he declared:

"GIVE THEM LIQUOR'

"There are 9,000,000 unemployed in this country. With their families they constitute nearly 18,000,000 voters.

"Give them money to buy beer first and then furnish the beer."

He said he had received the consent of Bishop Hugh Boyle of Pittsburgh to take part in activities other than his ecclesiastical duties.

Father Cox said the reason he is receptive to the idea of becoming a presidential candidate is that he wants to call the attention of the nation to the "deplorable" conditions which exist.

"The two old parties promised beer," said Father Cox. "But of what use is beer if people haven't the money to buy it?"

Father Cox said that while abroad he had an audience with the Pope.

MRS. WHITE EAGLE MRS. WILLIAMS

Mrs. White Eagle and her mother, Mrs. Charles Williams of Akron, Ohio, were promised palaces in the wilds, so they wed San Blas Indians in Panama. The palaces turned out to be huts and they lived the lives of squaws until a Red Cross plane carried them out of the jungle. "Never again," they cried when this picture was snapped on their arrival in New York. (I.N.P.)

WOMEN NOW IN NEW YORK TELL OF JUNGLE LIFE

Lived in Squalor and Filth Subject to Strange Customs of San Blas Tribe

Two white women, a mother and daughter from Akron, Ohio, have returned to New York after six months spent in primitive torture as the wives of San Blas, Panama, Indians. They were Mrs. Cora D. Brown and her daughter, Mrs. Gladys Hill, until they married two San Blass Indians and went to live among the primitive, half-savage tribe of their husbands.

The only white women who ever lived among the jungles of the San Blas Islands, they were rescued by U. S. naval and Red Cross officials and taken by plane to Cristobal, C. Z., where they were put aboard the S. S. Ancon, bound for New York.

Mrs. Charlie Williams, the mother is a frail, timid little woman with gray hair, and her daughter, Mrs. White Eagle, is a sturdy red-haired girl who showed little effect of her hardships. Here is their story of their strange adventures among the jungle tribe, written exclusively for Universal Service.

By MRS. CHARLIE WILLIAMS and MRS. WHITE EAGLE
(Formerly Mrs. Cora D. Brown and Mrs. Gladys Hill)
(Copyright, 1932, Universal Service, Inc.)

New York, July 26 —Seeing a real bed again after six months of sleeping on the cold, damp ground—actually having bread and meat to eat after a diet of boiled fish and boiled green bananas—these seem the most marvelous things in life to us right now.

Everything else fades into the background—our plans, our future, what we are to do next.

THANKFUL FOR LIVES

Right now it is enough that we are back in civilization, among people who wear ordinary clothes and live in ordinary houses.

It seems impossible that we should still be alive after the torture we have been through.

When we marrieff these Indians, we thought they were American Indians at first, and then that they were big chiefs of the San Blas tribe.

White Eagle came through Akron with a medicine show. Charlie Williams was one of his friends, and worked on a boat that ran from New York to Jacksonville.

When they both lost their jobs, we thought it would be all right to go with them to their people. We expected to find splendid ancient palaces down there.

ALL SLEPT IN HAMMOCK

Instead we were given one room and no beds on the whole island.

The house was built of wild cane and leaves, and the roof was no better than none at all.

It rained—always it rained.

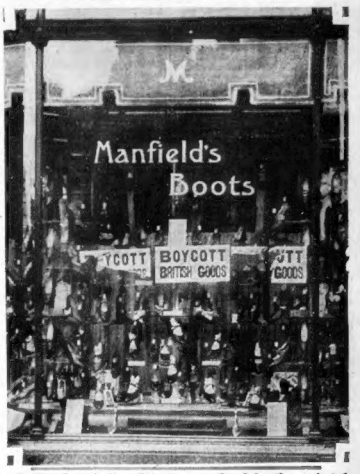
And we had to sit in the house and hold umbrellas over us, to try and keep dry.

There was no floor in our room, and no beds on the whole island.

They gave us one hammock for all of us to sleep on. Then White

Continued on Page 4, Column 2 up.

IRISH IN 'WAR' ON BRITAIN



Adopting the only immediate means at hand for the projected economic war upon Great Britain by the Irish Free State, many shop windows in Dublin display anti-British posters such as these seen in a shoe shop demanding that Irish citizens "boycott British goods." (International News Photos.)

BUSTER BAD BOY OFF SCREEN

Hollywod, July 26 (AP)—Off the screen antics of Buster Keaton, film comedian, are listed by Natalie Talmadge among reasons for the divorce she desires from her "frozen face" mate.

"I guess I'm a washout," was Buster's comment on the filing yesterday of a divorce complaint by Natalie after eleven years of married life.

Mrs. Keaton also asked the Superior Court to approve a property settlement whereby she is given the custody of two sons, Joseph, 10, and Robert, 8, and $500 a month.

Besides remaining away from home at night and returning without explaining his absence, Mrs. Keaton said her husband's behavior before guests is another cause for censure.

Early this month, she alleged, Buster took her on a pleasure trip and "so conducted himself as to cause her to become humiliated."

She says Buster took his two sons on a plane trip to San Diego last April, where she succeeded in having authorities intervene before the comedian and the boys could enter Mexico.

Truck With Tobacco Worth $25,000 Taken

New York, July 26—A robber, who used a policeman's whistle to stop an armored truck in Brooklyn, kidnaped the driver and, with the aid of two accomplices, drove to Queens, where they pushed the driver out and drove away with the truck and its cargo of tobacco, valued at $25,000.

First Plane Lands at Old Silver Beach

Falmouth, July 26—The first plane ever to land at Old Silver Beach, an amphibian, piloted by Noel Macy of New York, brought a Boston society girl here from Martha's Vineyard this afternoon. She was Miss Alice Dalton, the daughter of Philip Dalton of Adams st., Milton, and she was accompanied by John Grandin of the Fenway, Boston.

Services Held for Mrs. L. M. Freeman

Funeral services for Mrs. Lorena M. Freeman, widow of the late Warren Winslow Freeman of South Truro, are to be held this afternoon from her late residence. She passed away Saturday in her 89th year.

Mrs. Freeman was a direct Mayflower descendant and died in the same house which she has occupied since she was married, more than 70 years ago.

Dorchester Girl and Boy Missing

Parents of a missing Dorchester boy and girl appealed to Fields Corner police yesterday to institute a search for them. Miss Mildred Sullivan, 19, of Stanley st., disappeared Sunday, her parents told police. The boy, Arthur T. White, 16, of Hamilton st., left home yesterday, police were told.

HUNT WEALTHY GIRL RUNAWAY

Chicago, July 26 (INS)—Police of all North Shore surburban communities today were engaged in a search for Fannie Turnbull, 19-year-old Vassar College girl who ran away from home because she did not want to be a "burden on her parents."

Leaving a note behind to explain her disappearance, Miss Turnbull drove away from the home in fashionable Lake Forest, taking her mother's automobile.

Her father, Henry K. Turnbull, well-to-do real estate operator, asked police to search for his daughter.

Kingston, R. I., Rate Drops

Kingston, July 26 (AP)—A reduction of $4.60 in the Kingston tax rate was announced today. The new rate is $17.80 per $1000 in valuation.

G.O.P. WET VIEW JEERED ABROAD

New York, July 26 (AP)—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, Columbia University president, returned from Europe today with news that the Republican party plank on prohibiton "is the subject of no inconsiderable merriment and sarcasm" abroad.

Dr. Butler issued a four-page statement in which he discussed the Carnegie endowment for international peace, in whose interests he went to Europe, and the eighteenth amendment.

"It will be quite futile for any candidate, in the hope of conciliating any element of the population to attempt to subordinate th erepeal of the Eighteenth Amendment to the solution of the economic problems which press on us all," he said.

"The tw ones inextricably intertwined. What possible meaning could prosperity have if we are to continue to undermine the Constitution of the United States, to weaken the foundations of public and private morality and to turn into the pockets of the bootlegger the enormous sums which should be paid to the public treasury for the relief of the taxpayer?"

BRIDEGROOM IS GONE IN TANGLE

Edward Dynan, 21, of Peabody, whose bride and brother both vanished, added his own name to the list of missing Dynans today thereby completely mystifying the police of two states.

Police of Salem and Peabody wired to Wilmington, Del., asking that Dynan be re-questioned about the disappearance of his bride, the former Margaret Moran, 19, of Salem.

But when the Wilmington officers went to the youth's hotel they discovered he had left, and his room, they said, was in such a state as to indicate he left hurriedly.

Mrs. Moran said that her daughter, in previous absences, had never failed to write home almost daily.

The only actual police charge in the search is that of non-support against Joseph Dynan, 40, brother of Edward. The elder Dynan has a wife and two children in Peabody.

Joseph Dynan had been warned against association with Miss Moran by the girl's parents. Two weeks ago she disappeared from home, and two days later her marriage to Edward was revealed.

The bridegroom yesterday appeared in Wilmington, Del., saying his bride had been kidnaped in New York, but later he said she had simply disappeared when he left her to seek funds.

A telephone call was put through from New York to the home of Joseph Dynan last night, police said. But when the toll operator was ready to complete the connection the New York party had hung

REYNOLDS JURY UNDER GUARD

Winston-Salem, N. C., July 26—The county grand jury expected to seek a key to the mystery of how young Smith Reynolds died, swung into action today.

While Superior Court Judge A. M. Stack's charge made no specific mention of the playboy heir's death, there were references in the charge which were interpreted as directly applicable to the case.

North Carolina law prohibits a judge from directing the grand jury to a specific crime.

Immediately after receiving the judge's instructions, the jurors retired behind locked doors and every precaution was taken to shield their deliberations with secrecy. Guards were placed at the doors of the jury room.

Judge Stack admonished the jurors to bring in a presentment in the case of any unsolved crime committed in the county.

Reynolds' Brother to Fly Home From South America

New York, July 26 (AP)—Pan-American Airways announced today that Richard J. Reynolds, Jr., older brother of Smith Reynolds of Winston-Salem, N. C., who was shot to death recently, will probably arrive in the United States a week from Thursday. He will arrive at Natal, Brazil, Thursday or Friday. Reynolds will then take a Pan-American plane which leaves there Sunday and reaches Miami the following Thursday.

NOW IT'S THEIR TURN TO BE ENVIOUS

The New York courts have recognized the hot weather now prevalent to such a degree that they have permitted all girls with nerve enough to stroll through the city in the comfortable shorts. Anne East and Veronica McGuire are shown passing a couple of youths who are clad in long trousers which, of course, are much warmer than the shorts and which makes the youths envious of the freedom accorded the girls in these days of feminine emancipation. (International News Photos.)

COUNCIL URGES LOCAL ECONOMY

"Every organization of business men in New England should devote a substantial part of its energy to the problem of local and state expenditures," President Harry C. Knight of the New England Council declared today in a letter to various New England organizations.

"It is clear," he said, "that the first and major attack upon the problem of public expenditure should be made in our cities and towns.

"That is desirable not only because it is there that the greatest aggregate of public spending occurs and where the tax burden makes itself most acutely felt, but also because it is in our cities and towns that those who represent us in the state and national legislatures are chosen.

"Citizens who have secured the proper balancing of local budgets are not likely to send to the state and national capitals men or women who fail to appreciate the necessity for prudence in public expenditures."

Coast Guards Pick Up Drifting Lighters

Coast Guard boats from the City Point station prevented two large lighters, loose from their moorings at the D. J. Cutter Coal Co. wharf at the mouth of Neponset river, from causing serious damage to 80 small pleasure craft of the Savin Hill Yacht Club fleet last night.

PRINCE'S SONS REUNITED

PRINCE FREDERICK PRINCE LOUIS

Prince Frederick of Prussia, second son of the former Crown Prince of Germany, with his brother, Prince Louis Ferdinand, pictured on the S. S. Bremen when the former arrived in New York. Prince Louis came on from Detroit to meet his brother. (International News Photos.)

MISSING GIRLS IN HOSPITAL

Three Providence young women, for whom Rhode Island police had been searching, in the belief they were kidnaped, were found today, in Norwood Hospital, suffering from injuries received in an automobile accident Monday morning.

The three are Mrs. Sadie Glazer, 24, and her sisterin-laws, the Misses Harriet and Sadis Glazer.

Last Sunday night they were seen boarding a truck, which Providence police say was operated by Milton Marks, who was accompanied by James Glickman, both of Providence, R. I.

Norwood police said the girls were injured when the truck struck a cement mixer, parked on the new Attleboro-Cape Cod highway.

2 Fliers Planning Hops Over Atlantic

New York, July 26—Roger Q. Williams expects to take off about the middle of August on his 5115-mile flight to Athens, Greece, in the Bellanca monoplane in which Hillig and Holriss flew to Denmark last year.

Thor Salzburg, a former flying instructor, is preparing for a flight to Oslo, Sweden, August 15.

Co-Operative Plan for Idle

Cedar Rapids, July 26—Five hundred jobless men have organized a co-operative enterprise to trade services, operate a common commissary and sponsor benefit shows.

RICH NEWLYWED FACES JAIL ON RETURN

Merle G. Summers, wealthy Boston insurance man, has obtained a Nevada divorce and married his secretary, Anne Kraus, 21, of Dorchester, it was revealed today by Middlesex court proceedings instituted by his first wife.

Mrs. Lura G. Summers, of Claremont rd., Belmont, mother of his four children, sought to prevent what happened and obtained an injunction temporarily restraining Summers from proceeding with his divorce action in Las Vegas, Nev., but Summers paid no attention to the Massachusetts order and wed his secretary a few hours after getting his decree.

Summers and his new wife are honeymooning in California and he has appealed a temporary order to pay his divorced wife $1500 at once and $1500 a month.

CONTEMPT ACTION

The action revealing all that had taken place was Mrs. Lura Summer's petition to have him adjudged in contempt for failing to heed the injunction restraining him from divorcing her.

Judge Harris refused to hold Summers in contempt without a hearing and ordered him defaulted when he failed to appear in answer to the action yesterday.

No capias was issued but if and when Summers returns to Massachusetts he may be taken before the court on default and the decision on the contempt action will then be made.

WIFE TO IGNORE DIVORCE

Summers is a partner in a Milk st. firm, and was noted as one of the first "$1,000,000 a year insurance men." He is 44 and his bride, who has been his secretary for 11 years, is 21.

Mrs. Summers declared she learned of her husband's friendship for his secretary, but "closed her eyes" for the sake of the children. It was not until a few years ago, when he mentioned divorce, that she realized how far the affair had gone.

She says she will not consider a divorce, but plans to carry on her separate support action. No date for the hearing of this action has been set. The couple have four children, Harriet 18, Janet 17, Merle 12, and James 9.

GUNMAN SEIZED IN DEATH GRILL

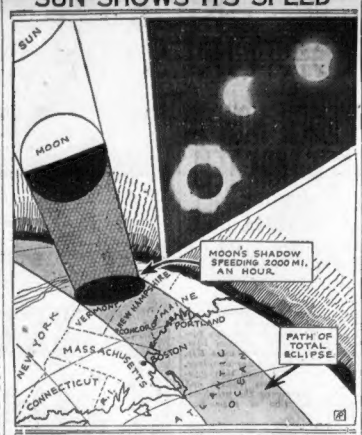
Chicago, July 26 (INS)—Louis "Two Gun" Alterie, notorious hoodlum recently acquitted of kidnaping, today faced questioning on the machine-gun slaying of Jack Weyner, deputy sheriff and ex-convict.

Alterie was suspect, officials said, when a woman who did not divulge her name told the State's attorney the murder could be solved if the movements of Alterie and his co-defendant in the kidnap trial, Charles "Buster" Brown, were checked Friday, the day of the killing.

"It was reported that Werner had supplied information which resulted in Brown's arrest in New York city before the kidnap trial.

Get a good piece of real estate, buy it wisely, pay for it, keep it, and later it will keep you. See the wonderful values today in the real estate columns of the Classified Ads.

SUN SHOWS ITS SPEED



Speeding at 2000 miles an hour, the moon's shadow will sweep down over northeast New England during the total eclipse of the sun August 31. The map shows the path of the total eclipse and the shape of the shadow which will resemble a giant football. At upper right the sun is shown in various stages of eclipse.

WOMEN TELL OF TORTURE

Continued From Page 3

Eagle disappeared, and the three of us were left. But still, three people couldn't sleep in one hammock. So we took turns on the floor.

We lived in the midst of unbelievable filth and squalor.

We had one meal a day—of boiled fish and boiled green bananas. And the Indians saw that we had very little of that. They resented the fact that we were white. They wanted their men to take native wives.

The fish was half cleaned, and cooked scales and all. On the rare occasions when a hunter would bring in some meat, the animal was cooked, fur and all, without even being washed.

MEALS NO COMFORT

Meals are informal. A kettle is set in the middle of the floor and all squat down around it, dipping in with their hands.

The children wear no clothes at all until they are 12 or 14 years old.

The men wear home-made trousers, and nothing else.

The women wear bright blouses of a sort of applique, bright pieces of cloth stitched one over the other, and their skirts are just pieces of bright striped or figured cloth wrapped around them. They all wear big red handkerchiefs over their heads. And all women wear nose rings. And a red streak is painted down the middle of their noses.

Girl babies have their noses pierced as soon as they are born, and wear the rings to their grave.

Both men and women wear huge hoop earrings of gold, hanging sometimes to their shoulders.

MEDICINE MEN RULE

They tried to make us wear nose rings, but we managed to escape that.

The medicine man is the big power of each settlement—almost a god.

His officiates at funerals and at the strange ceremonies performed when a girl is pronounced ready for marriage.

The dead are buried in their hammocks—which are suspended in their graves. And all the things they have used during life—eating utensils, clothes, weapons—are laid on top of the grave for the use of the spirit, which is said to come out of the grave each night to eat and drink.

They have little religion, but they told us their one legend, one that no white person ever before was allowed to hear. It concerns their God, Eberorgan, who, they say, came down from heaven with his disciples, each of whom went to a different island, and taught the Indians all that they know—how to make canoes and hammocks, what to plant, make their clothes and fish.

DEVIL ON MAINLAND

They are afraid to go to the mainland—they say the devil lives there.

And when the sea is rough, they say it is a crazy man swimming, who churns up the waters. Then the medicine man picks one unfortunate out of the tribe as the crazy man, doctors him for a while and if he considers him still unstirred, the man is killed.

When the rescue plane came for us, the Indians were frightened. But they were glad to see us go. Charlie Williams came and stood beside the plane. We told him we were going away. He said:

"That's good. When are you coming back?"

And after we were in the air we shouted back:

"Never!"

Woman Is Expert on Canaries With Gout

New York, July 26 (AP)—Miss Emilia Steinacher has an odd job. She specializes in canaries' diseases. She says they have gout just like elderly gentlemen, and it is surprising how susceptible they are to pneumonia.

MOON'S SHADOW MOVES AT 2000 MILE CLIP

New York, July 26—The meaning of future stratosphere travel speeds of 2000 miles an hour—something actually moving that fast—can be seen in northeast New England August 31.

This speeding object will be the black oncomnig edge of the moon's shadow during the total eclipse of the sun which crosses upper Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine and a corner of Massachusetts about 4:30 p. m. (Boston time.)

LIKE GIANT FOOTBALL

Watchers on mountains and in airplanes should have a good view of the flying edge traveling over broad miles spread out below them. The shadow's speed is announced by astronomers as 2967 feet a second, slightly more than half a mile. Its shape will be that of a gigantic football, advancing side on, an ellipse 100 miles long and about 60 across.

It starts near the north pole, comes down across Canada, and passes out to sea to make a 6000-mile journey in three hours. Its last sight of land for the United States is Chatham, Mass., on Cape Cod.

231,650 MILES LONG

This shadow is a black cone extending behind the moon an average of 231,650 miles. When there is an eclipse the earth cuts through the cone. The cut, astronomers calculate, may be made anywhere from just grazing to 18,000 miles in, side the tip.

The earth can also miss the tip entirely, leaving it suspended aloft like the lower end of tornado cloud funnel. Under such circumstances the tip of the shadow may pass anywhere from a few miles to 20,000 miles overhead. The result then is an "annular" eclipse. The sun shows all around the edge of the moon.

PAY $167,000 IN CLINIC FIRE

Cleveland, July 26 (AP)—Damage suits in the Cleveland Clinic disaster—one of the worst in this country's peace-time history—were settled today for $167,000.

The clinic, operated by the famous Dr. George W. Crile, was struck by fire May 15, 1929, and within the space of an hour, 125 persons were stricken fatally by poisonous gases, or by burns. Many died at once but others lingered weeks before they succumbed.

Most of the deaths were caused by gas generated by burning X-ray films.

After the disaster, the clinic moved to a new building, and was made defendant in more than $1,000,000 in damage suits by victims and relatives of those who died.

Sixty-nine victims or their heirs will participate in the $167,000 settlement. The payments will range from $750 to $9000.

Huey Long Battles Senate Colleague

New Orleans, July 26 (AP)—The Long and anti-Long issue has been brought squarely into the Louisiana senatorial campaign with the qualification of two candidates for the September 13 Democratic primary, which is equivalent to election.

Edwin S. Broussard, senior Senator from Louisiana, seeking re-election, is opposed by Rep. John H. Overton of Alexandria, whom Huey P. Long, is supporting.

BASEMENT STORE OPEN at 9 A. M. as USUAL

Filene's Automatic Bargain BASEMENT for MEN

Because many loud colors—mostly two or three years old—some may be older, BUT all greatly underpriced to sell out quickly.

WEDNESDAY

large Western concern surplus stock

MEN'S and BOYS' furnishings

EXAMPLES OF THE VALUES:

men's cotton ribbed basketball jerseys	25c
men's colored cotton athletic shirts	10c
men's cotton one piece bathing suits	15c
men's athletic shirts or shorts	15c
men's cotton sweat shirts	25c
men's long sleeve cotton football jerseys	25c
boys' cotton sweat shirts	15c
boys' colored cotton athletic shirts	10c
boys' one piece cotton bathing suits	10c
misses' white cotton bathing suits (some soiled)	15c

OUR PLAN—first prices must be low or we lose through automatic reductions 25% after 12 selling days, 50% after 18 selling days, 75% after 24 selling days. Goods unsold after 30 selling days given away to charitable institutions.

Filene's

WEDNESDAY

Main store opens at 11 A. M.

STOCKTAKING

(Basement opens at 9 as usual)

Main store and Men's store open at 11 A. M. From 11 A. M. on, hundreds of small lots to be closed out at reductions of 1-3, ½ and more from original prices.

DRINKS COOLING AS AN OCEAN BREEZE!

prices for Boston and Vicinity

BEVERAGE SALE

. . . and just as refreshing, too, with meals or between meals . . . always cool and refreshing. Buy today a dozen bottles of your favorite ones at these money saving prices. Keep several tucked away in the ice-box

Yukon	GINGER ALE contents only	12	12 OZ. BOTS. 75c
Clicquot	PALE OR GOLDEN	2	BOTS. 25c
Haffenreffer	contents only	5	BOTS. 25c
Yukon	assorted beverages, contents only		LGE. BOT. 10c
Moxie	contents only	2	LGE. BOTS. 25c
Grape Juice			QUART BOTTLE 25c
C&C Ginger Ale		2	BOTS. 25c
O'Keefe's	GINGER ALE contents only	6	BOTS. 43c
White Rock	DOZ. BOTS. $1.95		BOT. 17c
Lime Juice	PRINCESS		BOT. 18c
Perrier Water			PINT BOT. 14c

POUND SILVERBROOK SLICED

Bacon & Eggs both for 35c

DOZEN SELECTED NO. 1

A & P MEAT MARKETS

Lamb Fores	GENUINE SPRING GUARANTEED QUALITY EXCEPTIONAL LOW PRICE	LB.	10c
Rump Steak		LB.	53c
Lamb Chops	RIB CUTS	LB.	33c
Middle Rib	CORNED BEEF	LB.	15c
Broilers	FANCY FRESH	EACH	59c
Bologna	freshly made	LB.	15c
Minced Ham	freshly made	LB.	15c
Potato Salad		2 LBS.	25c
Swordfish	FRESH SLICED	LB.	23c

ICED Nectar TEAS

The nation's favorite!

ORANGE PEKOE — INDIA CEYLON MIXED OR FORMOSA OOLONG

½ pound package 19c

Bread	Whole Wheat with White Flour	20 OZ. LOAF	5c
Lunch Tongue	NO. ½ CAN		13c
Premium Sodas	NBC	2 PKGS.	33c
Graham Crackers	NBC	2 PKGS.	33c
Uneedas	NBC	4 PKGS.	15c
Lux	LARGE PACKAGE		20c
Octagon Soap	BARS	8	25c
Camay Soap	BARS	3	17c
Za-rex Syrup	ASS'T FLAVORS	BOT.	25c
Blue Ribbon Malt	CAN		53c
Bisquick	a tastier biscuit in less time	PKG	29c
Fleischmann's Yeast	CAKE		3c
Baker's	ROOT BEER Extract	2 OZ. BOTS.	25c
Peaches	DEL MONTE SLICED OR HALVES	NO. 2½ CAN	15c

FRESH FRUITS & VEGETABLES

Honey Dew Melons		Large Each	15c
Lettuce	CALIFORNIA ICEBERG	2 Med. Hds. 15c	2 Lge. Hds. 19c
Bananas		5 Lbs.	23c
Summer Squash		3 Lbs.	10c
Beets	BY THE BUNCH	3 Bchs.	10c

R & R Chicken			6 OZ. TIN 39c
Pickles	NORTHLAND SWEET MIXED		TIP TOP QUART JAR 19c
Preserves	ANN PAGE		POUND JAR 15c
Mayonnaise	ENCORE		32 OZ. JAR 39c
Crabmeat		2	NO ½ CANS 45c
Lobster		2	NO ½ CANS 45c
Chicken Broth		2	ELMWOOD CANS 25c
Gulden's Mustard			JAR 13c
Hires	ROOT BEER Extract		BOT. 22c
Rajah Extracts			BOT. 23c

NEW, LOW REGULAR PRICES

Peanut Butter	A&P	LB. JAR 19c	2 OZ. JAR 10c	4 OZ. JAR 6c
Sunsweet Apricots				11 OZ. PKG. 15c
Prunes	CALIFORNIA 40-50			4 LBS. 25c
Iona Peas	NO. 2			3 CANS 25c
Tomatoes	NO. 2			3 CANS 25c
Lion Evaporated Milk				TALL CAN 6c
Borden's Evaporated Milk				TALL CAN 6c
Van Camp's Evaporated Milk				TALL CAN 6c
Sealect Evaporated Milk				TALL CAN 6c
White House Evaporated Milk				3 TALL CANS 16c
Ann Page Preserves		STRAWBERRY RASPBERRY		21 OZ. JAR 29c
Sultana Jams		STRAWBERRY RASPBERRY		42 OZ. JAR 29c
Del Monte Peaches		SLICED		NO. 2½ CAN 10c
Peanut Butter		POUND PAIL 15c		IN BULK POUND 10c

A&P FOOD STORES of NEW ENGLAND

The Great ATLANTIC & PACIFIC Tea Company

HOOVER TO HEAR N. H. WORK PLAN THURSDAY

President Hoover will hear about the Davis, or New Hampshire, flexible week-week plan for unemployment relief, at first hand, from representatives of this section Thursday morning, it was announced today.

Stanley King, newly-appointed president of Amherst College, and James T. Moriarty, president of the Massachusetts branch, American Federation of Labor, will leave for Washington tomorrow evening for this purpose. Both are members of the Massachusetts Stabilization Commission, King being chairman.

At Washington they will be joined by three members of the New Hampshire Unemployment Relief Committee, Gov. John G. Winant, James M. Langley, Concord publisher, and Harold M. Davis, author of the plan.

An outline of the plan was forwarded to the White House, following enthusiastic discussion of it in Boston last week, and the President evinced considerable interest in it.

Has Two Jobs

Preacher and janitor. These dual roles are being held this summer by David W. Norton, Jr., at the Trinity Episcopal Church, in Newton Centre. Norton is a senior at the Episcopal Theological School.

PHANTOM PLANE AS RUM DECOY

New York, July 26 (AP)—A mystery plane which officials believe might have been a rum-runner's decoy, was sought in Jamaica Bay during the early hours of the morning by police and coast guard boats and planes.

The plane passed over Floyd Bennett Field with regulation red and green lights showing. It dropped a flare over the bay and then apparently dived close to the water, dropping another flare.

A third flare, apparently fired upward from water level led airport officials to believe the plane had struck the surface of the bay and calls for help were telephoned to coast guard and police.

The police boat Dixie was sent from New York harbor and the coast guard sent two boats. Planes from the city field flew over the bay for hours. Nothing was found and the belief grew that the plane's pilot had acted as though in trouble to concentrate official gaze on his seeming need to the benefit of some rum-runner.

JONES SEES END OF RUM RINGS

Washington, July 26 (AP)—Howard Jones, the acting Federal prohibition director, believes big-business bootleggers are losing ground to small-scale competitors.

No exact figures have been compiled, but Jones says his agents lay it in a large measure to keener competition crowding "big fellows" on whose activities the bureau concentrates.

Jones says agents report that "green corn liquor" is bringing low prices in sections of the southern corn belt that barely meet cost and eliminate margins of profit required by large scale bootleggers operating expensively equipped distilleries.

"There isn't the money in it there was," is the way Jones explains it.

Socially Prominent Couples Arrested

Darien, Conn., July 26—Two socially prominent couples were charged by police with attacking E. K. Adams, wealthy New York business man, when he objected to their invasion of his summer home at Noroton Bay Colony.

Police said Virginia Snyder of Rye, N. Y.; Jack Masterson of Stamford and New York, Stewart Scott, star end on Yale's 1927 football team, and the latter's wife, Elizabeth S. Scott, broke into the Adams home Saturday night and settled down for an evening of merriment.

Man Saves Wife and Children at Fire

Brockton, July 26—Trapped on the second floor of her burning home, when the stairways burst into flames, Mrs. Amelia Grillone of Wyman st. was carried down a ladder to safety by her husband, Vincenzo Grillone.

The rescue took place a few minutes after Grillone had carried and led their three children to the street and had guided the occupants of the second floor out of the burning building.

Girl Cut Off His Ear in Argument

Louisville, Ky., July 26—Raymond Herrington, 25, is minus his left ear and his friend, Miss Eva M. Powell, 23, was under a charge of malicious cutting as a result.

Miss Powell admitted, police said, that she sliced off her escorte's organ of hearing with a pocket knife and "really did a good job of cutting." She said the cutting occurred after they had left a beer dispensary and argued over the loss of her pocketbook.

Duesenberg Dies of Auto Injuries

Johnstown, Pa., July 26 (AP)—Fred Duesenberg, 55, Indianapolis auto manufacturer, died today of pneumonia which developed from injuries received in an auto accident July 2.

RICH WORKER'S WILL SOUGHT

Funeral services for George P. Edwards, supposedly poor janitor who was discovered to have $15,000 in savings after his death Thursday in his room at 8 West Water st., Wakefield, will be held today.

The chief mourner will be his daughter, Mrs. Pauline F. Sanborn, of Brunswick, Me., who had not seen her father since she was 8 years old. She is the wife of a Brunswick contractor and the mother of two small children.

No valid will made by the man has as yet been found. Mrs. Roberta Small, of Chestnut st., Wakefield, yesterday turned over to Police Chief James J. Pollard a scrap of paper written by Edwards when he lived there several years ago.

On the paper was written, "Because I have no living relatives, I bequeath my property, after expenses are paid, to the Volunteers of America." It was signed by Edwards but not witnessed. Police are attempting to locate any valid will which Edwards may have written.

Police Chief Pollard said the dead man's savings were represented by 11 bank books. According to Mrs. Sanborn, her mother and father separated when she was eight years of age. A few years later her mother obtained a divorce. The mother and daughter then went to Maine to live.

BOOTLEG SHOT IN GUN DUEL

Detroit, July 26 (AP)—Two men engaged in a pistol fight with a lieutenant of the border patrol at the foot of First st. in the Detroit river at 2 a. m. today while allegedly in the act of landing a load of liquor. One of them was shot in the hip and both were captured.

When Lieut. Joseph Bohling ordered them to halt, he said, the men attempted to make off in their boat and fired at him. Bohling returned the fire, and the boat of the two men crashed into piles along the river front and sank.

The men were pulled from the water.

Needy Drive Autos to Get Free Spuds

Bonner Springs, Kas., July 26 (AP)—Jason Penrod is a regular guy. He figured his 900-bushel potato crop wouldn't bring enough money to pay for harvesting it, so he ploughed it out and invited the needy to "come and get them." They came—the needy—in (well! well!) motor cars.

Restaurant Robbed as Patrons Eat

New York, July 26—Without disturbing the patrons, two men held up the office of a restaurant on upper Broadway near 84th st. today and escaped with $2000 taken in over the weekend.

They took the money from an open safe and fled with a warning against pursuit.

Filipino Budget Presented

Manila, July 26 (AP)—A budget for the Philippines calling for appropriations of $27,727,246 in 1933 was presented to the Legislature today.

You Want SECURITY

Established in 1862, this Company has gained steadily in assets, surplus and insurance and assets, and has maintained its position as one of the strongest Life Insurance Companies in America.

John Hancock

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS

—Over $1½ Billion Insurance in force—

Wife Says Married Life Lasted 5 Days

Salem, July 26—The married life of Mrs. Charlotte F. Lockhart of Haverhill, a shoe operative, lasted only five days when she became the wife of Clarence S. Lockhart of Medford four years ago at Island Pond, Vt., it was revealed when Mrs. Lockhart led a suit for divorce here, charging her husband with desertion.

Boy Killed by Chum Hunting Woodchucks

Windsor, Vt., July 26—Robert Meservey, 12, son of Guy Meservey of River st., was shot and killed by a chum, John Frankland, 11.

In company with two other boys, Edward Lapan and Benny White, both 12, they hunted woodchucks along the bank of the Connecticut river. Frankland's gun jammed, and in fixing it, was discharged, the bullet entering Meservey's right breast.

Takes Poison, Eats Dinner, Drops Dead at Hospital

Los Angeles, Cal., July 26 (AP)—Mrs. Roscoe Griffith telephoned a hospital that her husband, a veterinarian, had swallowed an ounce of poison.

Police and hospital attendants found Griffith calmly eating dinner, while his wife moved about the table wringing her hands.

"He's dying," she declared. "He said he was tired of living."

Griffith smiled and made a derecatory shrug of his shoulders for his wife's alarm.

"She is mistaken, gentlemen," he said between bites. "I have taken no poison. I am a busy man. I have an appointment in a little while and I won't go with you."

But they took him anyway. He walked from the ambulance to the hospital entrance.

There he fell dead.

Keeper Subdues Two Angry Bears

Miami, Fla., July 26—Bill Sirman, keeper at Opa Locka Zoo, fought two enraged bears and came out with only a few scratches. An iron bar was used by Sirman, who kept jabbing the bears across the tender part of their noses.

The fight started when Big Stuff ran amuck after killing a cub that had been teasing him. Sirman jumped in the cage and Big Stuff turned on him. Brownie, Big Stuff's partner, joined the battle.

Agreement Reached by Garment Workers

New York, July 26—Eleven thousand shop chairmen of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union ratified by acclamation last night the working agreement with employers made through the mediation of Lieut.-Gov. Herbert H. Lehman.

The 27,000 union members voting in the shops where they work are expected to approve the action of their chairmen. The agreement provides for a weekly wage.

ON SALE WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY at Both Boston Store and Somerville Store

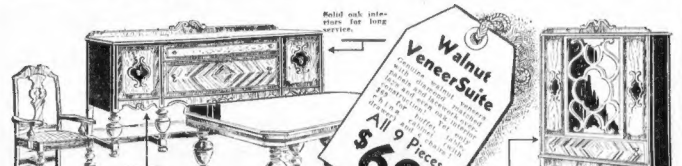
Look At The Picture! Look At The Price Tags! See For Yourself Why This Is The Greatest Bargain Event In Summerfield History

Buy on Our Budget Plan Out of Income

Lifetime Suites At Season's Lowest Prices in Store Wide Sale Planned to Break Records

100% mohair ALL OVER on sides, backs and fronts.
New and costly button tuftings and welltings.
Real Mohair All Over
All 3 Pieces
$69
Kidney front style with Queen Anne legs.

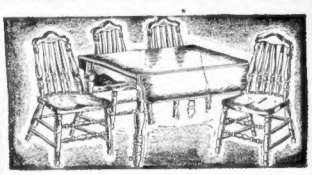
Profit by Our Desire to Achieve the Biggest Days of the Season



Solid oak interiors for long service.
Walnut Veneer Suite
All 9 Pieces
$69
Genuine walnut veneer with lacework overlays.
Good size, well finished, even has a diamond matched panels!

Buy Two Suites for Usual Price of One---No Sacrifice of Quality

Buy Now—Pay Out of Income on Our Liberal Budget Plan



5 Pc. Decorated Breakfast Suite. Sale Price . $7.95

Lowest price we've seen! Double drop leaf table and 4 pinch back chairs in enamel finish, all for $7.95! The very value you've needed to rejuvenate your breakfast room or kitchen!

Oriental Axminster Rugs

Room size 9x12 rugs, made by a world famous maker in 100 beautiful copies of Oriental masterpieces. 19.75

Bed, Spring and Mattress, All for 12.50

Sturdy metal bed COIL spring and white cotton mattress on sale for $12.50 . . A value that demands quick action.

Steel Refrigerator 16.50

All enamel inside and out! Scientifically designed and insulated to save ice. Be early!

Colonial Poster Bed 5.95

Ever see a poster bed like this for $5.95? We doubt it. 11th in the lot. If you want one—hurry!

Studio Couch 12.50

Spring Coil

A couch by day, a luxurious coil box spring bed at night. Reversible mattress and 3 pillows upholstered in denim.

Baby Carriages 16.50

Close woven fibre with adjustable hood and back, tubular steel frame, rubber-tired wheels and HAND brake.

Our Policy of Guaranteed Satisfaction

If, after making a purchase here you should find the same merchandise elsewhere for less, come back and we will gladly refund or credit you the difference.

Summerfield's

"THE STORES WITH A MILLION FRIENDS"

715-737 Washington St., Boston — Open Saturday Evening

Davis Sq. 212 Elm Street Somerville — Open Every Evening

Used Furniture Store, U. S. Army Base

Buy World Famous Radios Here

We carry only the best radios in America by actual test. We offer you Victor, Crosley, Philco, Atwater Kent, and General Electric Sets only, on our Liberal Budget Plan.

SOCIETY GROUP HELD IN FIGHT IN COTTAGE

Darien, Conn., July 26 (INS)—"Because of what they insisted was "a little misunderstanding," Stewart Scott, a star end on Yale's football varsity a few years ago; his wife, Elizabeth S. Scott; Jack Masterson, New York silk dealer, and Miss Virginia Snyder of Rye, N. Y., were under $1500 bond each today accused of a Saturday night assault on E. K. Adams, New York business man, at the Adams summer home in Noroton Bay.

The Scotts, Masterson and Miss Snyder, all socially prominent, were arrested last night by Darien police who traced them by auto license numbers which Adams recorded after the rumpus. They will be arraigned Saturday.

Adams, bearing a partly discolored eye, where, he said, Scott punched him, told police he returned home with Mrs. Adams Saturday night to find the society quartet drinking, frying bacon and otherwise thoroughly at home in his cottage. When he requested them to leave, Adams said, he was punched, shoved and laughed at.

The "misunderstanding," the accused said, was in their belief they were entering a deserted cottage to gain shelter from threatening storms. They denied any drinking or rowdyism.

LOTTERY FINE PROTEST FAILS

"With all these local boys out of work, it's hardly fair to import a youth all the way from Maine to sell "Nigger Fool" numbers — and so Leo Schappelics of Leverett st., West End, had a $100 fine slapped on him today in Municipal Court.

Schappelics, alleged proprietor, and Fred Mitchell, 18, of Brunswick, Me., his alleged employe, were arrested by Capt. James Claffin and Special Officers Joseph McBrine and John Walker in the establishment where 1500 number slips were seized.

The boy was placed on probation and when Leo's lawyer said he believed the $100 fine too high, Judge Elijah Adlow remarked dryly:

"Not a bit. They're the only people making money these days, and then I don't altogether approve of bringing in the help from Maine. We have enough boys out of work down this way."

Body of Labrador Victim Starts Home

St. Johns, N. F., July 26 (INS)—The body of Fred R. Connell, Jr., former New York Steel executive, today is on its way to his home in Glen Ridge, N. J. The body was found in Northwestern Labrador by a band of Indians last June and was brought here yesterday by Pilot Harold Crowley of Boston.

Connell died while exploring through Labrador with Herman Koehler of East Orange, N. J., and a guide. No trace of the latter two has been found.

Dig in Wreck Debris for Possble Victi.ns

Bellefontaine, O., July 26 (AP)—Workers dug into the wreckage of 40 freight cars on the Big Four railroad eight miles west here today, with the possibility of finding 10 or 15 train-riders dead or injured, though officials believed the men escaped. It was known that two men were injured when the train, speeding nearly 60 miles an hour, was wrecked.

Balks Attempt to Burn Empty Home

Orr's Island, Me., July 26 (AP)—An attempt to set fire to an unoccupied house, owned by two Massachusetts residents, was blocked today by James Stilphen, who saw a man run from the place owned by Arthur Harlow of Quincy, Mass., and Mrs. Helen Forrest of Lynn.

Stilphen went to the house and found a bundle of paper burning in a shed and the floor and ceiling soaked with kerosene.

2000 Jobless Fight Police in Montreal

Montreal, July 26 (AP)—"On-to-Ottawa" movement of Canada's unemployed received a setback today when nine leaders were arrested in a street engagement between police and 2000 unemployed who were atte apting a march on the City Hall at Verdun, Montreal suburb of 50,000 population.

Anarchist Leader Buried as Pauper

Rome, July 26 (AP)—Enrico Malatesta, once one of Italy's anarchist leaders, lies buried in potter's field, it was learned today.

Malatesta, whose reputation was international in the days when he was director of the newspaper New Humanity, died July 22 of pneumonia.

Flee Argentine Flood

Buenos Aires, Argentina, July 26 (AP)—Homesteaders along the Chubut river in Patagonia, most of them British subjects, are fleeing their homes because of floods caused by torrential rains which are destroying houses and irrigation systems.

7 Hurt in Hotel Fire

Little Rock, Ark., July 26 (AP)—At least seven persons were burned and injured and one person was missing in a fire that partially destroyed a three-story brick hotel here early today.

Divorces U. S. Man

Ernestina Calles, the eldest daughter of former President of Mexico, marries a Vera Cruz merchant today 24 hours after being granted a divorce from Thomas Arnold Robinson of Detroit, World War aviator, graduate of Columbia and son of wealthy Michigan lumberman.

WILSON MIZNER NEAR DEATH

Los Angeles, July 26 (AP)—Wilson Mizner, whose varied career as a promoter, wit and author, led him to the Klondike of gold rush days, to New York's Broadway and Hollywood's boulevard, is critically ill of bronchial pneumonia in a hotel here.

In the Klondike Mizner was an associate of the late Tex Rickard and won and lost many fortunes.

He was the author of several plays produced on Broadway and married the widow of Charles T. Yerkes, traction millionaire.

Now 57, Mizner had spent the last few years in Hollywood writing for the films after reputedly dropping a fortune in Florida real estate.

Postal Blockade Ties Up Manchuria

Shanghai, July 26 (AP)—A Chinese postal blockade against Manchuria tied up postal service today and appeared to have widened the breach between Japan and China.

The national government announced that, in accordance with the plan to, blockade all postal communication with Manchukuo, 800 postoffices throughout the territory have been closed.

Return Stolen Rum to Royal 'Mounties'

Charlottetown, P. E. I., July 26 (AP)—Royal Canadian mounted police were robbed of confiscated liquor today, but a few hours later the stolen goods were returned.

Joseph Cheverie and Joseph Gallant cut steel bars to enter a storage warehouse and took out six cases of French brandy, a case of whiskey and 15 tins of rum. City police, hearing a noise, investigated and soon had the pair in irons.

DOGS LEAD WAY TO LOST HEIR

Madison, Ct., July 26 (INS)—Eight-year-old Robert Driscoll of Middletown, Ohio, sought all night by State police and nearly 200 summer residents of shore resorts near here was found today unharmed, paddling in the waters of Ninevah Creek.

Two bloodhounds were said to have led two boys to the spot where the Driscoll lad was found.

The boy had been missing since shortly before 6 p. m. last night when a picnic party broke up. Mrs. Donald Driscoll, the mother, became alarmed when her son failed to appear, and notified police.

Congressman Edward W. Goss of Waterbury, a summer resident, organized a search party of nearly 300.

The boy is the grandson of J. A. Aull, wealthy Ohio manufacturer.

Farmer Trades Cow for Plane Lessons

Pawtucket, July 26 (AP)—A farmer here had a surplus cow and a fervent desire to become an airplane pilot.

So he made a deal with officials of "What Cheer" airport. Now the airport has the cow, its aviators drink plenty of fresh milk, the grass on the runways is closely cropped and the farmer is getting six weeks of lessons on how to fly.

Court Cuts Practice on Drum, Saxophone

Louisville, July 26 (AP)—A neighbor of the Craft family thinks the practicing of two boys on a drum and saxophone respectively is, to put it in plain language, a nuisance. Judge Ruthenberg, no saxophone or drum enthusiast himself, ordered William Craft, 13, and James Craft, 12, to confine the confusion to half an hour daily.

MISS CALLES IS DIVORCED; WEDS

Mexico City, July 26 (INS)—Twenty-four hours after divorcing Thomas Arnold Robinson of Detroit, Ernestina Calles, eldest daughter of former President Calles, today married Jorge Pasquel, a Vera Cruz merchant.

The First District Court of Guernavaca granted her the divorce on grounds of incompatibility. Miss Calles and Robinson were married at Nogales, Arizona, in 1923, following a whirlwind courtship. They have two children.

Robinson is a graduate of Columbia University and served as an aviator in the World War with the A. E. F. He is the son of a wealthy Michigan lumberman.

ASSASSIN BARED AS TORTURER

Paris, July 26 (AP)—Paul Gorguloff, on trial for the assassination of President Paul Doumer, sobbed today as Ivan Lazareff, a Russian laborer, sat in the witness-stand and called him a member of the old Russian Cheka, the secret police.

Lazareff fell into the hands of the Cheka once, he testified, and Gorguloff was one of his captors. They tortured him, twisting his arms and beating him, burning his skin and bending back his fingers until they broke.

He lifted his gnarled hands and the prosecution led him over to the jurybox where he showed the swollen knuckles to the jury.

Several times Gorguloff broke in to shout that he never had seen Lazareff in his life.

"You lie!" he exclaimed. "You are in the pay of the Czarists."

Once he lifted his head and cried: "This is tragic. My own compatriot betrays me."

Indiana House for State Dry Repeal

Indianapolis, July 26 (INS)—For the first time since the advent of prohibition, the Indiana State Legislature today had taken a long step toward the liberal side of the liquor question.

The House of Representatives, by vote of 58 to 38, passed the Weiss bill to repeal the Wright bone dry law and legalize medicinal liquor in Indiana with a tax of 50 cents a pint. The repealer measure now goes to the Senate.

Wigglesworth to Seek Place Again

Brockton, July 26 (AP)—Congressman Richard B. Wigglesworth of Milton announced here today that he would be a candidate for the Republican nomination as congressman from the 13th congressional district.

He has served three terms succeeding the late Congressman Louis A. Frothingham.

Good on HOT MEATS as well as cold cuts GULDEN'S Mustard

Duchess of York Stricken With Chill

London, July 26 (AP)—The Duchess of York was confined to her room today with a slight chill but she was said to be making satisfactory progress.

She was unable to accompany King George and Queen Mary who left Cowes this morning.

Films Lure Britons From the Ale Mugs

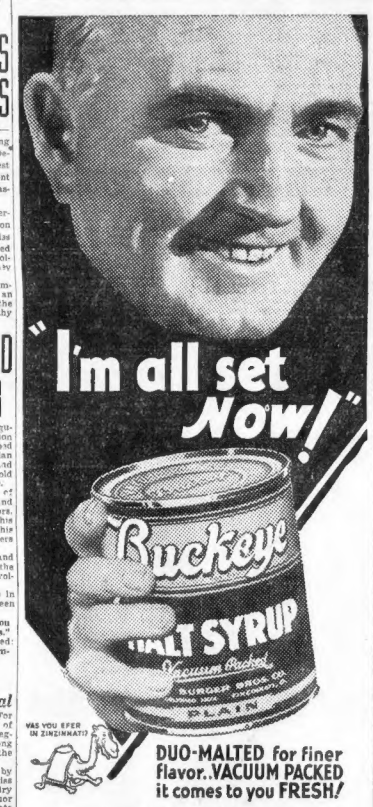
Los Angeles, July 26 (AP)—Sir Harold Bowden, chairman of the English Olympics committee, has a good word to say for Hollywood movies. They are so popular with Britishers, he said, that they have "substantially reduced the consumption of liquor."

Boston Pair Held by French Officials

Marseilles, France, July 26 (AP)—Harry Arronson, of Boston, Mass., and his wife were arrested here today on a charge of selling foreign lottery tickets at Lyons and Bordeaux without proper authorization. Police confiscated $4,000 in their possession.

Dr. Morris Fishbein Decorated by Italy

Chicago, July 26 (AP)—The insignia of commander of the Order of the Crown of Italy has been awarded to Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, in recognition of his services to Italian medicine and Italian physicians.



DUO-MALTED for finer flavor..VACUUM PACKED it comes to you FRESH!

Quit experimenting! Get set with Buckeye—the genuine quality malt that never goes wrong. You've never had a thing to compare with Buckeye flavor or quality. It's an all-barley malt, made by Buckeye's special process of DUO-MALTING, that concentrates ALL the strength, ALL the goodness into the malt. Then Buckeye is VACUUM PACKED—it comes to you FRESH—it's never old or stale before you use it. Every year thousands more "get set" with Buckeye. When will you? Plain or hop flavor—light or dark.

Buckeye MALT SYRUP
DUO-MALTED VACUUM PACKED

Nothing but pure fruit and pure sugar is used in making Mirabel Preserves. There is no more wholesome or delicious way of serving the sweets that should be part of every balanced meal. When you can buy Mirabel Preserves at such low prices as this it is a good idea to stock up with your favorite flavors.

MIRABEL

PRESERVES

NEW LOW PRICES
Strawberry - Raspberry
Apricot - Pineapple
Blackberry

2 lb. JAR 27c

2 1lb. JARS 29c

NEW LOW RECORD BREAKING PRICE!

TEA SALE HOMELAND or GOLDEN ROSE ½ LB CTN 19c

CHATKA CRABMEAT
Fancy Imported
2 TINS 45c

FINAST VINEGAR
½ Gal. Jug 23c
2 QT BOTS 25c

UNEEDA BISCUITS
N.B.C.
4 PKGS 15c

PRUDENCE HASH
FANCY CORNED BEEF TIN 23c

RADIO ASSORTED BEVERAGES
GOLDEN GINGER ALE SARSAPARILLA
ORANGEADE GRAPE
LEMON and LIME
LGE 28 oz BOT 10c
PRICE FOR CONTENTS ONLY

RICHMOND PEACHES
SLICED or HALVES
2 LARGE TINS 25c

PICKLES BANQUET BRAND
SOUR MIXED or PLAIN QT JAR 21c
SWEET MIXED or PLAIN SWEET QT JAR 27c

PALMOLIVE SOAP
4 BARS 25c

MOXIE
PRICE FOR CONTENTS
2 LGE BOTS 25c

BLUE RIBBON MALT
LGE TIN 53c

WHEATIES
READY TO EAT CEREAL
2 PKGS 23c

Raisin Bread	Lge Loaf	8c
American N.B.C. Pride Assortment	Lge Pkg	29c
Box Sponge Cake	Each	10c
Belmont Bread	Lb Loaf	5c
Prize Bread Sliced or Regular	Lge Loaf	7c
Crisco	Lb Tin	19c
Grape Nut Flakes	Pkg	12c
Crushed Pineapple FINAST	No 2 Tin	11c

CAKE SPECIAL
LEMON TEA TIME CAKE
DELICIOUS ICED FROSTING LIGHT, FLUFFY CAKE
EACH 15c

Peaches Finast, Del Monte, Camp-fire, Sliced or Halves	Lge Tin	15c
Standard Sardines	4 Tins	25c
King Oscar Sardines	2 Tins	25c
Southern Peas	3 Tins	25c
Southern Tomatoes	3 Tins	25c
Kirkman's Soap	8 Bars	25c
Octagon Soap	7 Bars	25c
Cigarettes Popular Brands	2 Pkgs	25c

FIRST NATIONAL STORES INC.

PRICES FOR BOSTON AND VICINITY

HULL VOTE IS CONTROLLED BY RUM RING

By THE MASKED REPORTER

Copyright, 1932, by the Boston Evening American. All rights reserved.

It's a magician's role that the Nantasket rum crowd plays.

Out of the cool sea breezes, they conjure up 300 to 400 voters on registration and election days.

These voters, from Boston, some of them actually on the Boston voting list, swing the elections the way the bosses want.

The Masked Reporter

That is the service the liquor gang performs for the men who control the town of Hull, in which Nantasket lies.

They keep the right men, the men the bosses want, in office down there on the South Shore peninsula. And they also make the town go the "right way" generally in the national elections.

No other town in the State is quite like Hull.

There is a huge summer population, a small all-year population.

The summer residents own far and away the bulk of the $18,000,000 worth of property.

RESIDENCE LAW FLOUTED

The summer residents have no votes in the town. The all-year residents do the voting. To offset the anti-boss votes among them, outsiders are imported by the bootleg crowd at the behest of the barons of Hull.

Every large city has had its experiences with so-called "mattress voters." These are the hired "residents" who comply with the April 1st residence rule in order to vote in some city or some particular ward.

But in the case of Hull, the April 1st law is scorned. The imported citizens are brought in on registration day and on election day. No "mattress voters" are these "fly by night" voters, is what they are.

One place which at no time from one year's end to the other has more than four legal Hull voters living there registered 28 persons.

The whole town has a census population of slightly more than

VOTES BY TRAINLOAD

2000. Of this number, more than 600 are school children. That leaves 1500, including young people under 21, but not in school in Hull or Hingham high school, which the town of Hull uses.

Allowing for these young people, and for others not registering for one reason or another, the total voting population is about 1000.

Actually the registered vote is approximately 1400.

Citizens claim there are 300 persons registered illegally. It's a conservative estimate.

How does the liquor crowd get the voters to import? Easy. Several of the prominent bootleggers in the Nantasket area are former Boston bartenders or liquor dealers. They learned before prohibition how important it was to have votes under their control if they were to get political favors. Their present service is just a throw-back to their pre-prohibition habits.

The outstanding feature of the whole system as it applies to Hull is the boldness of the way it is worked.

On a registration evening a train pulls into Hingham from Boston and unloads, say, 150 votes for Hull. This is the big crowd. The rest are slipped in less ostentatiously.

MET BY BUSES

Buses furnished by a certain transportation company, which is said to enjoy numerous privileges, meet the train.

Two of the most prominent all-year-round bootleggers are at the station to take care of the transfer and to round up any of the visitors who may be overloaded with bay rum.

The buses rush off to the registration point and the importees become citizens of Hull.

Next comes a little party for the visitors at a few of the beer parlors before the return trip to Hingham, and train and Boston.

Soon election day comes, and if the bosses think it's necessary, the liquor crowd is called on to produce their fly-by-nights.

On one occasion a Hull citizen, incensed at this condition, sat in on a registration session. One woman boarding-house proprietor brought in six men to be registered. He challenged them, and he was successful in bringing out that she and the whole six lived in Boston on April 1 and had not even been near the shore on that date.

REFORM SPIKED

Some time ago a group of citizens demanded that the election officers be appointed from both major parties.

This was done, but not the way the citizens' group hoped. Some of the bally clerks just switched their political faith for the time being, and thus the demand was complied with, as far as showed on the surface.

One man was registered as having lived in a dance hall—without bedding, heat or any conveniences during the whole winter. He took an oath that he had done this.

In spite of these conditions, a committee of citizens had to go to the Supreme court to get a complete voting list so they could check it.

(More about flagrant conditions in Hull and Nantasket in tomorrow's Boston Evening American.)

Bonus Veterans Are 'Treated Rough' Under Official Order to Drive Them Out of Washington

John Pace of Detroit, leader of the radicals in the bonus army, arrested in yesterday's disturbance in connection with attempt to march on the White House. Pace was arrested in a similar disturbance last week and released on bail for hearing tomorrow. (International News Photos.)

Following orders to "treat 'em rough" in direct action to force the bonus army out of Washington, police yesterday, in breaking up the march of radicals toward the White House, threw this man into an impromptu bandstand, in which he attempted to fight back with his legs and feet. Much of his clothing was torn off in the melee before he was carried off to jail with eight others, including John Pace of Detroit, leader of the radical wing of the army.

A bit of fun was injected into the demonstration of bonus veterans attempting to march on the White House yesterday when David Budd broke from the ranks and climbed a Pennsylvania ave. tree, pursued by a detective. Picture shows Budd leading a merry chase among the branches. (Int. News Photos.)

PLAN TO BOOST SILVER DOOMED

Ottawa, July 26 (INS)—Proposals for the creation of a central banking system for the British Empire and for the remonetization of silver are before the imperial economic conference—but none of them is likely to develop beyond the stage of proposals.

This was the considered judgment today of the conference directors, who do not see any way in which the Dominion and colonies may agree upon a central empire banking system, nor upon any way in which the value of silver may be enhanced in the marts of the Empire.

For one thing, South Africa and Canada are still on the gold standard. South Africa is the world's largest producer of gold today, with Canada second. And in his speech the opening day, N. C. Havenga, the South African minister of finance startled the conference with a vigorous demand that the empire, including Great Britain, return to the gold standard as speedily as possible.

To salve the feelings o fthose dominions and colonies which have abandoned the gold standard, including the mother country herself, the imperial conference has created a sub-committee to look into the silver situation, but no one in Ottawa thinks that it will go beyond be conversational stage.

The general feeling is that this should be left to the world economic conference to be held later in Europe, and to which the United States has indicated its intention of adhering. The view of the delegates to the Ottawa conference is that the British Empire of itself cannot remonetize silver nor set up an empire banking system that will function in the present emergency.

As in the United States, however, there is great divergence of opinion concerning the silver question. There are strong partisans on both sides of the question.

Cuban Feminist Leaders Jailed

Havana, Cuba, July 26—Three well-known Cuban feminist leaders —Dr. Ofilia Dominguez, Dr. Berta Dardet and Sanora Rosa Arredondo —were imprisoned here in connection with anti-government "terrorism" over the week-end.

Girl Takes Own Life

Houston, Tex., July 26—Murmuring "Why did Lee have to go?" Miss Dorothy Brse, 24, killed herself with a pistol here two days after her sweetheart, Lee Mullenix, died.

YD FLIERS IN ROUTINE WORK

Marstons Mills, July 26 — Field work and routine flying was on the program for the 26th Division Aviation unit, which is encamped at Cape Cod Airport with nine planes, 105 enlisted men and 29 officers under command of Maj. Clarence E. Hodge of Quincy.

Last night initiation ceremonies were held by the Enlisted Men's Club for about 25 members, all being newcomers to this camp this season. The club has about 80 members.

In charge of the ceremonies were 1st Sergt. J. J. O'Connor, Jamaica Plain; Staff Sergt. F. L. Regan, Roxbury; Corp. Joseph A. Cox, Lexington; Privates Richard J. Toomey, Worcester, and James Ward, Roslindale.

Today the unit will engage in towing targets for the 1st Corps Cadets, also firing on ground targets at Scraggy Neck, classes in artillery adjustment, aerial photography and reconnaissance.

At night a two-hour searchlight practice will be held, in preparation for a searchlight problem to be worked out Thursday night with the 1st Corps Cadets, who are at South Sandwich

13 POLICE FACE TRIAL AUG. 15

Mineola, N. Y., July 26 (US)—Thirteen suspended county police officers pleaded not guilty when arraigned on indictments charging five with manslaughter and eight with assault.

The 13 men, including Deputy Chief of Police Frank J. Tappen, had been held in connection with the "third degree" brutality that caused the death of 20-year-old Hyman Stark.

After pleading not guilty they were released on bail pending trial August 15. Stark died 10 days ago after being arrested with three others and accused of beating and robbing the mother of Detective Joseph Hizenski, one of the officers indicted.

Deputy Chief Tappen, Lieut. Jesse Mayforth, Sergt. Charles Wesser, Detectives Leslie Pearsall and Harry Zander were indicted for first degree manslaughter. Tappen, it was testified, admitted having stood on the prisoner's neck and stomach and "rocked him back and forth."

The manslaughter indictment, in addition to stating that Stark's death was caused by terrific pressure on Stark's larynx, alleges that the five policemen beat Stark with blackjacks, clubs and rubber hose, "the said acts being not justifiable or excusable."

Victim of Joker

A mystery jokester made life miserable for Prof. Samuel Eliot Morison, Harvard historian, last night, by giving him a number of lengthy sales talks for different articles over the phone, and sending four taxi drivers, an ambulance, the fire department and a police riot squad

9 MORE FIGHT WENDEL WILL

New York, July 26—Nine of the 1922 claimants to the vast estate of Miss Ella Wendel have won a legal right to contest the will by which the aged spinster left between $30,000,000 and $100,000,000 to religious and charitable institutions.

Since the death of Miss Wendel a year and a half ago, the estate had formally acknowledged only one surviving relative out of the hundreds in all parts of the world who rushed forward with claims.

But yesterday John M. Harlan, one of the lawyers engaged to protect the estate, made the concession which gave eight more the rights of surviving relatives.

The estate at the same time served notice it would fight the claim of Thomas Patrick Morris, a Scotch carpenter, that he is a relative in the third degree—a son of Miss Wendel's brother by a secret marriage.

Five Injured in Crash at Weston

Five persons were injured when an auto driven by Mrs. Rose A. Young of Homer st., Watertown, sideswiped a bus, loaded with pic nickers, and then crashed into a tree in Northern ave, late yesterday. No one in the bus was hurt.

The injured were Mrs. Young, her two children, Mrs. M. J. McCormack of Cuba st., Watertown, and Walter McCarthy, Myrtle st., Watertown.

MRS. ZIEGFELD IN SECLUSION

Hollywood, July 26 (US)—Preparing to return to work tomorrow in the picture she is making, Billie Burke, widow of Florenz Ziegfeld, is bearing up bravely under the ordeal through which she is passing.

With Ziegfeld's body in a receiving vault, following the funeral services Sunday, Miss Burke remained in partial seclusion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Rogers.

Her daughter, Patricia, was with her, recovering, also, from the shock of the New York theatrical producer's sudden death Friday night.

Messages of sympathy and condolence continued to pour in from all parts of the world.

It will be perhaps a month before Miss Burke's work at the studio can be completed, permitting her to take Ziegfeld's body back to New York for final disposition.

Ship Brings Body of William Kothe

On board the American-France Line steamer Pipestone County, docking at the Army Base from Havre, France, was a hermetically sealed casket containing the remains of William Ferdinand Kothe, Boston insurance salesman, whose body was recovered from the Seine river by Paris police last May, a week after he had dropped out of sight following his arrival in the French capital.

Kothe was 28 years old, and friends ascribed his suicide to marital and financial worries.

WELFARE BOARD REMOVAL ASKED

Mayor Quigley of Chelsea last night requested the Board of Aldermen to remove the present Board of Public Welfare, which is spending about $12,000 for poor relief a week.

He stated that he was not critical of the work of the present board, but that he thought drastic measures should be taken.

It was learned that the mayor does not consider the present board "hard-boiled" enough in handling applications for city aid and that he wants a board which can say "no" in an emphatic manner when conditions demand it.

For a new board he recommended himself, City Auditor Vincent Cassani and Hymen Kaplan, secretary of the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce. The present board consists of Michael Smith, chairman; Oliver E. Wyeth, secretary, and Mrs. Harry A. Dorfman. The board is unpaid. The matter was referred by the Board of Aldermen to the committee of the whole and action will be taken Thursday night.

Eight Arrested in Parade of Jobless

Montreal, Que., July 26—Unemployed of Verdun, 2000 in number, attempted to stage a march upon the City Hall, but were halted and dispersed by Verdun police before they reached their destination. Eight participants were arrested.

$2000 in Hoarded Gold Is Found in Buried Cache

Saratoga Springs, July 26 (INS)—Some old-timer who believed in keeping his money out of circulation became the benefactor today of some 2,000 citizens of this town. His unwitting bequest to them was more than $2000 in gold he had buried on the site of the state's new hall of fountains.

Some of the gold, found in the dirt excavated for the foundations of the building, bore such frank legends as "pirate's gold, $10 by weight." Other bits of the metal were cast in more conventional forms. Some of the coins were dated 1812.

$920 Vanishes From Cellar Hiding Place

A $920 nest egg hidden in the dirt floor of the cellar was stolen from a house in Hurley st., East Cambridge, it was reported to police.

The theft was reported by Manuel Raith, a roomer, who said $680 of the money belonged to him and the rest to Mrs. Mary Frank, the landlady. They placed it there two weeks ago for safe keeping.

SAVANT VICTIM OF PHONE JOKER

Police of the Joy st. station early today gave up their efforts to trace the telephone hoaxer who made life miserable for Prof. Samuel Eliot Morison, Harvard historian and noted educator, at his Brimmer st. home last night.

The trouble started at about 8 p. m., when Prof. Morison received a phone call from a man who said he was an auto salesman. He spoke for about 20 minutes on the advantages of his car over the small model which the professor now uses.

Prof. Morison had no sooner hung up than an oil burner salesman telephoned and gave him a sales talk. He was then annoyed by four cab drivers ad an ambulance from the Haymarket Relief station.

The harassed professor finally appealed to the Joy st. station. A few minutes later a riot call came into the station, the caller saying there was trouble at 44 Brimmer st., the professor's home. The fire department was also called but had been warned by police.

½ FARE NANTASKET BEACH

ROUND TRIP .. 50¢
CHILDREN UNDER 12 - 25¢

EVERY DAY A BARGAIN DAY DURING JULY

Free Tickets Paragon Park
[illegible] Strip Tickets to Paragon 50¢ including All Amusements
Tax Included

HOURLY BOAT SERVICE from ROWES WHARF 9:15 A.M. to 5:15 P.M.

SAIL & DANCE TONITE MAYFLOWER

Sails Every Week Day Evening from Rowes Wharf at 8:30 P. M. (except Mondays). Returning to Boston at 11 P. M. Dancing FREE until Midnight. Dance with Pete Ventre and his Steamer Mayflower Orchestra.

FARE $1

THE MOST DELIGHTFUL MOONLIGHT SAIL IN BOSTON HARBOR

PLYMOUTH THE ALL DAY SAIL

ALWAYS IN SIGHT OF LAND

LARGEST EXCURSION STEAMER IN BOSTON HARBOR
Enjoy the Most Delightful Sail to the Landing of the Pilgrims
Steamer Plymouth leaves Rowes Wharf at 10:00 A.M. daily except Mondays and Saturdays. Special sailings Mondays and Saturdays. Special Matinee sail every Saturday at 1:45 P. M.

ROUND TRIP
Adults $1.25 Children 5 and under 12 75c
40 Palatial Staterooms
Refreshments—Free Dancing
60 Miles of Travel for Rest
In the New Steamer PLYMOUTH 2-Hour Stopover
For Stateroom Reservations, Tel. Hub. 1010
Nantasket Beach Steamboat Co.
Frederic L. Lane, Gen. Mgr.

ALL STEAMERS LEAVE ROWES WHARF

Boy Slumbers on His Piazza as Whole Town Hunts Him

Runnemede, N. J., July 26 (AP) —"Child missing!"

The alarm sped through the town.

The fire siren sounded and 30 firemen started a search.

A meeting of a baseball club was broken up and 25 ball players joined in the hunt.

Neighbors rushed to help, and soon a crowd estimated at 100 persons scoured the town.

An hour later four-year-old Lee Schasser was found sleeping peacefully under a piece of canvas on the front porch of his home.

$3.50 EXCURSION NEW YORK
SUNDAY, JULY 31
Enjoy a Visit with Relatives or Friends in the Big City

GOING SATURDAY NIGHT		RETURNING SUNDAY NIGHT
Lv. Boston (So. Station)	10:55 P.M.	Lv. New York*	11:00 P.M.
Lv. Back Bay	11:01 P.M.	Due Providence	4:00 A.M.
Lv. Providence	12:00 M'ht	Due Back Bay	5:10 A.M.
Due New York*	6:00 A.M.	Due Boston (So. Station)	5:15 A.M.

Eastern Standard Time
*Grand Central Terminal

Buy your tickets in advance and avoid disappointment. Limited number of tickets good only on special coach train now on sale at South Station, North Station and Back Bay Ticket Offices and City Ticket Office, 87 Franklin St.

THE NEW HAVEN R.R.

This refrigerator solves a week-end problem

"When I go away for a long week-end, will the ice in my refrigerator hold out until I get back?" This old problem is banished completely if you have a Boston Ice Company refrigerator in your home. Because they are built on an entirely new principle, these certified Boston Ice Company refrigerators hold constant low temperatures on an icing of only once in every five or six days.

Ask your Boston route man where these refrigerators can be inspected, or call Kenmore 8180.

The Boston ICE Company

LAST DAY WEDNESDAY!
Houghton's RUMMAGE
ADDITIONAL REDUCTIONS ON MANY ITEMS
Houghton's.
Houghton & Dutton Tremont at Beacon

CUBS SERIES GIVES TRIBE CHANCE TO CLIMB

FANNING

With GEORGE UNDERWOOD

With the Olympians Changes of Climate. Regarding Altitude. ↑↓ Water Is Watched. Wine for Visitors. Ma Ewry to Rescue.

Rambling With a Guy Who Has "Been There"

ALTITUDE, changed diet and changed mode of living affect a touring athlete more than change of climate. This observation is in answer to "J. J. O'H.," who asked us if change of climate wasn't responsible for Tom McDonough's failure to shine in the California Tryouts after his splendid race in the Eastern Tryouts in the Harvard Stadium. Our Yankee Olympians competing in Athens, Paris, Stockholm, and London were not bothered by the change of climate. Neither were the foreign athletes who competed in the St. Louis Olympics here in 1904. Foreign athletes here for the Olympics in Los Angeles will find the California climate ideal for competition. They are going to have their own food cooked in their own way, and live as near as possible in their own home environment. The athletes who will be under a handicap are those who may be denied the alcoholic beverages to which they have been accustomed. French and Italian athletes from childhood are accustomed to light wines. Ale is on every British training table and the average German athlete has his beer or Rhine wine with his meals. If these athletes are denied their wine or beer the shock to their digestive systems undoubtedly will be felt.

BUT IF what the little birdies chirp is true the French Olympians will have their native wines, the Germans their beer and the Englishman his ale or 'alf and 'alf at Los Angeles. We are told that Uncle Sam's pronunciamento that foreign athletes could not tote their sauterne and bass and Muenchner into Los Angeles only was for popular American consumption along with prohibition. It wouldn't surprise if foreign athletic officials have been secretly informed that Uncle Sam will close one eye if the wine starts to pop and the beer to bubble. It's the hypocritical way we have come to have here in the land of booze and bootlegger since Mister Volstead and the misguided psalm singers turned the country over to the racketeers.

BACK TO altitude and climate. We have observed that climate has little effect on an athlete unless altitude also is involved. Change of climate in summertime does not have the effect that it has in other seasons. Football teams leaving Northern New England to play in California in late fall or early winter really do feel the change of climate. The change from peppy New England autumn ozone to balmy summery California weather brings about a feeling of laziness and lethargy. And, vice versa, football players coming from California to play in North Eastern United States invariably find the change bracing and exhilarating. Atlantic coast athletes going to California in the summertime do not suffer from change in climate.

CLIMATE doesn't change in 100 miles. Altitude often does. An athlete will feel the change of altitude a few miles from his home. Climb in the old Lizzie here on the sea coast and in a little more than an hour you can be at the top of Mt. Wachusett. You feel great up there in the rarefied atmosphere. But until you get accustomed to it see how tired you get after a few minutes' strenuous exercise. In Eddie Eagan's book "Fighting for Fun," he tells you of how the change from his home in Longmont to Crippie Creek affected him. Tune in. Here's Eddie on the air.

"CRIPPLE CREEK is little more than 100 miles from Longmont as the crow flies, if the crow holds to the altitude of the plains and burrows through several mountain ranges. The famous mining community is two miles above sea level. A stranger to that rarefied atmosphere finds that the slightest exertion tires him as much as a hard day's manual labor. Such fatigue is accompanied by a feeling of giddiness and not infrequently bleeding at the mouth and nose. A companion affliction of high altitudes is nausea. La Saroche, or mountain sickness."

CHANGE OF water will raise Ned with some athletes. On others it has little effect. It depends much on the individual. At the St. Louis Olympics we brought along our own mineral water. St. Louis water had a fearful reputation. Tiring of the mineral water Martin Sheridan, Ray Ewry and your columnist one night filled up on plebian St. Louis aqua pura, although we certainly would have preferred some of Tony Faust's own brew or inhaled a few steins of the amber ambrosia they used to serve in the "Tyrolean Alps," the big beer garden in the heart of the exposition grounds. Our trainer predicted dire happenings because of us drinking that St. Louis water. Sheridan and the writer were absolutely unaffected. The effect on Ewry was that of a gentle laxative. That was all.

THE OLYMPIANS aboard the Barbarossa heading for Athens in 1906 had their mineral water confiscated by Italian custom officials at Naples. That was a terrible caastastrophe, inasmuch as Vesuvius was in eruption at the time and the atmosphere was full of minute lava particles which parched the throat and awoke a horrible thirst. The boys were confronted with having to drink awful Italian water or light Italian wines, which were very good and very cheap. We'll give you one guess as to which alternative the athletes accepted.

THE ATHENS Olympics always were Bad Medicine for the American Olympians. At the first game there in 1896, failing to take consideration of the difference in the Greek calendar, found the boys in competition the day after their arrival, instead of having two weeks to condition themselves and get acclimated. In 1908 a tidal wave hit the Barbarossa two days out and Martin Sheridan, Jim Mitchell, Harry Hillman and other star athletes were badly bruised. Hillman's knee was put out of commission and Mitchell's shoulder dislocated. Water trouble at Naples was followed by food trouble at Athens. Boys couldn't accustom themselves to the European cuisine at the Hotel Angleterre. So Mrs. Ewry and some of the wives of the American athletes pitched in and succeeded in giving the boys some real American meals. Mrs. Ewry was "Ma" Ewry to the American Olympians ever after.

John Ford Sets Course Mark at Blue Hill Country Club

Although he started with a six, taking four to get down from the back edge of the first green, John Ford, the club professional, recently established a new course record of 70 at the Blue Hill Country Club.

Ford was out in 36, even par, despite his six on the opening hole and a five at the 5th, for he offset his errors by birdies at the 3d, 6th and 8th holes. Then, he stepped home in one under par, by gathering seven 4's and two 3's.

Ford's card:

Out	6	4	3	5	3	3	4	5	—36
In	4	3	4	4	4	3	4	4	—70

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

Cubs' Star Infielder Putting English on the Ball

The boy with all the Moxie. That's what they call Woody English (shown above in two remarkable action photos). They call him Tiger, too. Because no try is too tough for him and he puts everything he's got into every play. He typifies that old fighting spirit that Hornsby, his boss, admires so much. (As who doesn't?) . He's a great third baseman and one of the best reasons why the Cubs are up there. You can see him today at Braves Field.

BREAKS AHEAD TO PUT CUBS AT TOP---'RAJ'

By GEORGE UNDERWOOD

Rogers Hornsby is like our old Irish Aunt. Only Aunt Mary used to tell a feller's fortune by reading it in the tea cup, while the slugging leader of the Cubs apparently prefers the coffee cup.

Over the coffee and cantaloupe and the scrambled eggs with a rasher of bacon on the side at the Hotel Somerset, this morning, Rogers looked into the future. Gazing thoughtfully into the coffee cup Rogers reminiscently remarked:

"I have a hunch that history may repeat itself and after the present Boston-Chicago and Giants-Pirates series we'll be back in the lead and this time we'll not be headed. Once in front the law of averages will be on my side. We've been getting the worst of the breaks all season. It's time the tide turned and we began to get the better of them. Let me tell you a race as close as the one in the National League is going to be decided by the breaks."

When Hornsby stopped to pour another cup of Mocha we queried: "What do you mean by history repeating itself?"

RUCS' LEAD MELTED

"Back in 1922 the Pirates were out front just as they are now," explained the Chicago manager. "Only they had a 7½-game lead. They looked to have the race all sewed up. They headed into New York for a series with the Giants. Burned if the Giants, who the Pirates had been licking all season, didn't turn about and take five straight from Pittsburgh and start 'em on the slide. The Pirates that year were managed by George Gibson, just as they are today.

"Yes, I'm hoping and looking for history to repeat itself," he reiterated, "and I shouldn't be surprised to see a big shakeup before we leave Boston. While we are having five games with the Braves and remember we've won six out of nine with Boston this year—the Pirates will be playing seven games in five days with the Giants. It looks as if Bill Terry had that New York outfit hitting on all cylinders now. If you ask me I'm a durned sight more scared of the Giants than I am of the Pirates, Braves, Cardinals and Phillies.

"All I want is an even split on the breaks," went on Rogers as he bit savagely into another roll. "Gosh, but we certainly had plenty of hard luck this season. Cuyler and Woody English out right after the getaway. They scarcely had got back when Jurges had to get shot in saving some heroine. Grimes has been suffering all season. Now we're afraid he has appendicitis. We left him in Chicago having X-rays taken. Engelish was hurt again last Saturday. But it's only a slight sprain.

Continued on Page 9, Column 3

RING PROBE OF WALKER'S K. O.

Newark, N. J., July 26 (US)—Mickey Walker made short work of Salvatore Ruggirello, tall and lean Italian, at Dreamland Park, here, knocking him out in 1:10½ of the first round of a scheduled ten.

Ruggirello was farcical as opposition. Outweighing Walker almost 40 pounds and a foot higher, he failed to land a punch.

Following the fight, John Flood, administrator agent of the boxing commission, said that the purses of each fighter would be held up pending an investigation.

Flood announced later that Walker would receive his share, as he seemed to be trying his best.

READVILLE SET FOR RACES

The Readville Speedway at Readville, where the daredevils of the auto world will do their stuff on Saturday afternoon, has received $35,000 worth of improvements during the past six weeks. It is today one of the best tracks in the country.

The promoters will have the track heavily oiled so that there will not be any of the disagreeable features in connection with Saturday's races which rained the recent show at Rockingham Park.

A flock of prominent auto racing stars will be on the job when Readville swings into action.

SARAH PALFREY NEAR DEFEAT IN GOSS MATCH

By MICHAEL J. FOSTER

Scarsdright, N. J., July 26 (INS)—England's representatives in the women's singles tourney at the Scarsdright Lawn Tennis and Cricket Club broke even in their belated start here this morning.

Mrs. Elsie Goldsack Pittman was fortunate enough to draw an easy opponent, Mrs. Edward Crane, a local player, and she coasted through to a 6—1, 6—1 victory.

Joan Ridley, Mrs. Pittman's countrywoman, was not so fortunate. She met the hard-hitting Los Angeles star, Caroline Babcock, in the first round, and was speedily eliminated, 6—1, 6—4.

Another Californian led the way into the third round when Mrs. Lawrence A. Harper conquered Mrs. Christian E. Muhl of New York. The rather doubtful pleasure of meeting Mrs. Harper in the next round fell to Virginia Hillegary of Philadelphia, when she scored over Mrs. William V. Hester of Brooklyn, 6—2, 6—2.

Mrs. Agnes Lamme, the Rye veteran who upset the Baroness Giacomo Levi yesterday, lost to Helen Jacobs, 6—2, 6—2.

Sarah Palfrey had to scramble to avoid being put out of the tournament by Eleanor Goss the veteran Sears-Sup captain. Miss Goss had her match point in the third set, but the brilliant Boston girl pulled herself out of that hole with a volley placement, and then went on to win the match at 6—1, 2—6, 8—6.

FIRST ROUND

Miss Caroline Babcock, Los Angeles, defeated Miss Joan Ridley, England, 6—1, 6—4.

Mrs. Elsie Goldsack Pittman, England, defeated Mrs. E. M. Crane, 6—1, 6—1.

SECOND ROUND

Mrs. L. A. Harper, Los Angeles, defeated Mrs. C. E. Muhl, New York, 6—1, 6—1.

Virginia Hillegary, Philadelphia, defeated Mrs. Wm. V. Hester, Great Neck, N. Y., 6—1, 6—3.

Helen Jacobs, Berkeley, Cal., defeated Mrs. Ary J. Lamme, Rye, N. Y., 6—2, 6—2.

25 Conn. Golfers Seek N. E. Title

New Haven, Conn., July 26 (INS)—Connecticut expects to send at least 25 of its best golfers to the Rhode Island Country Club next week for the New England amateur championships, but Bobby Grant of Wethersfield, state titleholder who has swept aside all opposition hereabouts this season, may not be among the nutmeg contingent.

BRAVES FIELD

Tomorrow at 1:30 P. M.

DOUBLEHEADER

BRAVES vs. CHICAGO

Tickets at Horace Partridge and Braves Field, Gladiola 9500

HORNSBYMEN AT WIGWAM TODAY

By JOE MOONEY

With the Braves playing host to the Cubs in the opener of a five-game series, while the league-leading Pirates swing into the Polo Grounds for seven games with the Giants, the National League ushers in Possibility Week today.

There is the heartening possibility that our Commonwealth ave. brethren will swap places with the Cubs in the league standing. The Chicago outfit has only a two-game margin on the Braves, and this can be easily wiped out if the Cubs live up to their reputation as a terrible away-from-home team.

On other fronts there is enough subject matter for the percentage boys to show that the pennant race will be all tied in knots at the end of the week.

The Terrys, who found their strids at the expense of McKechnie's team, hope to take at least four victories from the Pirates at the Polo Grounds. This is not too much to expect after the showing the Giants made here.

PHILS CLOSE TO TRIBE

Philadelphia, now only one game behind the Braves, is scheduled for four games with Cinci in the city of Brotherly Love. This assignment with the cellarites should keep the Phillies right on the heels of the Braves all week.

Barring the awful possibility that the Cubs should make a clean sweep with the Braves, and the Giants do as much against the Pirates, there'll be no change in the standing for Pittsburgh.

Chicago is not likely to do anything so unorthodox as winning five from the Braves, however. In the West they have not been able to take more than six games out of 14 outside of Wrigley Field, and the Braves have always broken at least even with the Cubs.

There is no reason to think that our fighting Braves are going to succumb to Rajah's Roisterers as long as Gowdy's mound pupils maintain form and the Braver get plenty of batting practice.

McKechnie will take care of this need. Even on their day off the Tribesmen were out early practicing against some fine bowling by Brandt and Zachary. If this were not enough, the Braves got in bat practice aplenty against the Malden Athletics.

BRANDT LIKELY TO TOSS

McKechnie is loath to name his starting pitcher until almost game time, but the best guessers pick Ed Brandt to do the chucking for the home heroes.

Brant was off his usual smart game more than somewhat in his appearance against the Giants, but he expects to look better against the Cubs today.

For the visiting firemen, Hornsby's choice wavers between the former Braves' twirler, right handed Bobby Smith, and Pat Malone. Later in the series—possibly in one of the two games scheduled for tomorrow—Boston fans will have a peek at Lon Warneke.

And incidentally, those waiting to see Bill Urbanski back on the diamond will have to wait another week at least, in the opinion of Hank Gowdy.

Likewise Art Shires, who may make his usual valiant attempt to play a good game around first base, will not be right for some time yet. Shires, they say, is beginning to regret more and more hurrying back to work after his last injury.

That sore right stump of Italy Art is keeping him from doing anything effective at the bat, a predicament which may have more serious consequences for Shires if McKechnie has to shake up the team later.

PERLICK TWINS BARRED BY CLINNIN

Chicago, July 26 (INS)—Gen. John V. Clinnin, chairman of the Illinois Athletic Commission, today handed a verbal punch to follow through the physical blows he exchanged with Matchmaker Jack Mullen.

The commission head informed Mullen that the Perlick twins, Henry and Herman, over whom the two men traded jabs, will not be eligible to compete in the matchmaker's boxing program here Thursday night, unless the New Jersey Athletic Commission lifts its suspension.

The Brothers Perlick were barred from New Jersey rings, an action which bans the Kalamazoo, Mich., welterweight fighters from Illinois arenas, unless the New Jersey body reinstates them.

Gen. Glinnin and Mullen engaged in a lively, but brief, setto at a luncheon here yesterday, but friends tore the men apart and hostilities were halted.

Sears Roebuck Golf at Salem Tomorrow

The Salem store of Sears, Roebuck Co. holds a golf tournament for men and women tomorrow at North Shore Golf and Tennis Club.

The women's awards include first gross and first net and a surprise. A driving contest is open to every one at 5:30 o'clock in the evening under arc lights.

League Leaders

NATIONAL LEAGUE

BATTING—P. Waner, Pirates, .382; Terry, Phillies, .360.

RUNS—Klein, Phillies, 106; Terry, Giants, 77.

RUNS BATTED IN—Klein, Phillies, 97; Herst, Phillies, 91.

HITS—Klein, Phillies, 144; P. Waner, Pirates, 137.

DOUBLES—P. Waner, Pirates, 40; Worthington, Braves, 33.

TRIPLES—Klein, Phillies, 14; Herman, Reds, 14.

HOME RUNS—Klein, Phillies, 28; Ott, Giants, 18.

STOLEN BASES—Frisch, Cards, 11; Stripp, Dodgers, and P. Waner, Pirates, 10.

PITCHING—Sweetcic, Pirates, 15—3; Warneke, Cubs, 15—5.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

BATTING—Foxx, Athletics, .365; Manush, Senators, .349.

RUNS—Simmons, Athletics, 107; Foxx, Athletics, 101.

RUNS BATTED IN—Foxx, Athletics, 121; Simmons, Athletics, 99.

HITS—Foxx, Athletics, 137; Simmons, Athletics, and Porter, Indians, 133.

DOUBLES—Porter, Indians, 31; K. Johnson, Red Sox, 29.

TRIPLES—Taylor, Senators, 13; Crosetti, Senators, 12.

HOME RUNS—Foxx, Athletics, 40; Ruth, Yankees, 32.

STOLEN BASES—Chapman, Yankees, 26; Blue, White Sox, and Walker, Tigers 14.

PITCHING—Allen, Yankees, 8—2; Gomez, Yankees, 17—5.

CHIEF BENDER IS RELEASED

Erie, Pa., July 26 (AP)—Chief Bender, famous pitcher of the world champion Philadelphia Athletics 20 years ago, today was released as manager of the Erie club of the Centri Baseball League following a dispute with club officials.

Bill McCorry, former manager of the Albany club of the Eastern League, which suspended operations 10 days ago, is being considered as Bender's successor.

OVERLAND

THE Outstanding Cigar of New England

Perfectos 2 for 25c Londres 10c

S.S. PIERCE CO. Corner Tremont and Beacon Streets Copley Square—Coolidge Corner 122 Brookline Avenue

PIAZZA GETS SHOT AT LARIVEE'S N. E. TITLE

RING CHAMP CHOICE IN FENWAY GO

Magic Coin Votes for Larivee to Edge Piazza

JACK CONWAY today gave his magic coin a whirl and it tipped him to pick Leo Larivee to win over Odonne Piazza in their 12-round bout for the New England middleweight championship at Fenway Park tonight.

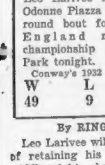
Conway's 1932 record:

W	L	P. C.
49	9	.844

By RINGSIDE

Leo Larivee will pin his hopes of retaining his New England middleweight championship on the old right duke when he collides with Odonne Piazza of Italy and the North End in a 12-round scramble at an Argonne A. A. show at Fenway Park tonight.

It will be the third time that Larivee and Piazza have gone to the post. The two previous starts have ended with Larivee parading past the judges' stand in the lead.



Leo Larivee

The last bout between these boys was a torrid mill. At the conclusion of the punch tossing the fans were divided as to which boxer had the better of the milling.

Larivee was obliged to make a garrison finish in the final round to catch the eyes of the officials.

Piazza believes that with the distance 12 rounds he will come through with a decisive win.

In addition to the right hand smash Larivee is blessed with a pretty good left hand.

Piazza is at his best when he is able to let his right hand fly. The North End youngster says he will be in better condition tonight than when he last tackled Larivee and that he will grab the New England middleweight title.

Larivee is signed to tackle Ben Iehy on the McLarnin-Brouillard card at the Yankee Stadium on August 4 and so cannot afford to receive a setback.

The eight-round semifinal will find Eino Nyholm of Maynard shooting punches at Tony Travers of New Haven.

Fait Elkins, Indian athlete who formerly starred with the Pittons, will oppose Austin Record of Charlestown in a four-rounder.

So is Chester Lanier, former West Medford amateur star, who will sock it out with Eddie Jessup of Torrington, Ct.

In other four rounders, Dick Lopez of Watertown will collide with Joe Venuti of the North End, while Kid Cocoa of Palm Beach will try to wreck Pete Herman of Roxbury.

Complete Card at Fenway Park

FOUR ROUNDS

Eddie Jessup, Torrington, Conn., vs. Chet Lanier, Cambridge.

Kid Cocoa, Palm Beach, Fla., vs. Pete Herman, Roxbury.

Dick Lopez, Watertown, vs. Joe Venuti, North End.

Chief Elkins, East Boston, vs. Austin Record, Charlestown.

EIGHT ROUNDS

Tony Travers, New Haven, Conn., vs. Eino Nyholm, Maynard.

12 ROUNDS

Leo Larivee, Waterbury, Conn., vs. Odonne Piazza, Boston.

First Bout, 8:30 p. m.

Main Bout, 10:00 p. m.

Runs for the Week

From July 24 to July 30

AMERICAN LEAGUE

	S	M	T	W	T	F	S	Ti
Boston	6	*						6
Cleveland	18	*						18
Chicago	13	*						13
Detroit	13	*						13
New York	9	7						16
Philadelphia	3	8						11
St. Louis	12	*						12
Washington	13	*						13

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Boston	7	*						7
Brooklyn	5	*						5
Chicago	12	*						12
Cincinnati	3	*						3
New York	10	*						10
Pittsburgh	9	*						9
St. Louis	8	*						8
Philadelphia	4	*						4

GOLDBERG'S CARTOONS

A Sad, Sad Story

A SAD SAD STORY
MARTINI'S BUTT IS SPOKE ON THE EVILS OF PROHIBITION EIGHT YEARS AGO AND PEOPLE LOOKED UPON HIM AS A DANGEROUS CHARACTER
HE WAS DISCOVERED TAKING A GLASS OF WINE WITH HIS DINNER AND WAS ARRESTED FOR INSULT-
HE WAS GLAD TO SUFFER BECAUSE HE KNEW HE WOULD BE HAILED AS A GREAT LEADER WHEN PEOPLE FINALLY SAW THAT HE WAS RIGHT-
REPEAL THE 18TH AMENDMENT
BUT THE POLITICAL CANDIDATES SWIPED HIS STUFF AND TOOK ALL THE CREDIT, LEAVING HIM OUT IN THE COLD!
LET'S PICK SOME APPLES- THE FARMER WON'T CARE.
SHE DON'T KNOW FROM NOTHIN'
McNaught Syndicate, Inc., N. Y.

HORNSBY SAYS CUBS WILL WIN OUT

Continued from Page 8

Woody soon will be back in there, Lyle Tinning, one of our right-hand pitchers, has an infected foot."

"You say you fear Grimes has appendicitis?" we queried.

"Yes, I had Chicago on the long-distance wire last night," answered Hornsby, "and they told me the X-ray pictures showed a serious disturbance in the region of the appendix and they may have to operate.

Inasmuch as Burleigh has been in bad health and in poor form all season, I told 'em it perhaps was better to have the operation at once and have it over with. That is likely to mean we may lose Grimes for most of the season. But he isn't worth much to us, anyway, in his present state of health."

Hornsby seems sweet on Pitcher Lon Warnecke. We don't blame him. Lon rang up his 15th victory, last Saturday.

Ed Brandt and Huck Betts are the only Boston pitchers who have managed to take the scalp of the Cubs this season. Braudt won two games in the first Boston-Chicago series. The Braves would have made it three straight in that series only Bush came up in the ninth and poled out the hit that drove the tying and winning markers across.

"I've been getting good pitching and a good defense," explained Hornsby, "but our hitting has been off.

"On paper we have plenty of hitting strength, but the boys can't seem to get to hitting timely or bunching their hits. Because we have plenty of real batting strength, I believe our pennant chances are better than the average. Sooner or later our boys will get to hitting. If we've been able to stay up with the leaders without hitting, we are going to take the lead and hold it when the club gets in full batting stride."

Hyde Shoemakers Have 2 Open Dates

The Hyde Athletic Shoemakers, winners of the first half and leaders of the second in the Suburban Twi League, have Saturday and Sunday, July 30 and 31 open. Any club desirous booking one of the strongest semi-pro clubs in New England communicate with Irving Isenstadt, care Hyde Athletic Shoe Company, Cambridge, Mass., Univ. 9210.

SCHAAF WANTS BOUT WITH WALKER

New York, July 26—Ernie Schaaf, following his victory over Paulino Uzcudun in a slow 15-round bout at the Madison Square Garden Bowl, today asked Jimmy Johnston to match him with Mickey Walker.

Johnny Buckley stood back of Schaaf in the demand for the Walker bout. All Buckley insisted was that at the contest be over the 15-round route. Buckley pointed to the fact that Schaaf almost knocked Paulino out in the 15th round as proof of the fact that the Blonde Viking done his best work over the derby route.

Johnston promised to confer with Jack Kearns, Walker's manager. Johnston promised to confer with Jack Kearns, Walker's manager. Schaaf-Walker tussle, but that his efforts have not met with any success. Kearns does not approve the match.

KEARNS AFTER SCHAAF

There is a Broadway report that Kearns is trying to buy the contract Johnny Buckley and Jack Sharkey have with Schaaf. Kearns is quoted as saying that Schaaf cannot get anywhere while tied under the Buckley-Sharkey banner on account of the fact that the latter is world's heavyweight champion. Kearns asserts he considers Schaaf the most promising young heavyweight in the country.

Ernie leaves by airplane for New Orleans tomorrow to meet Ted Sandina in a ten-round bout on Red Monday night.

The Schaaf-Paulino bout didn't furnish anything to cheer about. The big fellows locked heads and punched it out at close quarters most of the time. Schaaf cut loose on the last three rounds, and had the Basque hanging on at the finish. Paulino was bleeding from cuts on the face at the end of the 15th.

ONLY 6000 SEE BOUT

The show only drew a crowd of 6000 and the gate was a mere $12,-000. A new low for the Garden bowl.

In the semi-final of eight rounds, Jack McCarthy of Roxbury suffered an injury which cost him his bout with Arthur Huttick of New York in the third round. During a clinch at close quarters, McCarthy had his left shoulder dislocated. His arm fell limp at his side, and the referee halted the tussle.

McCarthy will be out of action for two months, according to doctors who treated him in his dressing room.

Fight Results

At New York — Ernie Schaaf, Boston, outpointed Paulino Uzcudun, Spain, dec. (15); Arthur Huttick, New York, d. Jack McCarthy, Boston, K. O. (3).

At Newark, N. J.—Mickey Walker, N. J., d. Italo Raggiollo, N. Y., K. O. (1).

At Port Richmond, N. Y.—Benny Bass, Phila., d. Eralo Ratner, N. J., dec.

At Los Angeles—Steve Hamas, Pittsburgh, outpointed Lee Ramage, San Diego (10); Joe Glick, San Francisco, outpointed David Velasco, Mexico City (10); Jo Jo Jones, Spain, outpointed Star Frico, Philippine Islands (10).

At Milwaukee—Tait Littman, Godahy, defeated "Tiger" Roy Williams, Chicago (8).

At Leiperville, Pa.—Tiger Thomas, Leiperville, won a 15-round decision here over Billy Angelo, of Philadelphia; Bobby Garvin, Baltimore, defeated Billie Ritchie, of Chester.

Mat Results

At Pittsfield — Sam Cordovano, Wash., d. Pat O'Hara, Ireland. Al Fiorelli, Boston, d. Jack Regut, Canada.

At Camden, N. J. — Casey Kazanzian, Cal., drew with Nick Lutze, St. Louis. Wong Back Chenan, China, d. Jack Wagner, Providence.

Gene Will Refuse N. Y. Boxing Board Berth

By JAMES KILGALLEN

New York, July 26 (INS)—Gene Tunney will not accept the chairmanship of the New York State Boxing Commission in the event the position is offered to him, it was learned today.

It is a foregone conclusion that the present chairman, James A. Farley, campaign manager for Governor Roosevelt, will relinquish the post so that he can devote all his time to the presidential campaign.

Tunney's name has been prominently mentioned as Farley's successor. Even though highly qualified for the position, the retired heavyweight champion has made up his mind, according to his close friends, to remain out of the fight game.

The fact that Tunney is a resident of Connecticut also precludes his acceptance of the position.

Tunney's inclinations lie in other directions—politics and literary work. He has developed an inordinate interest in public affairs.

His friends in Connecticut have suggested he would make an excellent candidate for United States senator. At present he is devoting considerable of his time to a study of governmental problems.

In addition to studying governmental affairs, Tunney gives much of his time to his literary work, which frequently brings him to his office in New York city.

STRACK, PINTO IN REVERE GO

Charley Strack, the bad boy from Oklahoma, is once more gunning for "Gentleman" Jack Washburn Strack will leave his calling card at Washburn's cabana, if he knocks the everlasting daylight out of Charley Pinto of Australia in their finish mat bout at the Rollaway Rink, Revere, tonight.

Alex MacLean has signed Al Morelli, former Boston College star, to tangle up with Karol Zbyszko of Poland in the semifinal, just so nobody will be stricken with sleeping sickness.

What the Stars Did

By The Associated Press

"Mule" Haas, Athletics—Hit a home run with one on in the last of the ninth to beat the Yankees, 5 to 4.

TODAY'S RACE SCRATCHES

LATONIA SCRATCHES

1—Coast Patrol, Be Fine.

2—Pollys Folly, Our Grief.

3—Jim Macaw, Chuck B., Score, Spring Flight.

6—Gloria Diane, Ricciardo, Bobs Luck, Sailorsil, Bumpricket, White Collar, Soon Enough, Glove.

8—Alvin Ranshaw, Duelist, Depression.

DEVONSHIRE SCRATCHES

1—Golden Storm, Senora, Sister Lillie, Cherry Baby, Harbor Star, King Commander.

2—Justa Sheik, Dude Rancher, 3—Don Alvaro, Kopeck, Golden Light, Fly Girl, Montferrat, Noels Dress.

4—Fair Clark, Toy Town, Mestallup, Grimmace, Absinthe, Chrolum.

5—Justa Hurry.

6—Paige, Kybo, Lion Hearted.

7—Dick Forter, Wee Tot.

ARLINGTON PARK SCRATCHES

1—Upon, Sporting Pearl, Pillnite, Merovech, Snorky, Chat Eagle, Boston Common.

2—Piecemeal, Clean Play, Peace Jimmy, Enro, Kensington.

3—Gertrude L., Zellie, Tabaku.

5—Declared off.

7—Setha Ballot, Plutarch, Searington.

8—Mole Hill, Soothing, Pellegrino, Ship Blue Cloud.

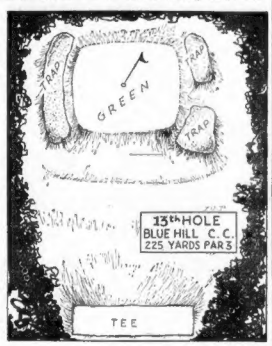
Golf Heart-Breakers Near Boston

No. 13 at Blue Hill C. C.

"In my opinion, we have some of the finest holes in the state," advanced President Benjamin E. Morse of the Blue Hill Country Club, when queried as to the best hole on the Canton course, "and therefore it is difficult to select the best one.

"Our second hole calls for two long and perfectly hit shots and I think our present 12th, which is up hill and measures 455 yards, will eventually be recognized as the toughest of all par four holes but I guess that our best is the short 13th.

"When I first saw this hole, I was unable to believe that it measured 225 yards. The tee is on a hill and there is a long gradual slope which runs to within about 20 yards of the green. From the tee, it is not discernable that there is a rise short of the green which is the reason for so many players, even the top notchers, undercubing.



"From the tee, the 13th appears to be a mid or mashie iron shot but in reality it is a full wood, for the upgrade in front of the green prevents any run ups. The green is tightly trapped but exceptionally large. It was constructed by cutting into a hill and the sides and back give it the appearance of a punch bowl.

"The 12th and 13th holes are among the last four we built and as they have only been open since Memorial Day, they are not sufficiently well known to outside golfers to be fully appreciated but our members rate them, and especially the short 13th, as the most testing at Blue Hill."

American League

STANDING JULY 26, 1932

*1931	W.	L.	P.C.	G.B.
3—New York	65	36	.684
4—Cleveland	55	39	.585	9½
5—Philadelphia	57	41	.582	9½
2—Washington	53	42	.558	12
6—Detroit	50	42	.543	13½
8—St. Louis	42	51	.452	22
7—Chicago	41	50	.341	22
8—BOSTON	22	70	.239	41½

*Standing July 26, 1931.
†Games behind leaders.

GAMES TODAY

Boston at Chicago.
New York at Cleveland.
Philadelphia at Detroit.
Washington at St. Louis.

AMERICAN LEAGUE RESULTS

At Philadelphia:

New York	0	0	0	0	2	1	0	4	0	—7 10 1
Athletics	0	0	0	0	3	1	0	2	0	—3 12 1

Detroit at St. Louis—First game called end fourth on account of rain. Second game postponed—wet grounds.

(Only games scheduled.)

National League

STANDING JULY 26, 1932

*1931	W.	L.	P.C.	G.B.
6—Pittsburgh	53	37	.589
3—Chicago	49	43	.533	4½
5—BOSTON	48	45	.516	6½
7—Philadelphia	49	48	.505	7½
1—St. Louis	45	45	.500	8
2—New York	42	46	.477	10
4—Brooklyn	43	50	.462	11½
8—Cincinnati	42	57	.418	16

*Standing July 26, 1931.
†Games behind leaders.

GAMES TODAY

Chicago at Boston.
Pittsburgh at New York (2 games).
St. Louis at Brooklyn.
Cincinnati at Philadelphia.

No games scheduled in National League.

LINDY-TERRY FEUD LAID TO AMBITION

By DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, July 26 (INS)—Freddie Lindstrom, the boy outfielder, would be the manager of the New York Giants, except for one thing.

He lost the job before he got it.

John J. McGraw wasn't discharged, as so often reported by me. I'm always lying about things like that. He was fired. In fact, he was fired twice, once for practice last summer and again six weeks ago. They decided to count the second one.

Billy Terry, who got the job, and Lindstrom, who didn't, still speak, but not to each other. McGraw and Owner Perry of the Indianapolis club continue to negotiate for the purchase of the franchise, but a purely technical misunderstanding has arisen, due to the fact that C. A. Stoneham thinks Owner Perry is buying City Hall park.

These are the latest developments today in the attempt of John McGraw to buy back the position and prestige that were his for 30 years. The ions of prestige was gradual, almost imperceptible, an accumulation rather than a climax. At the end, all he had left was the job. And then they took that swiftly and cruelly, overnight.

McGRAW GIVEN GATE

"You're through," said Stoneham, just like that. "You're not trying with the club. It's not trying for you. I'll pay you your salary to the end of the year. I'll tear up your obligations. It's a clean sweep. You're out."

"I'm not," said McGraw, blustering.

The next morning, he was back with a compromise. He'd accept Stoneham's terms, with one reservation. Lindstrom, waiting to be named manager of the Giants as long ago as last February, was not to have the job.

That afternoon, Terry was called into the office and informed that he was being rewarded for his loyalty and long service and was now in charge.

The result of that move apparently was the ending of a beautiful and enduring friendship. Terry and Lindstrom had roomed together, eaten at the same boarding house, borrowed and lent their money at will.

One's sorrows were the other's one's joyes were both's. Today, they nod stiffly and pass by with averted gaze. It is an impossible relationship between manager and player and cannot long persist.

Meantime, there is always the chance that McGraw will be able to buy both and send them elsewhere. Through Owner Perry, he was very close to a deal today. But, then, he was very close to a deal through the same source, last Summer, and the first thing he knew he had neither the club nor a job.

MAY SELL CLUB

There was the time that Stoneham flew into a tantrum when he read some premature news of the transaction, out of Indianapolis, called McGraw on the telephone and informed him that he was dismissed. The following day he had McGraw in his office and signed him to a five-year contract.

A strange man, this Stoneham—whimsical, violent, audacious, illogical, vain. When the time comes, he might even sell the club at a reasonable price.

GILLETTE PATENTS HELD VALID

● In a decision just handed down by the United States District Court, District of Connecticut, Gillette patents in that suit were declared valid. The defendants were held liable for costs and damages. Thus the patented advantages exclusive with Gillette razors and blades are clearly demonstrated.

GILLETTE SAFETY RAZOR CO., BOSTON, MASS.

EXPECT FIREWORKS AT MEETING OF I. A. A. F.

U.S. OFFICIALS SEEK MORE POWER

By FRANK G. MENKE

Los Angeles, July 26 (INS)—Bombs will be bursting in air, under desks, tables, chairs and other equipment when the International Amateur Athletic Federation goes into session here the fag end of the week.

This is the outfit which dominates the Olympiads. There are something like 50 countries within the membership. Although the U. S. A. has been dominating the Olympic games for nearly three decades, and has expended more money and done more to attract attention to them than any dozen countries, the existing rules of the I. A. A. F. permit the United States only a single vote.

When it is remembered that the U. S. A. has had from 300 to 500 athletes in each recent Olympiad and yet has no more voting power than Afghanistan, Siam, Chili or any other nation, even if such country has entered only one or two men in the contests, the sheer absurdity of the clause is manifested.

This regulation is something which the American Olympic Committee will strive to smack into oblivion and supplant with one which will give a nation as many ballots as it had athletes in the most recent of the Olympiads.

NURMI CASE UP.

Another law which will be batted out, if the opposition can summon sufficient voting strength, is that which now gives to this federation the power to determine whether or not an athlete is pure, or defiled, regardless of his status in his own country.

The Paavo Nurmi case is a glittering illustration as to what now can be done to scramble Olympic matters and create what might be termed glaring injustice.

If memory is not faulty, Sweden blew the whistle and yodeled that Nurmi was being paid hefty sums for expenses.

The I. A. A. F. asked Finland to investigate. It did and found Nurmi not guilty. That should have written "finis" on the case. But the I. A. A. F. did not accept that decision.

It has held the matter open for action this week. Then the different nations, 98 per cent of which know nothing about the delicate details, will be asked to decide if Nurmi is commercial or just an amateur.

Sweden ma ymake an effort to keep that old rule on the books if for no other reason than to justify its yip about Nurmi. If it does, there will be much beating of tom-toms and perhaps some skulls, because the Finns are all stripped for action.

Although the Olympics, since their revival in 1896, would have been blah blah things without the U. S. A. participation, and might have contracted rigor mortis from malnutrition, the U. S. A. has been almost always signally ignored when time has arrived for the election of officers.

This is perhaps because the U. S. A. has but one vote and Europe has a score, and so the Europeans helped themselves to the high places.

But now the U. S. A. is aroused. It demands a change in tch conduct of affairs and means to fight through the idea that a country should haveas many ballots in all voting matters as it has athletes in the last Olympiad.

Which, of course, would not place the U. S. A. in control, but it would give it enough power so that with a few other nations swinging with it the combinations could batter into submission any group or groups that came along with fandangled ideas

Mr. Boston

—By JACK CONWAY—

UNDER YOUR hat, buddy.

Babe Ruth has $250,000 in the trust fund he set up with the Guarantee Trust Company of New York. The income of which nets him $250 a week.

Mr. Boston

Jack Dempsey placed $200,000 in trust for himself with the same bank after he stiffened Louis Firpo. And even beautiful Estelle Taylor couldn't tie this dough up with a sheriff's writ when she was so mad recently.

Jack Sharkey is another young man who has used a trust fund to plant a big chunk of sugar for a rainy day. And to take care of the missus and kids in case something happens.

Gene Tunney invested the $989,-000 he got for licking Jack Dempsey at Chicago in bonds. Hope they're still good.

John L. Sullivan used to hand his ring earnings over to John Barleycorn who only paid off in headaches.

PHIL SCHLOSSBERG is at Namosi in the Fiji Islands. He postcards me that a Fiji chief rates 50 wives. With no vacancies since the depression. As if one wife couldn't give one sufficient run-around.

Schlossberg won't consider his trip a flop if he can dig up another heavyweight as good as Ernie Schaaf, whom he whid down the river to Jack Sharkey and Johnny Buckley for $12,500.

The Fleet Reserve Association's Branch out at Long Beach, Cal., plans to make whoopee if Jack Sharkey visits California for a picture.

BILLY AMES thinks Lou Brouillard is a cinch to lick Jimmy McLarnin in their ten-round bout at the Yankee Stadium, New York, on Aug. 4. I would agree with him if the distance for the contest was 15 heats.

Lou Bogash, former middleweight boxer who beat Mickey Walker at the Arena, has gone wrestler. With a $50 price tag on his services.

Jimmy McCarron of Somerville, who will represent Uncle Sam in the 135-pound class at the Olympics, will probably turn pro after the coming tournament. He's tall enough to carry 12 more pounds.

Marty McManus, Red Sox boss, wouldn't hesitate to lean a right hand punch on the jaw of any of his players who quit under fire. Now that the Sox are hitting the pitchers are not so hot.

CHARLEY JOHNSTON, brother of the "Boy Bandit," has a "piece" of Tony Shucco of the North End which explains how the latter hasstarted into New York on the Schaaf-Paulino card after all these years of trying.

Gen. John J. Phelan is the power of the New York Athletic Commission with James A. Farley running the Roosevelt campaign. The General was the young man who refused to issue a license to ask Dempsey which would have permitted the old tiger to have met Gene Tunney in New York. So Tex Rickard dropped the show into Philadelphia, rated at the time as a 50-cent fight town. And drew $1,-800,000 with a price scale of $5 to $27.50.

American's Ten Stocks Prices

(Copyright, 1932, for the Boston Evening American)

Ten active major issues on the New York Stock Exchange Monday closed with a total market valuation of $3,813,847,060.

Am. Can, A. T. & T., Atlantic Ref., Con. Gas, Gen. Elec., Mont. Ward, N. Y. C., S. O. N. J., U. S. Steel, DuPont.

ROBERTSON PICKS NURMI IN MARATHON

By LAWSON ROBERTSON
Chief Coach American Olympic Team

(Copyright, 1932, King Features Synd., Inc.)

Los Angeles, Cal., July 26—Bill Graber, U. of S. California, not only is the greatest pole vaulter the world has ever known, but could be greater.

He has gone 14 feet 4¼ inches and I feel sure that if a few slight faults in his style were changed he could scale close to 15 feet. But we will not attempt any changing now. The boy as he is seems able to soar beyond any heights that any other human can reach.

If Paavo Nurmi is permitted to run in the Marathon I think he will win. If not, it is a wide open race. It is history that the Marathon favorite usually is sadly beaten and that some unknown outsider comes along and astonishes with his unexpected triumph in this classic event of the Olympiad.

Perhaps the most popular fellow in the Olympic village is Dr. Pat O'Callaghan of Ireland. The champion weight thrower has a radiant smile, a laugh that makes every one his friend, and no matter whether it is Argentine, Finn, Mexican or German who passes him, he salutes and grins, and although they do not understand his language, they do comprehend his gesture of fellowship.

FINNS AND SWEDES FOES

The Finns, who do not like the Swedes, and the Swedes, who do not like the Finns, are housed alongside each other. Every day we expect something to happen.

The fare at the village is exceptionally good. It costs the committee approximately $1 per day to feed all comers. Yet the price of housing and feeding together is only $2. I discovered one fellow who was dissatisfied. He was permitted only three steaks at a meal and felt that this was unfair to his stomach. So did I, only I looked at it from another viewpoint.

The Japanese constitute the mystery squad. There are about 162 in the group. The track and field men work out pretty much under cover and no one is really going to know just how good they are until the battling begins. But I have a very definite idea that they will be plenty good.

BURGHLEY NEAR PEAK

Lord David Burghley, who sits in the House of Parliament in England, is readying up for the 400 meters race. He was a brilliant figure in 1928. He did not do well in the 1932 trials, but I understand he is again nearing his peak.

BIG INNINGS TALLY

SCORES BY INNINGS OF MONDAY'S BIG LEAGUE GAME

AM. LEAGUE	INNINGS 1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	R	H
New York	0	0	0	0	2	1	0	4	0				7	10
Philadelphia	0	0	0	0	3	1	0	2	2				8	12
TOTALS	0	0	0	0	5	2	0	6	2				15	22

HIGH INNINGS

Saturday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday
1	8

(Big Innings Game copyrighted in its entirety, 1932, by T. A. Robertson. All rights reserved.)

K. OF C. NINE FACES HYDES TONIGHT

The North Cambridge K. of C. nine will attempt to put an end to the runaway of the Hyde Shoemakers at Lincoln Park, Somerville tonight in a Suburban Twilight League clash.

The Shoemakers have an average of just .1000 in the second half with four wins and no losses to their credit. The Cantab Caseys are in third place and they can do a favor for the whole league by stopping the Hyde hustlers.

Manager Frank McCrehan, K. coach, is likely to name himself to pitch for the Caseys with Blanche or Danny Connors, both from Providence College ready to hurl for the Hydes.

RIVALRY IS HOT

There is great rivalry between these teams and the new North Cambridge Knights, with Tommy Horan Foley, Jim Dudley and other Cambridge heroes, are awakening the old interest in North Cambridge. A tremendous crowd for this season of depressed sports baseball, is expected.

The Colored Giants and Soul Boston meet in the Boston Tech League feature at the South Boston Stadium

Another intersectional clash is up in the City League with St. Marks paying a visit to Neponset after entertaining Neponset last night and proving poor hosts by smacking Neponset and its ace Mush Lubarsky, 11 to 9.

FINNEGAN, KEEFE ON HILL

Ray Finnegan, St. Marks' manager, had to use both Cavanaugh and Keefe with his start hurler Lefty Weir, off on a vacation to Maine. Both will have to see service again tonight with Jim Butler, Neponset boss, calling on Bloom.

It may develop into another slugging battle tonight with activities switched from the town field to Garvey playground, for the Saints have big sluggers in J. Westo Shea, Fran Finnegan, the Cummings brothers, Art Mahan, Bill Donaghy and Bub Nicholson.

Solenoid, Outsider Wins Steward's Cup

Goodwood, Eng., July 26 (INS)—Solenoid, an outsider at 33 to 1, won the Steward's Cup at the Goodwood race meeting today. Slipper at 100 to 7 was second and Polar Bear at 26 to 1 third. There were 21 starters.

Lynn Gas A. A. Ring Show on Monday

The Lynn Gas A. A. will put on another of its amateur tournaments next Monday night with four classes on the card. Some of the best simon pure mitt wielders in New England are entered in the 135 and 147-pound open classes.

Y. M. H. A. Seeks Diamond Contests

The Boston Y. M. H. A. baseball team has a few open dates and would like to arrange games with fast semi-pro teams at or away from home. Teams desiring dates communicate with Manuel Pass, 108 Beaver st., Roxbury.

Passas, Bruno Tilt at Fenway Tomorrow

Steve Passas will be a favorite to keep his light heavyweight wrestling championship when he meets Fred Bruno in a two out of three fall match at Fenway Park tomorrow night.

Week's New York Stock Exchang

Aggregate market value of 1 leading issues:

Saturday 4,124,290,65
Monday 4,307,553,-91

Arlington Park Mutuels

FOR MONDAY, JULY 25

Three Races $117.6
Five Races $223.5
Seven Races $238.7

TAD'S FAVORITE INDOOR SPORTS

NOW, THAT IS WHAT WOUD CALL RYE - I'M THE ONLY MAN IN THE STATE WITH THE REAL STUFF - SAY, WHAT THESE OTHER JOINTS SELL WOULD PICKLE AN ANCHOR - ROLL IT AROUND IN VER MOUT - AM I RIGHT?
UM
WELL, I DRANK ONE OF THOSE LAST WEEK AND IT KNOCKED THE FILLINGS OUT OF TWO TUSKS
WHY, RED HICKEY HAD 2 ONE NIGHT AND HE TRIED TO CLIMB A TREE
SAY, IF THAT STUFF IS RYE - I'M LITTLE LORD FAUNTLEROY
THINKING OF THE TIME HE PAID
THAT SPIEL WINS THE BEAUTIFUL RUBBER STONE-LIFTER
INDOOR SPORTS
LISTENING TO THE OWNER OF THE SPEAK-EASY TELL THE OLD REPORTER (WHO JUST HEARD OF IT) HOW GOOD THE STUFF THAT HE SELLS IS.
TAD

Girl About Town

By ALYCE SIEMENS

Shadows:

In these lean days some statesmen's attitudes
Appear inclinds to platitudes,
With childish guile to mask their stealth
They strive to soothe the Commonwealth.

As coming events cast shadows before,
Let them recall, from days of yore,
The words which caused "cannaille" to wake:
"They have no bread? Let them eat cake."

—Novillus.

"Lopez Speaking"

With his original crew of St. Regis music men drew all dancing devotees among the younger crowd out to Nuttings in Waltham last night . . . And what music . . . All the smooth, soft syncopation of the smart room where Vincent Lopez holds sway in Manhattan most of the year 'round . . . But with a wee mite more snap—just the right amount for dancehalling . . . Alston's blonde Ann Giles, with a gorgeous pair of dimples, could easily pass for Ann Harding of the cinema . . . She was dancing with Waltham's Dan McCarthy when we made our discovery . . . A real beauty is Ann' . . . Big (Bass Fiddler) Joe Carboneras was holding up the platform! . . . Murmuring the while that the band was still "the old stuff" . . . We caught Vic Mondello and North Adams' promoter, John J. Fahffer, in a buddie nodding heads . . . Frank Roane was busy clicking his heels in salutes . . . But the luckiest gal of the evening was petite Peg McCarthy from Waltham who was squired by three musketeers—Dorchester's Ken Lennon, all gotten up in a Palm Beach and daring to sport bachelor buttons . . . Onet's Larry Lombard and Legioneer George Barry . . . And what a gay time Peg was having . . . And who wouldn't when Lopez speaks through his musical baton!

About Towning:

A breath of Paris . . . With gay geraniums peeking up at us from their colorful boxes . . . Kaleidoscope of summer hues in the Pretty Ones' frocks . . . Babbling tongues about "what's doing in town" here and there . . . Bedraggled customers waiting to get a seat to enjoy the cool feeling of lunching out of doors . . . And on the sidewalk—very Parisian . . . That's how it was yesterday noon at the opening of the Brunswick's latest innovation . . . Leo "Wild Man of Music" Reisman was there—all smiles, since L. C. Prior first had the sidewalk idea given to him by Leo . . . Who'd probably had as much fun dunking and sipping in the gay boulevard spots in Europe! . . . Mrs. Reisman was with him . . . Stunning Mrs. Ann Frederiks, with a purple brimmed pink hat—very Frenchie . . . Was in from Brookline to help put Leo's idea over . . . Mrs. Charles A. Harding, representing Mayor Curley, had the most mischievous of eyes and blunt pixie 'do we've ever seen . . . C. I. Brink, the eye man, and his son . . . Atty. John C. Coughlin were some of the business men who thought it best to eat out in the open . . . And we couldn't help but pick out handsome Jeweler Carl Skinner with a youngish pair trim . . . And Harry W. Chapman dining together more interested in their chatting than this and that about them . . . It's always pleasant to pause our snooping long enough to gaze in admiration at Mr. Prior's mother . . . Such charm! . . . And Monsieur Flammand-French Consul here, has the jolliest countenance . . . Two lovely ladies we noticed especially were fascinating Mrs. Dunkley of Brookline with Mrs Prior's party . . . And willowy Carolyn Sylvester, chic in all white with many bracelets and long, long pearl drop earrings . . . She looked most intriguing—and was lunching alone . . . Joan Lowell, in a little-girl frock of baby blue, was passing out diet directions to some of the ladies of the press . . . But paused long enough to tell us to tell you that she is not the girl who tipped off the federals about those spots in Nantasket . . . Joan is quite worried. Ever since those luscious raspberries and bushels of bone that she was presented with at Bob Brown day at Braves Field . . . When she tried to make a speech . . . And, last of all, we must tell you that Arthur Fiedler was quite the Continental gentleman with the Continental manners to match as always where the ladies are about . . . All fitting into the atmosphere of our picture' . . . 'Twas his fair cousin who accompanied him, by way of recording here!

Telling on Bolger!

'Twas a hurried visit we made back-stage at the "Met" yesterday afternoon . . . To see a Boston lad who has the ruberyest legs in show business . . . Even more rubbery than Leon Errol's, 'cause this boy's so young! . . . Ray Bolger is his name . . . He began dancing here on the sidewalks and corners . . . Picking up a step in here and there, very much in the same manner the beloved Jack Donahue did . . . Ray's first stage playing was in a Newton stock company . . . When he took the part of a dope fiend—who danced! . . . At the Grand Opera House in 1920. In between shows he taught tap dancing and kept on learning new tricks at Russakoff's School here . . . Gus Ricard, his intelligent little wife . . . recuperating from an appendix inside in Los Angeles . . . Ray's been married three years and is more in love than ever . . . She gave up journalism to let him tangle and untangle those gangling legs of his daily to keep her in shoes and glad rags . . . She says Gwen "sings a mean pen" . . . He's leaving for the Coast Thursday.

HOLLYWOOD NEWS

By Louella O. Parsons

◆

Warren William Is Featured in "SKYSCRAPER SOULS"

New Baum Story for Marlene

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor Universal Service.

Copyright, 1932, by Universal Service Inc.

Los Angeles, July 26—Unless Frau Marlene Dietrich puts her foot down firmly and Josef Von Sternberg, ditto, she will be the star in Vicki Baum's play "The Shining Shark." It hasn't reached America yet, but under the title of "Der Blanke Hai" it has been doing good business in Germany, the home country of both Miss Dietrich and Miss Baum.

Paramount closed for the screen rights today and it's to be one of the their big events of the year. The story resembles "Grand Hotel," the play that made Miss Baum famous only so far as intense drama is concerned. 'Tis the tale of a naval officer who kills a dancing master, because he believed he was having an affair with his wife. Sounds very like a Dietrich "drammer" to me.

Louella O. Parsons

• • •

Hollywood Chatter

Things haven't been the same at the Paramount studios since Mary Boland walked in and pulled a few wisecracks.

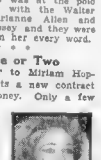
"Everybody thought I was Mae West," she said, "so they gave me a picture intended for Mae West. In the middle of the night they called me up and told me they had just discovered I was Mary Boland and not Mae West."

Mary Boland is probably the finest stage actress in her type of roles, the dumbbell society woman who is a veritable Mrs. Laprop when it comes to making mistakes and talking. Paramount has given her the character lead in "The Night of June 13," and I hope it's Miss Boland's kind of role, for she ought to be great in pictures, provided they don't try to make a vamp of Mary Boland. She was at the polo game Sunday with the Walter Wangers, Adrienne Allen and Raymond Massey and they were all hanging on her every word.

• • •

A Line or Two

More power to Miriam Hopkins. She gets a new contract and more money. Only a few actresses can do that today. Paramount will announce contracts on Miriam, Sylvia Sidney, Fredric March and Gary Cooper this coming year, and give these four the best possible parties Chaves Laughton will be loaned to Radio by Paramount for the Wesley Ruggles picture. "The Monkey's Paw." Florence Ryerson and Colin Clements, who were robbed of Oriental rugs, blankets and books, says Florence, "The burglars must have been highbrows, because they took a set of Masterlines, 16 volumes of the history of Greece.



Miriam Hopkins

IN THE FRONT RANK OF CURRENT FILM CELEBRITIES

Diane Sinclair is superb in her film bow in "Washington Masquerade" at Loew's State.

Thomas A. Kempis' imitation of Christ and four volumes of Boccaccio." Irene Ware, one of the comediennes of the musical comedy favorites, who has drifted into Hollywood the past few months, stays on at the Fox studio. She finished playing opposite Edmund Lowe in "Chand, the Magician," and now she remains to furnish beauty and romance in George O'Brien's next picture.

• • •

Lupe on Tour

Lupe Velez is that tired of resting in Hollywood that she is going to work. She leaves next week for a three weeks' tour of the Public Theaters in the east. And is Lupe pleased at seeing New York once again. She hopes, oh very much, that the business she is talking over with Radio will materialize so when she gets back there will be a picture ready and waiting for her. At Jolson is another who will try doing a few personal appearances. He is booked extensively immediately after he finishes "The New Yorker," his film. And by the bye, I hear its going along all right.

• • •

Snapshots of Hollywood

MIRIAM HOPKINS, all done up in dark blue sports clothes, at the Riviera polo game, sponsored by MARION DAVIES. She was escorted by AUSTIN PARKER. HEDDA HOPPER in gay summer clothes. LILY DAMITA, with the devoted SIDNEY SMITH, much excited over the game. BEBE DANIELS, who presented the trophies for MISS DAVIES, entertained a large party. The traffic jam was terrific. Over 20,000 people either saw the game or tried to see it from the nearby roads. A gay party at the NED MARINS. Many of PHYLLIS HAVER'S good friends there to welcome her home . . . WILLIAM SEAMAN, friend husband of PHYLLIS proving a crackerjack ping pong player. BUSTER COLLIER dejected by being beaten by MIKE LEVEE'S young son. Later told MICKEY is the champion of Malibu Beach. MARIE PREVOST all done up in white. EDGAR ALLEN WOOLF with a new line of gags. MRS. HARRY RAPF present. HARRY comes home today from Santa Barbara. Must have absolute quiet for the first week or so. Then perhaps he will be well enough to see his friends. JACK WARNER bicycling up and down the road at Malibu, stopping off to see the tennis tournament. That's all today, see you tomorrow.'

Barbara Stanwyck in "The Purchase Price," now at the Paramount and the Uptown.

Billie Dove supports Marion Davies in her latest picture for Cosmopolitan. It is "Blondie of the Follies" and will be seen soon on a local screen.

ANOTHER SCREEN TRIUMPH

Conrad Nagel who does such a magnificent piece of acting in "The Man Called Back," current film at RKO Keith's, as sketched by Staff Artist Charles Schmidt.

Movie Clock

Approximate starting times of film features today:

UPTOWN—"The Purchase Price"; p. m., 1:24, 3:36, 5:46, 7:48, 9:50.

LOEW'S ORPHEUM—"The Doomed Battalion"; a. m., 9:30; p. m., 12:25, 3:30, 6:35, 9:45.

BOWDOIN SQ.—"The Big Parade"; a. m., 10:10; p. m., 1:30, 7.00.

METROPOLITAN—"Madame Racketeer"; a. m., 10:40; p. m., 1:15, 3.55, 6:30, 9:10.

FINE ARTS—"Der Kongress Tanzt"; p. m., 1:20, 4:00, 6:50, 7:20, 9:20.

EXETER—"Attorney for the Defense"; p. m., 3:35, 6:25, 9:15.

RKO - KEITH — "The Man Called Back"; a. m., 9:30; p. m., 12:34, 3:43, 6:52, 10:01.

RKO-KEITH BOSTON—"Riders of Death Valley"; a. m., 9:40; p. m., 12:43, 3:46, 6:49, 9:52.

PARAMOUNT—"The Purchase Price"; a. m., 9:20, 11:26; p. m., 1:32, 3:38, 5:44, 7:50, 9.56.

SCOLLAY—"Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm"; a. m., 11:27; p. m., 2:28, 6.50, 9.30.

LOEW'S STATE—"The Washington Masquerade"; p. m., 12:45, 3, 5.55, 7:20, 8.45.

MODERN—"Almost Married"; a. m., 10:15; p. m., 12:22, 2.53, 5.17, 7.41, 10.03.

FENWAY—"Almost Married"; p. m., 1, 3:20, 5.40, 8, 10:20.

BEACON—"Almost Married"; a. m., 9:30; p. m., 12:03, 2:36, 5.09, 7:42, 10:15.

GAYETY—"High Speed"; a. m., 9.30; p. m., 1:45, 5:40, 9:40.

Two Countries Claim Star

Two countries claim Lilian Harvey, fascinating screen star now to be seen at the Fine Arts in "Der Kongress Tanzt" (Congress Dances). Miss Harvey, who has recently been signed up for appearance at Hollywood, was born in England, but has long lived in Germany where her parents were caught in the storm of 1914 when the war broke out.

Lilian Harvey

London saw German pictures from time to time in which a young woman named Lilian Harvey appeared—the German spelling of the name was Harvey—but it occurred to few fans that this girl was one of their own.

Smash Hit for Scollay Fans

By HARRIS MORGAN

Class is the world in the stage show at the Scollay this week. Manager Elliston Vinson, one of the ablest of them all, puts on a revue that goes down as one of his smash hits. It has all the elements, snap, comedy, dancing, singing, beauty—is, in short, a well balanced footlight entertainment possessing merit.

Vinson vaudeville is fine—this new Vinson revue is stellar. There are at least five big stars in this cast of 60 or more; the tempo is fast, and the only pauses are the numerous periods of tremendous applause. Manager Vinson has laid his show out in seven colorful scenes of Atlantic City, with each one representing a different type of amusement and each featuring a different specialty. Scene one is the Pier, where girls do a special song and dance. This is followed by the Case Brothers and Marie in exploits on the wire. Scene two takes you to a music hall, where Jerry Franks and Val Irving do a lot of fast bokum comedy and clever clowning.

The next bit in the show comes at Tiny Town Village where the Atlantic City girls do a cat routine to introduce that tiny star, little Miss Yvonne.

Cliff Nazarro is one of those natural performers who scores from start to finish.

Next Mr. Nazarro, introduces his Million Dollar Pier orchestra and what they do continues to add to his credit.

The real fun comes when Burns and Kaser offer "On the Boardwalk," which consists of parodies on popular songs.

The finale is laid at the Palo Beach Club.

Screen Star Cast Aside His Newspaper Career to Take Up Acting

By HARLEIGH SCHULTZ

"Loan Star" is the cue at Hollywood. It's now the order of the day to interchange screen luminaries. So, when "Skyscraper Souls," made by Cosmopolitan for M-G-M, comes to town, fans will witness Warren William batting histrionic home runs. He always does; that is why he was borrowed from Warners.

• • •

William, always an excellent performer, will be seen in the role of the proprietor of the 102-story skyscraper which is the locale of the story. The story, as fans probably know, or may guess, is based on Faith Baldwin's hit novel, "Skyscraper." Cosmopolitan always puts class into its films — class in cast, in direction, in every production angle. So the casting director, looking about for the man to be the part of the owner of the big building, picked on William.

Warren William

William has had a rapid rise in the movies, due to his ability and personality. He was on stage before going to Southern California, and he now lets us in on his earlier career he was ambitious of being a newspaper man.

"My father owned a paper at Aitkin, Minn., my birthplace," he says.

"It was all cut and dried, that I should succeed him some day; and so I was to start in at it. But along came the World War to take me overseas. That ended my newspaper career."

After the Armistice, he continues, he got into a stage troupe playing "Under Cover." That troupe was mostly army men.

"I didn't have a bit of experience, but they gave me the lead," he states. "They thought I did well, so coming back home, I decided to give the footlights a thought for a career. I landed a job in Rachel Crothers' 'Expressing Willie.'

"My next news came in a letter from my Dad. He enclosed a clipping from which he said he had gleaned the information that I had turned Thespian.

"'But now that you have gone and done it,' he added, 'I hope you're a better actor than you were a newspaper man.

"'Don't worry about us. I guess the paper and I will manage to worry along without you.'"

And now William says he doesn't know but what he could have made a better newspaper man than actor.

But William is a tiptop Thespian, and has scored in his every picture. He will probably score once more in "Skyscraper Souls" when it will come to the Loew's State screen next Friday.

Exeter Theater

Jan Harding in "Westward Passage" and Edmund Lowe in "Attorney for the Defense," are the attractions for today and Wednesday. The last half of the week Victor McLaglen will be seen in "While Paris Sleeps." James Dunn and Peggy Shannon in "Society Girl" will also be shown

Amusements

METROPOLITAN ALWAYS 10¢ COOL
35¢ at 1 P.M. Now
2 BIG DAYS MORE
RUDY VALLEE IN PERSON with his CONNECTICUT YANKEES
RAY BOLGER
CLIFFORD GUEST
DAVID SIMON GIRLS
Opens Thurs. for 3 Days
"RIO RITA" Dazzling Musical Hit
JANET GAYNOR—CHARLES FARRELL
IN "THE FIRST YEAR"

Amusements

What a Show! The Greatest Yet!
"MADAME RACKETEER"
On the Screen
ALISON SKIPWORTH
RICHARD BENNETT
FRANK MORGAN
ERNO RAPEE and his ORCHESTRA
FREE DANCING Nightly in the Lounge
Bridge Parties Daily

Amusements

2 — Features — 2
1st Showing
'Almost Married'
'Aren't We All'
Perfect Farces with GERTRUDE LAWRENCE

Pleasant and UPTOWN
How Much Would You Pay for a Man?
STANWYCK
In "The Purchase Price"
With GEORGE BRENT
PHOTOPLAY MOVIE STARS—1 PERSON
"The Passion Woman" Continuous

The Screen SCOLLAY SCOLLAY SQ. The Stage
REBECCA OF SUNNYBROOK FARM
MARIAN NIXON—RALPH BELLAMY
"O, K. ATLANTIC CITY"
World's Playground Revue
2000 SEATS 15c ANY TIME

PARAMOUNT NEAR HOME PUBLIX THEATRES

ALLSTON
ALLSTON STA. 4410 — GRETA GARBO "As You Desire Me" "Heart of New York"
CAPITOL — "Thunder Below" "Is My Face Red?"
EGYPTIAN STA 6800 — "SOCIETY GIRL" "IS MY FACE RED"

CAMBRIDGE
CAMBRIDGE — "Thunder Below" "Is My Face Red?"
HARVARD — "Thunder Below" "Is My Face Red?"
OLYMPIA — "HIGH SPEED"

DORCHESTER
CODMAN SQ. — "Thunder Below" "Love is a Racket"
FIELDS — GRETA GARBO "As You Desire Me" "While Paris Sleeps"
MORTON — GRETA GARBO "As You Desire Me" "Ferguson Case"
STRAND — "Thunder Below" "Love Is a Racket"

JAMAICA PLAIN
JAMAICA — GRETA GARBO "As You Desire Me" "SHOP ANGELS"

MATTAPAN SQ.
OLYMPIA — "Thunder Below" "Is My Face Red?"
MATTAPAN — "Thunder Below" "Is My Face Red?"
ESQUIRE — "SOCIETY GIRL"

NEEDHAM
PARAMOUNT — "Man About Town" "Discarded Lovers"

NEWTON
PARAMOUNT — "HERRELY WE GO TO HELL" "RADIO PATROL"

ROSLINDALE
RIALTO — GRETA GARBO "As You Desire Me" "Man Between"
"The Trial of Vivienne Ware"

ROXBURY
RIVOLI — "Thunder Below" "Is My Face Red"
SHAWMUT — GRETA GARBO "As You Desire Me" "While Paris Sleeps"

WOLLASTON
WOLLASTON — John Barrymore "State's Attorney" ROBERT MONTGOMERY "But the Flesh Is Weak"

WALTHAM
EMBASSY — Edmund Lowe "ATTORNEY FOR THE DEFENSE"

Amusements

LOEW'S STATE
WASHINGTON MASQUERADE
Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's Drama with
LIONEL BARRYMORE
Extra — "BRAINBRAKER ROLLER"

LOEW'S ORPHEUM
The Picture Terrific
The DOOMED BATTALION with TOM BRIDE
Madeline DELO and Dudley Clegg
Eddy Nesbit & Co.
Others
9:00 A.M. to 12:30 P.M. 25¢
12:30 P.M. to 5:30 P.M. 35¢
5:30 P.M. to 9:00 P.M. 50¢
Friday—DISHONORED, with Brian Donlevy

NEW GAYETY
BUCK JONES "HIGH SPEED"
5 VAUDEVILLE ACTS 5
LORETTA YOUNG "PLAY GIRL"

Amusements

EXETER
The place where you can always depend on
JAN HARDING in "Westward Passage"
EDMUND LOWE in "Attorney for the Defense"

BOWDOIN 7
Vaudeville Acts 7
In Person
"THE BIG PARADE" with Karl Dane
"Forbidden Company" with Sally Rand, Jane Darwell, Cora Sue Collins
"Daddy Takes a Chance" with Ray Hallor

Amusements

KEITH'S COOLED
30c 2:30 to 1 P.M.
N B C Presents
RUSS COLUMBO AND HIS BAND
RICHEY, Comic
Jos. Morris, Musical Accordionist & Cartoonist
Star of Paramount Picture "Broadway Bad"
HOBART BOSWORTH
CONRAD NAGEL "The Man Called Back"
Extra! Now 3935 Graham Car Goes Away Free Next Friday Night
Doors Open 10:15

KEITH BOSTON COOLED
6 Keith Acts Vaudeville
EDNA LEEDOM
LANDT TRIO & WHITE
TOM MIX "Riders of Death Valley"

Today at YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD THEATER

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY — GRETA GARBO "As You Desire Me"
HARVARD — WARNER BAXTER "Man About Town"

CHARLESTOWN
HOLLYWOOD — MAT. 10c EVE. 20c PICKUP MORAN "No Greater Love" "ARM OF THE LAW" Bathing Beauty Contest
THOMPSON SQUARE THEATRE — "THE CHAMP" Bert Lahr "FLYING HIGH"

MALDEN
GRANADA — JANICE DUNN "SOCIETY GIRL" Tallulah Bankhead "STRICTLY DISHONORABLE" "BLONDE CRAZY"

REVERE
BOULEVARD — Edward G. Robinson "TWO SEGONDS"
REVERE — Wm. Collier, Jr. "THE COUNTY FAIR"

ROXBURY
HUMBOLDT — PATHE GIFTED UTILITY STOCKS
"SYMPHONY OF SIX MILLION" Warner Comedy Every Quarter "NIGHT WORLD"—LEW AYRES-MAE CLARKE

SOMERVILLE
CAPITOL — "State's Attorney" With John Barrymore, Jean Bennett—John Beles
BALL SQ. — "Careless Lady"
ENGLEWOOD DAVIS SQ. THEATRE — "Lady With a Past" Constance Bennett "PASSPORT TO PARADISE" MAT. 10c EVES. 20c

SOUTH END
NATIONAL — "Tarzan the Ape Man" SALLY BLANE "ESCAPADE" Tom & Dick Vaudeville

TODAY AND WEDNESDAY
"Thunder Below" with Tallulah Bankhead
"Is My Face Red?" with Helen Twelvetrees

TODAY AND WEDNESDAY
GRETA GARBO "As You Desire Me"
"Love Is a Racket" with Ann Dvorak

NOTABLES AND CLERGY ATTEND SUPPLE RITES

Hundreds thronged St. John's Church, Blue Hill ave., Roxbury, today, where a solemn high funeral mass was celebrated for the Rt Rev. Mgr. Patrick J. Supple, D. D., the pastor. It was the "4th anniversary of Mgr. Supple's assignment as pastor there.

Mayor Curley and other prominent public men were present. More than 100 priests also were in attendance, among them the Rt. Rev Thomas A. Emmett, S. J., bishop of Jamaica, and the Rt. Rev. Mgr Richard J. Haberlin, vicar-general of the archdiocese.

PAID LAST HONORS

More than 50 nuns were also present. The priest's choir led by Rev J. Walter Lambert of the state of Heaven Church sang Heller's mass, with Rev. Oscar O'Gorman of St. Ambrose Church at the organ.

Burial was in St. Mary's, Hollis-ton, the town where Mgr. Supple was born and where he died last Saturday. The body had lain in state since yesterday afternoon. A children's mass was celebrated at 8:30 by Rev. Francis L. Thomas.

Celebrant of the solemn high mass was Rev. John Powers, pastor of St. Monica's, Methuen, a cousin of Mgr. Supple. He was assisted by Rev. Patrick O'Connell, dea on; Rev. Charles Highland, sub-deacon, and Rev. Leo McCann, master of ceremonies, all of St. John's. The eulogy was by Rev. William J Carey, St. Patrick's, Roxbury.

HONORARY BEARERS.

Active body bearers were Hugh Nawn, Timothy J. Good, F. P Turnbull, James A. Gookin, Dr. Joseph L. Sullivan and Dr. Lawrence W. McGrath.

The honorary bearers were James J. Phelan, Frederick W. Mansfield William J. Dooley, Joseph P. Manning, Thomas J. Clexton, John Carey, Joseph Gallagher of Philadelphia, Joseph A. Dennison, ex-Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, Walter Burke, Joseph A. O'Neil, Thomas J Flynn and Joseph A. Maynard, chairman of the Democratic state committee

PROBE OF RUM WAR EXTENDED

Malone, N. Y., July 26 — More Alexandria Bay citizens were summoned today before the federal grand jury investigating battles between dry agents and residents of the resort town that led to injury of five persons.

The jury yesterday heard only about half of the 33 citizens subpoenaed, besides a group of prohibition agents.

The district attorney has not revealed whether indictments are to be sought against participants in the disturbance in which two dry agents were beaten and their automobile tires slashed following raids that sent telegrams of protest to Washington from the villagers.

Investigation was ordered by Amos W Woodcock, commissioner for prohibition, following the protests

Two Badly Burned in Motor Flareup

Providence, July 26—One [redacted] was severely burned today when a short-circuit in a motor ignited his clothing, and a fellow workman may lose the sight of his eyes because he was unfamiliar with a chemical fire extinguisher

Edward S. Boyian, 55, was repairing a motor when a flare ignited his clothing. Robert A. Boynton, 23, rushed to his assistance with a fire extinguisher, but in operating it, sprayed the chemical back into his face and eyes.

Roosevelt Is Urged to Call Legislature

New York, July 26—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt was asked to call a special session of the Legislature to reduce State expenditures not less than 25 per cent, by resolution of the board of directors of the New York State Economic Council.

Cambridge Employe Accused of Assault

Police of North Cambridge are seeking John Connell, 40, of Franklin st., Cambridge, for assault and battery on a fellow workman in the ash division of Cambridge st department, John E. Lane, 35, of 78 Bolton st., Cambridge.

Man, 50, Accused of Assault on Girl, 4

Marblehead, July 26—Delmar Wallace, 50, a contractor, will appear in court Friday for a hearing on a charge of criminal attack on a four-year-old Marblehead girl.

Wallace, who is married and the father of one child, was arrested last week.

Union Business Agent Is Slain

New York, July 26—When the insurance man called at Michael Mariconda's house, he found Mariconda, union business agent had been assassinated in the hallway of his home

Cuthbertson Held

Rouyn, Que., July 26—Thomas J. Cuthbertson, held in connection with the death of Burton Jones, has been held for trial.

CAPT. BEN EAGER TO RACE

Thinks Thebaud Can Take Title

Gloucester, July 26—Notified that Capt. Angus Walters, of Lunenburg, N. S., was anxious to give the schooner Bluenose a chance to defend her championship of the North Atlantic, Capt. Ben Pine of the Gloucester schooner Gertrude L. Thebaud today said he was willing to race the Nova Scotian boat.

"It's up to the race committee," said the Gloucester sailing master. "If they can arrange for a race, we will have Thebaud ready."

"We will require at least five weeks," he said, "to get Thebaud in condition. She needs a new mainsail, foresail and staysail and her auxiliary engine will have to be taken out. Then we would have to ballast her and tune her up for a couple of weeks."

Capt. Ben, however did not agree with Capt Angus in the latter's confidence in Bluenose, for more than a decade the reigning queen of the North Atlantic fishing banks Alluding to the race two years ago off Gloucester, in which Bluenose bowed to Thebaud, Capt. Pine said:

"We are not afraid of any vessel and we think we can improve on Thebaud's performance in 1930."

Although Capt. Pine is enthusiastic over the prospect of again meeting Bluenose and her fiery little skipper, it is not certain that he will be permitted to do so by his physicians. He left a Boston hospital about a week ago after his seventh operation for sinus, and his physicians say he should avoid excitement.

Cities to Make Up Elevated's Deficit

Going on record as opposed to any increase in fares for car-riders on the Elevated, mayors and selectmen of cities and towns served by the road agreed, at a meeting in Mayor Curley's office at City Hall that the railway s $1 775,000 deficit for the year should be assessed upon the Metropolitan Transit District. It was estimated that Boston would have to pay about $1,100,000.

COURT WARNS BATTLER

Salem, July 26—"Keep it up and some day you will be split in half by a policeman's club."

Such was the grim warning which Judge George B. Sears gave William G. Quinn, 27, of Williams st., this city, in the district court here as he sentenced the man to three months in jail for assaulting Patrolman Edward H. Sargent of the Hamilton police

"Do you always put up a fight when you get drunk?" Judge Sears asked Quinn.

"They say I do," replied the defendant.

Quinn appealed after he was sentenced to jail for hitting a policeman and to the State farm for drunkenness, and a companion, Theodore "Teddy" Reynolds, a Beverly boxer, was fined $155 for operating an auto while he was under the influence of liquor, driving without a license and taking a motor vehicle without authority

Dry Law Repeal Voted

Indianapolis, Ind., July 26 (UP)—The Indiana House of Representatives voted, 58 to 38 for repeal of the Wright bone dry law.

MOVE STARTED TO CUT FUNDS

New York, July 26—A nation-wide movement for a $452,000,000 reduction in America's payments to its war veterans will be set in motion today.

The meeting of men from various parts of the nation is the outgrowth of the petition sent to Congress in May by Archibald B Roosevelt and other prominent veterans, decrying the drain on the national treasury for disabilities not suffered in war service

The petition, and prompt formation of the National Economy League, evoked a "tremendous public response," its leaders say. Now committees are to be formed in 435 congressional districts, to push for veterans' and other governmental economies

The league will co-operate with other non-partisan groups.

The league contends that millions are being thrown as political sop to veterans by laws permitting, for example, a man to collect money if he is injured in an accident today, because he may have served briefly in a training camp in 1918.

"Greedy lawyers are making these big sums so spent grow larger all the time," said Maj. Gilbert C. Browne, executive secretary of the league. "They are hunting for loopholes and showing thousands more men each year how to squeeze undeserved money from the government."

Gen James G Harbord will preside at the meeting today. Rear Admiral Richard E Byrd, Archibald B Roosevelt and Royal C Johnson, representative from North Dakota, will be among the speakers.

Former President's Daughter Is Ship Stowaway

Lisbon, Portugal, July 26 (AP) —Senorita Elena Araujo, whose father's life as president of Salvador was not without its moments of excitement, is enjoying an adventure of her own

Yesterday when the British schooner Shoal Fisher sailed from the Port of Manchester she was hidden aboard as a stowaway. Not until the vessel reached Lisbon was her presence discovered. She was handed over to the police, who placed her in custody of the British consul.

25-CENT THEFT LEADS TO JAIL

Salem, July 26—On his 15th birthday, Raymond A. Steben of New York city was sent to jail for hitting his 23-year-old benefactor over the head with a bottle and robbing him of 25 cents.

And after Judge George B. Sears ordered the youth sent for an indefinite term to the Concord Reformatory, the benefactor, Otis W. Akey of Bath, N.Y., a Spanish War veteran, was given a 10-day sentence for being drunk.

Steben and Akey were brought into district court by Corp. Thomas P Norton of the State police after the veteran stumbled into the Hunt Memorial Hospital in Danvers with a gash in his head. He told of meeting Steben on Boston Common and of buying his newly-found friend a meal before they set out on the Newburyport Turnpike. Akey to hitch-hike his way to the Soldiers Home in Togus, Me., and Steben to look for employment.

The forensic help problem is solved by taking a kitchenette apartment and the best are advertised daily in the Boston Herald columns.

Polando May Yet Apply for State Job

John L. Polando of Lynn, refused as an applicant for examination for the position of aviation examiner because he is not a high school graduate, may yet take the examination, according to a statement given out at the State department of civil service.

It was stated that Polando has until noon July 30 to convince the commissioners that his knowledge is equivalent to that acquired by high school students.

FLUOROSCOPIC X-RAY And Laboratory Tests $3

We Specialize and Treat Ailments of Men and Women Suffering From Stomach, Nervous troubles, Skin and Blood Diseases, Rheumatism, Asthma and Bronchitis, Tonsils and Piles removed by electricity. NO PAIN. 50c TIME LIST FREE CONSULTATION IS WITHOUT CHARGE. Varicose veins and ulcers treated by latest methods.

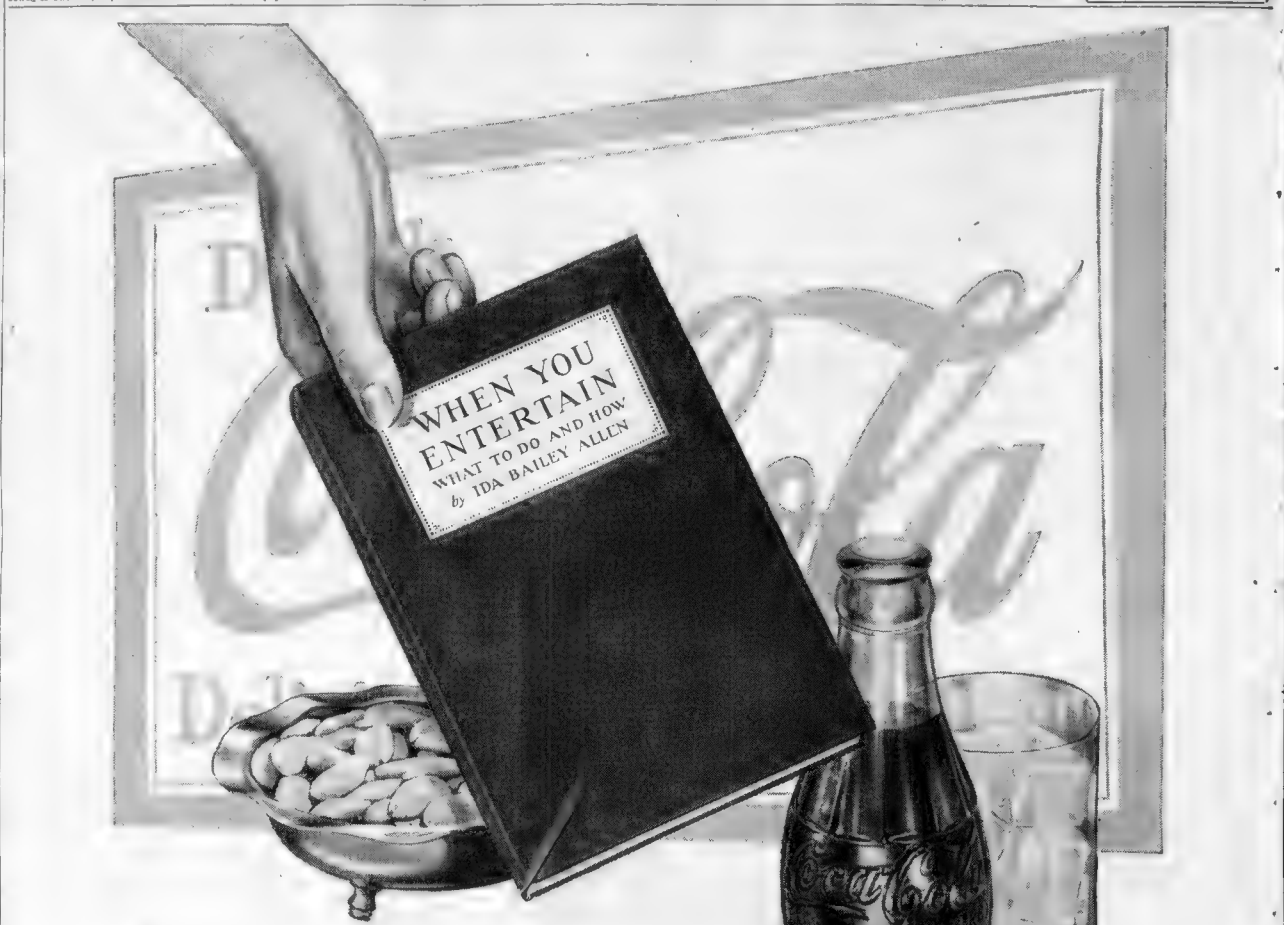
BLOOD EXAMINATIONS

VINCENT BUTTS, M. D.

403 Washington St.

Suite 2015, Grant Bldg. Tel. Lib. 3772

Office Hours: 10 A. M. to 7 P. M.



How to be a Perfect Hostess

Send for this book Today

How a Hostess without a maid serves dinner without leaving the table.

This book of 128 pages, illustrated with photographs and drawings, tells you this, and how to:

- Issue invitations, formal and informal.
- Set your table correctly for all occasions.
- Give birthday parties, luncheons, receptions, and so forth.
- Entertain with games for young and old.
- How to be a perfect hostess, with many wonderful recipes and hundreds of helpful suggestions. You'll love this book.

It's the sort of book every woman has often wished for. A complete guide to smart, successful home entertaining—written by a famous authority. It tells women what women want to know—whether you live in a cottage or a castle. Published and presented as a contribution to hospitality and sociability by Coca-Cola—the drink that makes a pause refreshing, the natural partner of so many good things to eat.

USE THIS COUPON

COCA-COLA CO.,
600 PLUM ST., N. W.,
ATLANTA, GA.

Enclosed find 10¢ (stamps or coin to cover cost of handling and mailing) for which send me the book, "When You Entertain" by Ida Bailey Allen.

NAME_____

_____

CITY_____ STATE_____

BRINGING HOME THE PAUSE THAT REFRESHES

THIS IS LIFE

PROPAGANDA'S HAND SEEN IN NEW HIT FILM AS HERO FOLLOWS ROOSEVELT

By ROBERT E. ROGERS

I'D GIVE A PRETTY PENNY to know whether there is any intention behind that new talking picture "Washington Masquerade." By intention I mean purpose, deliberate meaning, and so on. Most pictures seem to be made in a kind of furious absent-mindedness, by piecing together old, used patterns. Meaning seems to be the last thing looked for or intended.

PROF. ROGERS

But in "Washington Masquerade" I hoped, while I was seeing it, that I detected something a little more. Of course it was made from an old French melodrama, Bernstein's "The Claw" but it was so thoroughly adapted that it seemed perfectly native. It is the story of a western lawyer who makes a reputation by wringing a pardon for his client out of a machine governor against the wishes of the machine. He is rebuked by Senator Whoosiz, the boss, for party treachery, so he bolts the organization, runs against the Senator and beats him. He arrives in Washington with his daughter and immediately makes a wow of a speech against the Power Trust and begins to line up public opinion. He becomes the man of the hour.

The next step was familiar enough. A lovely and wealthy siren, who acts as the shock troops of the Power Trust, falls in love with him and marries him—which is a bit unusual—then at the behest of the main lobbyist, a sardonic cuss, puts the emotional screws on him—how is not exactly clear—and makes him resign his senatorship and go into private practice, the price of his shame being a quarter of a million a year. The Senate progressives force an investigation; the business interests try to put a plausible face on the deal; but Senator Jefferson Kane, all broken up and twitching and suffering from the jitters as only a Barrymore can suffer, tells all, exposes the plot against the government and the plain people, and dies rapidly and quietly of the necessity for having a Mickey Mouse film immediately thereafter.

Capital Scenes Full of Illusion

It is a good picture. There are some sequences of a reception at the White House that are full of illusion. Samuel Blythe, veteran Washington correspondent, okayed the scenes in the Senate and the political atmosphere. More than that, the Senator's speech against the Power Trust is well-written, sensible and persuasive. It sounds like good Borah or Walsh or Norris. And the head lobbyist's testimony before the investigating committee, giving the point of view of the business man against the politician in the exploiting of natural resources, is so true that it hurts. It is more drastic than any financier would ever dare to be in real life. It's as honest and uncompromising as the speech Galsworthy puts into the mouth of capitalist John Anthony in "Strife." If the picture had been worked out seriously on the lines of those two speeches, it would have been a great picture. Even as it is, with too much siren vamping about in her underwear and too much gigolo being the party of the third part, and so on, it is a good picture.

But still I ask why? It is not often the films touch a serious controversial topic and actually say a little something. And the issues and parties involved here make it unusually interesting.

1—Mr. Will Hays, film big chief, is presumably still an old line organization Republican and big contributor.

2—This film Washington Masquerade makes a hero of a Progressive senator who bolts his party. The senator is supposed, by the way, to come from Kansas. He expresses this by wearing unpressed clothes, a black bow tie, a slouch hat, and by needing a hair-cut. Later, after the siren has hold of him, he looks merely like another Barrymore.

"Strong Man in the White House"

3—There is a touching reference to "the strong patient man in the White House, whose hands must be upheld," etc. Presumably the occupant of the White House, who remains anonymous through the film, is sympathetic to the progressive group and the public control of public utilities. Which doesn't sound like any Republican President since Theodore Roosevelt.

4—Released, as the film is, immediately after the Democratic convention, with a hero whose views on Power are the views of Franklin D. Roosevelt and certainly not the views of either Smith or Hoover, one wonders whether there is not a real political intention in the exhibition, weakened and sentimentalized and corrupted as it is. If so, that intention is either Progressive or Democratic.

5—If Hollywood is controlled by New York financiers, why does Hollywood put out a propaganda film which is anti-Power Trust, anti-Wall Street, and anti-machine politics? I thought for a moment that it intended to show the political radical as a weakling, a rascal, a crook. But that is only momentary. He ends as a hero and a martyr.

To be sure, our local audience was apathetic, but New England is notoriously ignorant of and apathetic to the public utilities problem with the result that New England pays through the nose. Out in Wisconsin recently the Public Utilities Commission ordered a 12½ percent cut in telephone rates, on the ground that the public should share in the lower costs of doing business. I wonder how a western audience would take the film. Probably with more enthusiasm.

But there is a larger consideration. This is only one of several recent films which have taken serious stands on controversial questions. There were a couple of gangster films which may well have helped crystallize public sentiment on the abuses of prohibition. "Little Caesar" was one of them. "Scarface" was the other. Both were honest, well documented, hard-hitting and effective.

Films Are Probably Honestly Wet

The most astonishing job the movies did, though, was the picturization of Upton Sinclair's "The Wet Parade." It was astonishing because the film industry, like the press is probably wet, whereas Sinclair's book was fanatically dry. But the picture did not misrepresent the book, as most people agreed, showed both sides of the picture and hardly sentimentalized it at all.

There is no reason why Hollywood should not do a series of pictures on political and controversial public problems, taking a definite stand in each picture, or showing both sides of the case fairly. A moving and effective picture might be made of the Bonus Expeditionary Force, showing the split in the councils of the Legion as to the best way to handle the question of veterans' relief. The attitude big business takes about political control of business and natural resources is capable of effective dramatization.

The condition of the film industry at present is proof that people generally are tired of the old themes and the old sequences. A deliberate approach to actuality in our pictures, instead of the eternal never-never-land of filmdom, might be the best possible bet. "Washington Masquerade" does not quite do the job. The old sex stuff still plays too large a part. But it is a beginning and for that reason well worth seeing.

Copyright, 1932, by Boston Evening American

21 NEW PLANTS OPENED IN MONTH

☆ ☆ ☆ ☆ ☆ ☆ ☆ ☆ ☆ ☆

Guard Saves Disabled South Boston Yacht

VESSEL TOWED FROM POLLOCK RIP MENACE

Picket Boats Hurry to Rescue as Passing Steamer Warns of Craft's Danger

The disabled yacht of a South Boston man was taken in tow today by the coast guard patrol boat CG-235, as she drifted helpless 14 miles east of Chatham near Pollock Rip.

The yacht, the Sarscen, owned by Charles Tipenerink, of 17 Locust st., South Boston, was being towed to Provincetown by the patrolboat, according to word radioed by the service vessel to the Woods Hole base shortly before 9 a. m.

Coast Guard officials reported they had not yet learned the number of persons aboard the disabled craft or their identities. The yacht's plight was reported to the coast guard in a radio message from a passing steamer.

Coast Guard stations at Chatham, Provincetown and Boston and picket boats were rushed to the scene from the Chatham and Monomoy Point stations.

Word was also radioed to patrol boats at sea and the CG235 picked up this message and went to the yacht's aid. They reached her safe shortly after 8 a. m. and found her with engines disabled.

BARKED AT WRONG TIME

Herbert Stone of Humboldt ave., Roxbury, with Prince, his collie dog. When a sneak thief entered the rear door of the Stone home and stole two handbags, Prince, on the front veranda, was quiet, but when police came to investigate, the dog set up a vigorous clamor. (Staff photo.)

21 NEW PLANTS GIVE 400 JOBS DURING JUNE

Old Industries Also Expand Business in Greater Boston; Sharp Gains Over 1931

The month of June saw 21 new manufacturing companies start operations in Metropolitan Boston district, and several established industries expand their business, the Bureau of Commercial and Industrial Affairs of the Boston Chamber of Commerce revealed today.

As a result of the upward surge between 400 and 450 persons were put to work in the area.

The June report of the chamber brings the total new industries for the first six months of 1932 in this area up to a total of 125, or an increase of 21 over the same period in 1931.

These new manufacturing companies are included in the report for June: Washburn Company, Boston; San Remo Food Products Company, Lynn; Rug Grip Company, Boston; Jamaica Plain Building Finish Company, Boston; Albargentum Laboratories, Inc., Boston; Dainty-Made Undergament Company, Boston; Bay State Buckle Co., Lynn; Biltmore Bedding Company, Boston; King Printing Company, Boston; Morton Upholstering Company, Inc., Boston, Farmstead Milling Company, Lynn; Molded Products, Inc., Randolph, Norfolk Mattress Company, Boston; Wing Wood Heel Company, Lynn; Lane Fixture Company, Boston; Louis & Angelo Shoe Company, Lynn; Newton Ferrule Company, Newton; Princess Garment Inc., Boston; McIntyre-Sawyer Glass Company, Inc., Boston; Roberson Office Partition Company Boston, and Ace Sign Company, Boston.

Expansions include removal of the Reliance Shoe Co. to larger quarters from Beverly to Lynn, the erection of a new exchange by the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co.; an addition to the warehouse of the Economy Grocery Stores Corporation, and removal of the Harvard Pickle Works to larger quarters in Cambridge.

A gradual business pick-up was reported in Connecticut today with word of new industry and reviving factories.

GAS PLANT TO OPEN

From Middletown, where a cloak company has leased factory space for employment of about 130 additional workers and where a rubber manufacturing plant reopening was announced within the last few days, came news a hydro-gas corporation will begin operations by October 1 in Portland. From Texas crude oil supplied in tankers up the Connecticut river, the new corporation plans manufacture of gasoline at the initial rate of 500 barrels daily.

Business perked up at Groveondale Mills where 500 looms resumed their humming after a long shutdown and company officials said a night shift probably would be called to work.

Eventual employment of 150 men was promised by the projected reopening of a mica and feldspar quarry near Danbury. Company heads said orders were sufficient to make further shutdown extremely unlikely.

Nine Lost From Craft

Eureka, Cal., July 26—Nine persons were believed drowned, and nine were safe after the capsizing of a speedy motor boat carrying 18 pleasure seekers.

Drowning Victim

George Hester, 6, of Lynn whose death by drowning was ruled to be an accident by police today although threat letters received by his family predicted the scene of the tragedy on the Lynn marsh.

DROWNING HELD AN ACCIDENT

Lynn police today declared there was no connection between the death by drowning of George Hester, 6, of Hobson st., Lynn on the Lynn marshes with death threats recently received by his family.

The boy was drowned in a creek in the marshes at a spot described by the writer of the threat letters as the point where one of the Hester children would be killed if the parents refused to leave the Hobson st. home.

When news of the boy's death was received the parents suspected "blackhanders" and notified police. Mrs. Hester was overcome and is in a state of collapse at their home.

Police learned from boys who had been with young Hester that a makeshift raft he had been paddling fell apart in the middle of the creek. The boy fell in the water and failed to come up. Several of the boys swam to the spot and recovered the body.

INJURIES IN 'L' JAMS CHARGED

Complaint about insufficient car service in West Roxbury and Roslindale was made today while Boston Elevated officials were busy getting over the shock of a 5-cent fare demand by Mayor Curley.

Many have stated and injuries have occurred in crowds jamming on Charles river and Dedham line cars at Forest Hills terminal, Atty Charles H. Savage asserted, in a letter to Edward Dana, general manager.

Conditions during the morning and evening rush hours are deplorable, due to changes made in the service, including the elimination of two-car trolley trains, Savage said. He threatened to call a public protest meeting if nothing is done.

The mayor's proposal to restore the 5-cent fare, without transfer privileges, has possibilities, but is fraught with complications, according to Dana.

Dana said as much in answer to a question of Mayor Curley, following a meeting of the Metropolitan transit council at City Hall.

Mayor Curley suggested the five-cent fare, without transfer privileges, as a means of raising revenue to overcome the $1,776,000 deficit which the Elevated now faces.

Esplanade Concert Progam Tonight

March, "Under the Double Eagle"	Wagner
Danse Macabre, symphonic poem	Saint-Saens
Pavane for a Dead Infanta	Maurice Ravel
Initial movement, Symphony No. 1	Sibelius
"Egmont"	Beethoven
Fourteenth Hungarian Rhapsody	Liszt
Tango Argentina, "Silver Shadows"	Dego
Serenade from "Millions of Harlequin"	Repper
American Fairs	Meachum

Happy Days Here Again; Youths Get Free Ice Cream

From the standpoint of the children, here's the best news of better times.

Tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 free ice cream will be distributed to Cambridge school children at Thorndike Field, East Cambridge.

Civic and fraternal organizations have provided the funds and Safety Officer Patrick F. Shea will supervise the party, at which 900 guests are expected. The attraction is an inducement to children to make use of the playgrounds and keep off the streets.

Many of the usual free ice cream parties in Greater Boston cities have been cancelled this year.

THIEF WORKS AS DOG YAWNS

Because Prince saved his barks for the police, disdaining to bother a sneak thief, the family of Ralph Stone, 164 Humboldt ave., Roxbury, was $50 poorer today.

The dog was on the front porch with members of the family when the thief forced a rear screen door and took two handbags, containing $50, the property of Miss Henrietta Stone.

When the loss was discovered police were called and then Prince set up such a commotion that the neighbors went around to see what it was all about.

THUGS GET $51 IN 2 ROBBERIES

Three holdup men starting to work at 7:30 a. m. today cleaned up $51 in less than an hour in robberies of a taxicab driver in Roxbury and a South End chain store.

Daniel Harkins of 695 Center st., Jamaica Plain, the cab driver reported to the Roxbury Crossing station that three men entered his cab and ordered him to drive to the North Station. At Bickford st., Roxbury, they ordered him to stop and robbed him of $11.

Forty minutes later two of the trio entered a chain store at 536 Tremont st., South End. They forced Gerald Barry, manager, into the cellar and took $40 from the cash register. They joined their accomplice outside and fled in a blue sedan.

BRIDAL THIEF GETS NEST EGG

Somewhere, Mr. and Mrs Patrick Rush—who have been one only since Sunday—are on their honeymoon, all unaware that the furniture for their little nest—which is to be theirs tomorrow and which they expect to be all paid for on their return—won't be paid for.

One of the wedding guests put a nimble finger on the $529 cash.

The $529 was left by the couple with Mrs. Patrick J. Murphy at 58 Wright ave., Medford, when the pair made the customary dash from the wedding reception held there Sunday night.

At 3 a. m., when the wedding guests, numbering more than 100 and probably with some gate-crashers, had left, Patrolman Dempsey found the pocketbook of Mrs Murphy near the house. It contained only $3.07.

Mrs. Murphy told police she left the pocketbook with the money on the dining room table when she served refreshments. She had not missed it when she retired, she said.

But the furniture for the couple's new home is due tomorrow—C. O. D., as arranged for by the bride.

Asks Divorce After 32 Years

Salem, July 26—After nearly 32 years of married life, Mrs. Sarah A. Kennedy of Boston is seeking a divorce from Wildar A. Kennedy of Haverhill, it became known when she filed a petition in Essex County Registry of Probate.

FUND RUNS OUT IN WEYMOUTH

Two hundred Weymouth street department workers are on the welfare list today because there is no more money for street work and there will be none until after the town meeting August 3.

The selectmen a week ago failed to make provision for more funds, voting instead to investigate wages of town officials and at another meeting last night 60 representatives of those made jobless appeared to ask that funds be transferred to the street department from some other department. Town Counsel Kenneth Nash ruled it could not be legally done and although Selectman Everett Callahan pleaded the workers' cause, the board voted to send the men to the welfare department pending the next meeting. The board also voted, 4 to 1, to hold no more open meetings.

City to Get Bills for Blast

Home owners, whose property was damaged by the dynamite explosion on Edgemere rd., West Roxbury, will present estimates of repairs at a meeting today in the offices of Building Commissioner Edward W. Roemer.

Sondra Is Surprised at John's Arrival

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

"Marry me before I go," Mark Merriman says to Sondra Kent, as he prepares to go away for years of work in the Congo. Sondra is more ready to agree than she ever has been before. She has determined not to marry Mark, because of his poverty, since she has been trained to make a wealthy marriage. She even has asked John Anderson to give Mark the position, but now she dreads the separation. The nearness of Mark's departure leads them to tell each other of their mutual love, and she finally marries Mark. After the ship sails, John takes her to lunch, where they meet the woman she claims to have stayed with the night she was married, and Lynn is forced to lie to John.

NOW READ ON

THE SAME OLD photographs of society people—opening bazaars, smiling into the camera with babies on their laps, dressed up in fancy costumes for charity performances, vying with each other for the most publicity.

Sondra yawned; if only something new and exciting would happen!

She flicked over another page and found herself looking at John Anderson.

"Mr. John Anderson, the well-known financier, and Miss Nathalie Symons—at Biarritz."

John at Biarritz! at this time of the year!

Sondra felt her face flushing. He had been in Vienna when he last wrote to her—and that was a week . . . no, 10 days ago.

And who was Nathalie Symons? She was pretty enough, with a saucy, provoking smile.

Sondra threw the paper aside.

Was this the reason why John was staying away for so long?

She sat for a long time, lost in thought, vague discomfort in her heart.

QUEER LITTLE PAIN

If only Mark had not gone away if only she had been brave enough to face life with him.

When Mark came home . . . Sondra's thoughts seemed to end short with a queer little pain. He had only been gone a month and already she was half dreading the day he would return, asking herself tortuous questions as to what they would do with life or what the world do with them when they were together again.

At the back of Sondra's mind was an ever growing doubt about her marriage, an ever growing consciousness that it would have been better to wait.

And yet she knew that given those last two days over again she would have used them in just the same way.

She got up restlessly once more and looked out of the window.

The rain was not so heavy, and there was a faint light everywhere, as if the sun was trying to break through.

A taxi sped up the street and came to a standstill at the door. Sondra watched without much interest. Presently a man got out—a man in a silver-gray suit with a flaming red tie—Stephen Cassidy.

A GREAT SURPRISE

She was conscious of great surprise; Cass did not like Fiora, and neither did she like him, so it was very seldom he called, but now he spoke a word to th erelver, evidently telling him to wait before he came to the front door.

A moment later a maid was in the room.

"Will you see Mr. Cassidy, please, miss?"

"Ask him to come up." Sondra was glad of the diversion.

Cass came into the room wreathed in smiles, his hand outstretched.

He always brought a sense of breeziness with him, of good cheer and unquenchable optimism. Sondra realized again as he gave her hand a bear's grip how tremendously she liked him.

"I thought we'd go along together," he said without preamble. "Know

Continued on Page 17, Column 5

SKIPPY—Plain Symptoms

By PERCY CROSBY

Percy L. Crosby, Great Britain rights reserved. © 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

MALDEN WOMAN SEEKS FATHER, MISSING 30 YEARS

At Radium Clinic

With the Candid Camera

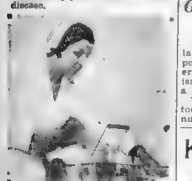
By THE CANDID CAMERA

You just don't know what other people do unless you follow me around. Yesterday I visited the New England Deaconess Hospital. Did you know that they have one of the most active departments of cancer diagnosis there is in the country?

First we were ushered into the department where rapid cancer diagnosis are made on a frozen section microtome. It was operated by Mrs. Thomas Wagman.

Then to the Radium Emanation Plant I was taken. Here we found B. F. Cowing, of Weymouth, pumping radio emanation into the capillary. This is the second largest plant of this type in the world.

Teeth are always examined where cancer is feared. A hospital nurse poses as patient as Anne Clifford, dental hygienist, examines her mouth. Hospital authorities say teeth infection is the starting point of much of the disease.



They teach diabetic patients the proper care of feet. Miss Sheila Casselman, of Chicago, a graduate nurse is shown with foot room equipment as she plans a lesson to patients.

DEATH REPORT LED MOTHER TO WED AGAIN

Story of Fatal Mine Accident in Pennsylvania Believed a Hoax

A Malden woman will drive to Pittsburgh next month to seek her father, whose reported death, 30 years ago, she believes to be a hoax.

Persistent reports reaching Mrs. Aine Johnson of Preston st., Malden, that her father, Joseph Turunen, reported killed in a Pennsylvania mine disaster in 1902, is still alive are the cause of her search and of her hope.

"No matter what he has done, if he is alive I want to find him" she said today. "He may be poor and needy. I have a good home and husband and can care for him. He's my daddy and I want to find him."

Her 17-year-old daughter, Margaret, a Malden high school student, will accompany Mrs. Johnson on the trip which, if successful, will result in considerable legal complication because Turunen's wife has married again.

MOTHER MARRIED AGAIN

Turunen preceded his family to this country from Finland in 1900.

Mrs. Johnson came to this country in 1913 and made her home with friends in Norwood. The following year her mother, who had married again in the belief her husband was dead, and another sister came here.

Two years ago Mrs. Johnson, who works as a waitress in a Boston restaurant, received reports that her father was still alive. At first she paid no attention to them but recently they became so persistent that she decided to start the search.

SAW BURIAL CERTIFICATE

Turunen went to Pittsburgh to work when he came to this country in 1900. A few months later he sent word to his wife that he would send her and his daughters money to join him. Instead of money the family received word the father had been killed.

Two Pittsburgh men, Alli Thesloff and L. Dahl, friends of Turunen, sent pictures of the dead man and a burial certificate, signed by the Rev. G. A. Boering, pastor of the German United Evangelist Church of Pittsburgh.

It was 12 years later that the entire family finally reached this country. Mrs. Turunen by that time was married to A. A. Harjanine. The couple start now living at North Jay, Me. Miss Aine Turunen married Birger A. Johnson

HOPES FOR HAPPY REUNION

Mrs. Aine Johnson, gazing at photo of her father, Joseph Turunen, who preceded his family to America 30 years ago from Finland and later was reported killed in a Pennsylvania mine. Persistent reports that he is alive in Pittsburgh has prompted Mrs. Johnson to plan a trip there to find him. Her mother married again after the father was reported killed and is now living in Maine with her second husband. (Staff photo.)

ELECTRIC RATE IN MALDEN REDUCED

Stock Paid 16 Per Cent as Dividend in 1931; Dedham Petition Fails

A reduction of one cent per kilowatt hour in the rates of the Malden Electric Co. was ordered by the State department of public utilities.

The department ordered reductions from 7¼ to 6½ cents in the household rate for the first 15 kilowatt hours per month, and from 6¾ to 7¼ cents in the rate for the first four kilowatt hours per room per month in the optional house service schedule.

At the same time the department dismissed the petition of customers of the Dedham and Hyde Park Gas & Electric Light Co. for a reduction in gas rates.

The department pointed out in the Malden case that the company in 1931 paid dividends of 16.42 per cent upon its par value and premiums, which corresponded to 12.27 per cent on the highest price at which the stock had ever been required to be issued.

In dismissing the petition in the Dedham and Hyde Park case, the department pointed out that the company has shown decreases in earnings in the past few years. It calls attention to the anomalous situation by which residents of Hyde Park, having contracted, when a town, with the Dedham and Hyde Park Co., are obliged to pay higher rates for gas than their neighbors and suggests that the Boston Consolidated Gas Co. take over the lines of Dedham and Hyde Park Co. in the Hyde Park area. The public utilities department says, however, that it has no power to bring such a merger about.

SWIMMING STAR INJURED IN FALL

Miss Alice Eldridge, Cambridge swimming star, who was injured last night when springboard broke as she was about to dive into tank at church carnival in South Boston. Miss Eldridge suffered concussion of brain and other injuries. She was taken to City Hospital. (Staff photo.)

BOY'S SHOOTER HELD IN $1000

Charged with assault with a shotgun on Adolph Tassi, 10, of Harvard st., Winchester, John J. Morton, 72, of Holton st., Woburn, was held in $1000 today in Woburn court.

Tassi was peppered with shotgun pellets while blueberrying with other youngsters on Blueberry Mountain, adjoining Morton's land.

The elderly farmer told the court he only intended to frighten the boys. He charged they and other blueberry pickers, including adults, stand on the slope above his home and throw stones at the house and his hens.

Dogs of the pickers have killed 75 hens, he declared, and the stones striking his home frighten his wife, who is partly paralyzed.

Rail Attorney Dies

Ridgewood, N. J., July 26 (AP)—Frank A. Von Moschzisker, long with the law department of the Pennsylvania Railroad, is dead of a heart attack at Spring Lake.

Four Kittens Born in Somerville Police Officer's Locker

Even in a police station, Fanny doesn't trust her offspring to the open places.

Last fall, Fanny crawled into a wall at Somerville police headquarters to introduce a family to the world, and police had to tear open the wall to retrieve five kitties where there had been only one.

Today Fanny climbed into the locker of Lieut. Thomas M Sharry and gives a surprised policeman indeed when he opened his locker and found Fanny had brought four more little Fannies into the world.

PEEK INTO AUTO JAILS BROTHERS

Three Fall River brothers were given House of Correction sentences today in Municipal court—all because three police officers became suspicious and peeked into the brothers' car near Boston Common.

Louis Bielecki, alleged owner of the car, was sentenced to six months, while Bronislaw and Theodore were given three months each, all being charged with possession of a blackjack and a revolver.

The three brothers were seen to leave their car and start across the Common by Special Officers Wilder Dillon, John Dever and Martin Kelly on Sunday night, and when the officers looked into the car they saw the blackjack and revolver on the floor.

Extra Car Likely for Tunnel Trains

An extra car may be added to the trains in the Dorchester-Cambridge tunnel during rush hours, it was stated by officials of the Boston Elevated.

Since last Thursday the service on this line has been curtailed because of a 20 per cent decrease in patronage during the summer months. Three cars instead of four are operated on the trains during rush hours. During the rest of the day two cars instead of three make up the trains.

MISS ELDRIDGE HURT IN FALL

Disdaining the advice of physicians, Miss Alice Eldridge, 23, Cambridge swimmer, injured last night when she fell from a broken springboard at a church carnival in South Boston, left City Hospital for her Cambridge home early today.

The girl suffered concussion of the brain and other injuries when she was plunged to the ground, hospital authorities said.

Public Concert

Those who remember the lyric tenor voice of Bruce Norman as a member of the Harvard Glee Club will have an opportunity to hear him again tomorrow night when he appears as soloist with Will Dodge's People Symphony.

HARVARD YOUTH AS SOLOIST

They tell stories about "local boy makes good."

Well, here's one about a Harvard boy who made good as a lyric tenor. Seven years ago Bruce Norman was tenor soloist with the Harvard Glee Club. Tomorrow night he returns to Boston as soloist with People's Symphony, conducted by Will Dodge in a Brookline shell.

Since his graduation from Harvard, Norman pursued a musical career in Europe, returning to this country to win recognition in New York and Philadelphia. Next October, Boston music-lovers will have the opportunity of hearing him sing in the operatic productions of the San Carlo Opera Company.

Norman makes his home in Amesbury. He has been in Broadway musical comedy. He began his career as radio announcer for WBZ when radio announcing was in a pioneering stage. "F. L. B." was his call number.

But today he sings arias and lyric tenor solos as a first step in a great operatic career.

Girl Reported Lost Finds Herself Job

Edna May Goud, 17, of 238 Highland ave., Somerville, who was reported missing today by her mother, Mrs. Edna A. Goud, a widow, isn't missing at all. She merely got a job.

The girl telephoned her mother today and said she had a post as nurse girl at Point of Pines.

KNIGHTS TREAT ORPHANS

Twin orphans among the 350 taken from the Home for Destitute Catholic Children for an outing today in Norumbega Park. The children, with 25 nuns at the institution, were guests for the day of Boston Chapter of the Knights of Columbus. (Staff photo.)

TAX BILLS SENT CITIES, TOWNS

Special tax bills aggregating $1,273,027 have been sent to cities and towns by Commissioner of Corporations and Taxation Henry F. Long for payment of the money due in 1932 on the head tax of $1 for each male inhabitant over 20 years of age to finance the old-age assistance law.

Under these special bills, Boston's share is estimated at $241,000, and the other cities and towns in the Metropolitan district would pay as follows.

Arlington, $11,448; Belmont, $7016; Braintree, $4812; Brookline, $13,011; Cambridge, $34,900; Canton, $1400; Chelsea, $12,471; Cohasset, $1022; Dedham, $5300; Dover, $370; Everett, $15661; Framingham, $2066; Hanover, $1021; Hingham, $2111; Holbrook, $1030; Hudson, $2117; Lexington, $2115; Lincoln, $1024; Malden, $17,757; Marblehead, $3022; Medford, $12 207; Melrose, $7114; Milton, $3138; Natick, $567; Needham, $3439; Newton, $19 077; Norwood, $4762; Quincy, $22,812; Reading, $2076; Revere, $9842; Saugus, $4252; Somerville, $21,295; Stoneham, $3287; Swampscott, $2548; Swampscott, $2236; Wakefield, $4888; Walpole, $2683; Waltham, $8,153; Watertown, $10,792; Wellesley, $1241; Weston, $1233; Westwood, $734; Weymouth, $6745; Winchester, $3764; Winthrop, $5300; Woburn, $5845.

Cities outside of the metropolitan district: Attleboro, $6771; Beverly, $6044; Brockton, $19,724; Chicopee, $15 120; Fall River, $35,309; Fitchburg, $11 885; Gardner, $3703; Gloucester, $7662; Haverhill, $13 947; Holyoke, $15 858; Lawrence, $22 703; Leominster, $4809; Lowell, $25,868; Manchester, $4001; New Bedford, $14 006; Newburyport, $4706; North Adams, $9437; Northampton, $6198; Peabody, $4378; Pittsfield, $14 560; Salem, $13 000; Springfield, $45,249; Taunton, $10,706; Westfield, $5635; Worcester, $56 054.

Dog Shares Cell With Master in Lynn Jail

"Pappy" a Boston terrier, shared a Lynn jail cell today with its master, Charles H. Davis, 48, of Bay View ter., Danvers, arrested in Eastern ave., Lynn, charged with driving under the influence of liquor. The dog followed Davis to the station cell and whined when officers tried to shoo him away.

Later "Pappy" was barred from the courtroom, where Davis pleaded not guilty for hearing Aug. 2.

Red Speaker Wins Continuance of Case

Albert Mallinar, who was arrested for delivering a radical speech in Everett sq last night after his license to speak had been revoked, pleaded not guilty to charges of loitering before Judge Davis in Malden today. He obtained a week's continuance and was released in $50.

Patrolman Cleared on Tipsy Charge

Patrolman Joseph McManus of the Charlestown division, whose auto figured in a collision in Cambridge July 13, was found not guilty of drunkenness today by Judge Green in East Cambridge court.

After a warrant for drunken driving was refused by the court clerk, there was a conference and the not guilty finding was made.

Indigestion? Acid Stomach? Bad Complexion?
Here's quick relief with pleasant, sparkling
BRIOSCHI
(pronounced Bree-oshy)
Delicious De-acidifying Effervescent Beverage
Not a Drug
Gently Laxative
Orig. & Imported
Sold at Soda Fountains & Drug Stores
G. CERIBELLI & CO.
123 Varick Street
New York

ED. YOUNG
"The (Original) Yankee Philosopher"
Tonight at 7:00 on Station WAAB

A Boston American Feature

"Her Nerves Are Ragged . . . She Can't Face Another Day of Work"

"I can't go through another day . . . oh, what is the matter? What shall I do"? Did you ever feel this way yourself?
Nearly Nervous Prostration
DO you know her . . . this poor woman who wakes up as tired as she went to bed?
Her head is still aching . . . her nerves are ragged . . . she's on the verge of tears as she faces another day of work.
"I can't go through it again . . . I can't. Oh, what is the matter? What shall I do?" she cries.
How many young women are fast approaching a nervous break down because they let suffering due to female weakness rob them of their strength and health.
In offices or in their homes, they drive themselves, working "on their nerve." Hoping against hope that tomorrow they will feel better . . . but instead they become more and more prostrated.
It is a double tragedy because it is so unnecessary.
Nature did not mean women to suffer so cruelly. If they would only try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound! It has befriended women against their "peculiar" troubles for over 50 years.
It brings soothing, comforting relief . . . gently corrects through its strengthening tonic action the cause of the headaches and backaches that wear you out. Drives away the awful lassitude that kills ambition and makes life a burden.
This simple, safe remedy has justly earned its place in the Family Medicine Cabinet.
Won't you listen to the testimony of thousands of women who use it?
Give it at least one chance to help you. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Or, try it in the new, convenient tablet form.
Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in Tablet Form

Dorchester Man Dies in Heat Wave

With the temperature at 87 degrees yesterday, one death was reported. There will be no let-up in the warm weather today, according to the weather forecast.

The death recorded was that of Edward Feeney, 65, a stone cutter of Woodrow ave., Dorchester, who collapsed in Washington st., near Camden st., Roxbury.

DEATH HALTS WEDDING

Grief-stricken by the death of her fiance, George Sumner Barton, Jr of Worcester, Miss Evelyn Livingston Hollingsworth, Milton debutante, was reported near collapse today. The couple were to have been married soon.

Barton was killed Sunday at Narragansett Pier, R. I., when he was thrown from a speedboat driven by Slater Washburn.

He is believed to have been struck on the head by the propeller of the racing boat.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Worcester. Barton was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sumner Barton of 65 Elm st., Worcester. He was a graduate of St. Mark's School and attended Harvard before entering business with his father, a wealthy manufacturer.

Miss Hollingsworth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amor Hollingsworth of Brush Hill rd., Milton.

BEACON HILL
—by—
Betty Alden

DO YOU KNOW WHAT THE RICH-UNDER-THE-DEPRESSION are doing this summer . . . ?

• • •

Families are doubling up under one roof-tree along the Gold Coast of Massachusetts . . . of course, it has to be a large and roomy roof-tree, such as the William H. Browns' and Arthur Moors' . . . or

MRS. W. H. BROWN

• • •

The Richard Bolles' and Clarence Hoveys' of Cohassett . . . and

• • •

Down Wareham-way, the Alexander Whitesides and the Parkman Shaws are combining families and expenses . . .

• • •

And on the North Shore the Reginald Fosters and brother are enjoying a summer under the same roof at Magnolia . . .

• • •

At Weston, the Arthur Wellingtons and the Louis Wellingtons have combined forces which, with the grandchildren, makes quite a colony in themselves.

• • •

George Tyson, a gay blade who lives at the Somerset Club, has gone out to Andover to join forces with his brother's household . . . imagine, Andover, for George, who loves the gayer side of life!

• • •

Returns to Charlestown Homestead

HAVE YOU HEARD THAT BOB BELLOWS, THE ARCHITECT, has left his Marlborough st. house and gone to live at his old homestead in Charlestown . . . near Bunker Hill? . . . yes, he has restored it and, he says he is living there for the rest of his days. Mr. Robert Bellows is brother of Mrs. Thorndike Endicott and many cars will lead to Bunker Hill in the fall for Bob is a popular and witty host. He is one of the listed "eligibles" who has not been caught in the matrimonial depression.

• • •

Mr. Bellows and Mr. F. L. W. Richardson returned from Malta a short time ago where they went to sketch and paint . . . interesting fellows, these two!

• • •

Visit Newport

MR. AND MRS. WALTER WYETH, JR., have been wending their way Newport-ward each week-end visiting Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bennett, parents of Mrs. Wyeth, who was Hope Bennett until she married Walter Wyeth in fashionable Trinity Church in Newport last August. The Wyeths live in Brookline

• • •

A ROMANCE WHICH SEEMS to be evaporating into thin air . . . it being one of those aerial ones . . . is that of the Crocker Knows, whose fashionable wedding at Newport last season was one of the events of the summer season. Mrs. Snow is the former beautiful Lillias Moriarty and during the courtship Crocker and Lillias were up in the clouds together most of the time, as he is manager of one of the airports and the fair Lillias also has earned her license to fly. The birds are whispering that Crocker flies solo now and leaves Mrs Snow-bird flapping her wings on the ground . . . and she doesn't like it

• • •

GEORGE CUSHING AND sister, Ellen, of Milton, have started off on a summer motor tour together and will make a round of visits at Long Island, Atlantic City and places en route. Sister Grace, now Mrs. Charles Hibbard, whose farriage was a recent event, have taken up residences in Brookline

• • •

In New Hampshire

MRS MALCOLM BRADLEY FRENCH and her charming husband are enjoying the pleasures and splendors of the Waumbek Hotel at Jefferson, N. H. . . . Her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs Lyman P. Gutterson of Waban, who have been visiting them, have returned to town.

Bachrach Photo
Mrs. Gutterson

• • •

MR AND MRS. PHILIP WRENN (Virginia Taylor) were the honor guests at a large bon voyage party in New York before they sailed on their wedding trip, given by Miss Elizabeth Reverson, who was one of the guests at the wedding and is an intimate friend of the bride.

News and Gossip of Society Activities in and Around Greater Boston

SOCIETY FAVORITES WATCH YACHTS RACING OFF MARBLEHEAD

FRANCES VAUGHAN MARTHA ROGERSON

BETTINA ESHLEMAN

MISS FRANCES VAUGHAN of Southbridge, Miss Martha Rogerson of Milton, Miss Bettina Eshleman of Milton and Miss Eleanor King of Milton chose the shady side of the Marblehead Lighthouse as an ideal spot to watch the racing. Above is a glimpse of the picturesque Marblehead harbor, showing the Eastern Yacht Club pier.

ELEANOR KING

Sale Benefits the Blind

At the Wenham tea-house today a sale is being held of a variety of articles which have been made by the blind. A number of well-known ladies have kindly consented to allow the use of their names as sponsors for this event. They include Mrs. Francis R. Appleton, Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman, Mrs. Frederick J. Allen, Miss Helen C. Burnham and Mrs. Reginald Foster.

All the things on sale are useful, and many are such as are needed in every household during the year. These sales are held periodically

Gay Surfboard Party at Pond

Mrs. LeBaron Barker gave a surfboard party at her delightful home on Halfway Pond, Manomet, and "what a good time was had by all!" Her guests ranged in age from little tots of six and seven to ladies and gentlemen of much more advanced years.

All ages and sizes had the best time ever trying to stay on the skimming board and doing every conceivable kind of stunt from standing on heads to standing in a sky blue kitchen chair on the board. Mrs. Barker herself is very adept with the board and none of her guests can ever exceed her skill; she is also a very good swimmer and diver.

The Misses Bowes from Philadelphia, who are visiting here among the group who performed on the board. Trip after trip they took around the charming little pond, while the spray flew up and one after another hit the water.

Mrs. Barker before her marriage was Miss Mary Post; her father is a professor at Harvard and her husband, Mr. LeBaron Barker, is a graduate of Harvard and a nephew of Dean Briggs, who is one of the most delightful and colorful characters at the University. Mr. Barker is connected with Houghton, Mifflin Co.

A GRACEFUL CREATION

Maggy-Rouff Presents Brown Crepe de Chine

SKETCHED IN PARIS

The dress, from Maggy-Rouff, is of brown crepe de chine, with orange crepe de chine lining to the sleeves and folding about the throat. In the top circle is sketched Enzel's afternoon pump of patent leather, lizard and kid, in brown and white. Below is one of Mainbocher's little wrapped turbans of white silk surah.

Miss Cheney Is Engaged

The engagement of Miss Dorothea Cheney to Mr. Archibald W. Adkins, was announced at a tea given for this purpose by Mr. and Mrs Nathan Cheney of 242 Payson rd., Belmont.

Miss Cheney attended the Cambridge Haskell school and was graduated from Vassar College in 1928 after being prepared at the Winsor school. She is also a clever musician, having obtained her masters degree in music at Radcliffe in 1930.

Mr. Adkins is the son of Judge and Mrs. Jesse C. Adkins of Washington, D. C. He was graduated at the University of Pennsylvania with the class of 1927 and in 1931 he also was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Patrolman Promoted

Patrolman Joseph F. Lawless of the East Boston station was appointed acting sergeant last night. He will be transferred to the Hanover st station.

DAY HANSELL, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence N. Hansell of Marblehead, is one of the young favorites at this society summer resort. (Staff Photos.)

$170,000 Lewis Estate to Family

Salem, July 26—An estate valued at virtually $170,000 was left by E. Frank Lewis of Lawrence, who conducted a wool-scouring business in that city for 62 years, it was revealed here when an inventory was filed. He bequeathed all his property to his family

Books—And a Number of Things

By CHARLES HANSON TOWNE

It is inevitable that Grant C Knight's American Literature and Culture" (Long & Smith) will be compared to Ludwig Lewisohn's "Expression in America." Practically the same ground is covered in our literary history, and each writer reveals a remarkable knowledge of books written over a long period of time. Mr. Knight is associate professor of English in the University of Kentucky, and probably most of his chapters are enlargements of lectures he has given.

He has a happy, conversational style, and there is no lack of enthusiasm in his pages.

He salutes Whitman as one of the greatest poets the world has ever known; and though he lauds Whittier for his poems on slavery, he admits, as any sane critic would, that the cause he upheld failed to make him a real poet.

• • •

Of Longfellow he says that though he has been translated into 20 languages, more parodied than any other poet, and his memory honored, 20th century intelligentsia will have none of him.

But these critics, Prof. Knight contends, have probably not read him in his entirety. He cites the Golden Legend and the sonnets of Shakespeare, Keats and Milton in justification of Longfellow's right to be taken seriously.

Yet perhaps he has been hurt more by his advocates than by his enemies.

It was Whittier who said of "A Psalm of Life" that it was worth all the dreams of Shelley and Keats and Wordsworth, which, of course, would cause laughter in any intelligent discussion.

Prof. Knight is not very kind to Booth Tarkington, nor do I think he is quite right in his appraisal. He insinuates that Tarkington followed always the tendency of the times, writing first a political novel, then a romantic one, feeding the public what it most craved.

He says that he always looks on the bright side of things in the true one hundred per cent American way. Has Prof Knight read "Alice Adams" and "Young Mrs. Greeley," one wonders? He gives him unstinted praise for his boy stories; but in this connection he fails to mention Owen Jonasson's equally fine studies of the adolescent lad.

• • •

Indeed, there are many important omissions, as there inevitably are in a volume of this sort. Gertrude Atherton is never once spoken of; neither is Fannie Hurst. Zona Gale's great novel "Birth" comes in for no word of praise, though she is mentioned as having dramatized her "Miss Lulu Bett," which was not half the achievement of the writing of the novel.

Edna Ferber elicits no comment as a short-story writer and novelist. It is merely said that she wrote a play or two in collaboration with George Kaufman.

And so careful a writer speaks of Ellen Glasgow as "Mrs." Glasgow, and states that Edgar Lee Masters is still practising law in Chicago. He has been living in New York, devoting himself to literature exclusively, for many years.

And surely Anita Loos should have brought forth some comment, and also a writer of Thyra Samter Winslow's power.

• • •

It is interesting to learn that in 1900, in reply to a request for auto biographical information, Theodore Dreiser wrote to an editor arranging a cyclopedia of American biography: "Your editors will be wise if they leave me out entirely. I have done absolutely nothing deserving of a biographical notice.' Yet 25 years later he was the most widely discussed of American novelists, elevated by some to the rank of leader in our greatest writers of fiction, though he has won no awards at all.

In outlining Dreiser's position in the world of letters Prof. Knight says: "If to be a great novelist one must be an artificer with words, then Dreiser falls short of the mark. He has his own kind of eloquence, but it is the eloquence of sincerity and thoroughness rather than that which relies upon choice figures and fancies."

Others whom Prof. Knight appraises are Willa Cather, Edith Wharton, Howells, Cabell, Lewis, Stephen Crane, Norris and Upton Sinclair, whom he takes rather seriously.

He speaks of American magazines, and shows the effect of Whitman on the poets who followed him. Altogether, it is a most readable book, though there is nothing startling or new in the author's viewpoint.

• • •

Wodehouse fans—and they are legion—will be glad of an omnibus called "Nothing But Wodehouse," edited by Ogden Nash, and published by Farrar & Rinehart. Here are those old favorites, Jeeves, Mr. Mulliner, Featherstonehaugh, Ukridge and the rest, not to forget Bertie Wooster and Stanley; and to the clever Mr. Nash must go a reward for preparing the shortest and most intelligent introduction ever printed.

"The work of P. G. Wodehouse needs no introduction."

• • •

The Century Co. brings out a collection of short stories by that much loved and greatly lamented writer, Donn Byrne, under the title of "A Woman of the Shee." Rereading these poetic tales, one is grieved again at his untimely death; for Byrne was an artist in every line he ever wrote. The poem given at the beginning will bring tears to your eyes:

Behold! This world I made with many an elf
With gnomes and little people of the hills
With shadow kings and dukes and margravines,
With men-at-arms, with knights in panoply;
And all within my little empory—
My daily tournaments; my gallant scenes:
My halls of yellow furze; my little rills
That tinkled like a mass-bell, and my hives of honey-bees, my owls that hoot o' night,
My cardinals, my bishops and my priests,
My bannerets, my bugles and my drums.
All of these fade, and, mark you I myself
Am fading, like the moon when morning comes,

(Copyright 1932)

Will Provides for Home for Horse

Taunton, July 26—The faithful horse of Mrs. S. Blanche Carpenter, late of Berkley, will spend his remaining days on the farm, Glenbrook, in Berkley, and is never to be sold, but is to be humanely cared for by the executor of the will of the deceased, Chester Newcomb of East Providence. The will was offered here for probate.

Wilfred L. Benoit Out for Congress

Fall River, July 26—Nomination papers for Wilfred L. Benoit, a member of the board of fire commissioners, for the Democratic nomination for Congress from the 14th district were taken out by associates at the office of the city clerk.

Gasoline Cut in Vicinity of Boston

An unexpected cut in the price of gasoline at the filling stations of the major companies is in effect today. Instead of going up as has been customary at this time of year the price was slashed from one cent to one and one-half cents per gallon.

Rites for Rev. Otis Cary

Funeral services for the Rev Otis Cary, D. D., for 42 years a missionary of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions, will be held at the Bradford parsonage at 2 o'clock today.

Bachelors Fare Quite Well in New Cape Cod Cottage

By Dorothy Whipple Fry

A lady who summers at Woods Hole told me the other day that she had acquired two new neighbors who had turned out charmingly. Such an addition to the Woods Hole colony that if all newcomers were like them summer vacations would be most delightful.

They are young men, she admits (are you getting excited?) who have builded near her a prim cottage of the old fashioned type, yet without pretense of a "period." It is just an ordinary Cape Cod cottage with a lovely view of the sea. They have set in a wee garden bright with old fashioned flowers (fancy men having such discernment of taste!

A Cup of Tea

This lady of my acquaintance admits she took a cup of tea with them the other day—of course the neighbors were all agog, but our readers won't mind of course, they are so much more broad minded than neighbors in a small town!

The room was deliciously cool with cream walls and muslin curtains. It hardly looks like a man's abode, there seems to be a feminine touch about the place. The room was simply furnished, against one wall stood an old Normandy cupboard, the doors of which had been taken off to show shelves lined with a white material with just an old time edging of a kind of Irish lace.

The cupboard was filled with fine antique silver and willow ware, (really that men could achieve such perfect touches!). The table was a long dark refractory table covered with a gay India Shawl, at each end was a square jade green pot in which grew small box trees, and in front of these stood two three branched candle sticks.

My lady was filled with utter amusement that mere man could achieve such an artistic triumph. Really you know bachelor men are not half as helpless or as badly off as the wives of many men would have you believe!

How about it?

• • •

The Almys

Now here is a family! What do they mind about the depression? They realize that clothes are cheaper, food is cheaper, and that the high price of living is slowly but surely going down.

Mrs. Richard Almy is receiving congratulations on the birth of a son. Richard, Jr., not have the echoes of congratulatory messages extended to Mrs. Robert Almy upon the arrival of her son a day or two ago hardly died out.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Almy reside at Chestnut st. in the winter and spend their summers at the family estate at New Bedford. Mrs. Almy was before her marriage last year, Miss Ruth Lovering. She is the daughter of Mrs. Lyman Lover-

PERSONALITY AIDS BEAUTY, SAYS MISS FAIRFAX

Our Women Know How to Use It

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DID YOU HAPPEN to read in the newspapers that M. Manasse, a noted photographer of Imperial beauties with studios in Paris and Vienna, said:

"Nothing in nature is perfect, not even a woman. Even the most famous beauties are not more than 50 per cent beautiful."

And the photographer went on to say that because of this lack of perfect beauty, no woman is more than 50 per cent happy.

This may be true of the European women, but never of her republican American sister. A daughter of Uncle Sam, with 50 per cent of good looks to her credit, will acquire no outward lines of discontent about her mouth no crowfeet about her eyes, no horizontal lines of care across her alabaster brow because she is only one-half beautiful

No, indeed! With her energy, her resourcefulness, her capacity for taking pains where her appearance is concerned, the American woman will manage to put across that other 50 per cent of good loks in a walkover.

For a woman to be miserable when she had 50 per cent of real beauty would seem to the normal American woman just silly.

I think of the women who have put it across magnificently who didn't have fifty, forty or ten per cent beauty! The name that occurs at the moment is that of a woman who has been called the last of the great American actresses, a woman whose passing we mourned a few months ago —Minnie Maddern Fiske

The greater the obstacles she had to overcome, the greater the heights to which she arose. She hadn't beauty. Her plump little figure was not impressive. Her voice was the despair of critics and the public. Yet Minnie Maddern Fiske was a great actress, who filled playhouses at an age when the names of more beautiful women had been forgotten

But she had tremendous personality! It was vibrant through the dumpy little figure, through the voice that would ruin her words together, through the restrained gesture of the hand which managed to convey what speech failed in.

'CAN SUCH THINGS BE?'

Drawn by Nell Brinkley

OUT OF THE PAST I'll wager there's many a little feminine ghost breaks through the thin wall that divides one age from another and throws up her delicate hands at what she visions in the way of 1932 feminine goings-on. The plumes in her bonnet vibrate violently, her pink mouth forms a spectral "O," her little phantom heart dunks against her high-boomed gown under its lace tucker, her bird's wing brows climb up, her eyes stretch themselves from almond-shape to bubble-shape, she is all a-twitter, agog, and a-tiptoe Can't you imagine the honest wonder of a girl of the Seventeen-eighties or the early Eighteen-hundreds if she could witness a world Olympic and the astounding part that girls take in that Greek-like affair? Wouldn't she have an envious heart and shining eyes? I think so Even though she had some things better than we —no sign-boards by the lovely country wayside, richer good times, and no loudspeaker from the neighbor across the way when she was trying to think—THIS is better than what she had—this body freedom, with the world her playground, even as the men, that the girl in this day's World has. This right to have the same fun her brother and her sweetheart have in the world of play and sport' A beautiful and a precious thing And the little ghost from other days—happier than us, perhaps, in some way—she didn't have that

"Oh, Lud!" A girl flying down a track, bare-legged, bare-armed, like a Spartan damsel, in something much smaller even than the panties of Araminta's time With short hair flying! "Good Luck!" A girl falling from a board as high as the roof of Araminta's house into indigo water, like a slow-moving arrow And here she comes . . . She has brown legs like a Greek boy in statue Araminta has seen, lustrous with water . . . and most of her emerging from a black garment no bigger than Araminta's silk handkerchief A jockey, winning a race, in silks, flying around the fence in the land of the palm trees and the movie studios. "Lacka-day! A girl!" Champions, Skaters, unhampered by the dress of a girl; in shorts and sweater and tights Like her bow friend. Poor Araminta skated in a skirt to her ankles—and never WON ANYTHING! And THIS. "Oh, Gemini!" A girl in a man's over-all and leather coat, big shoes, a helmet in her hand The air is free to her, too. She flew the Atlantic alone in a ship of the air!

Under Araminta's wonder and horror swims envy She looks at the cobwebs of clothes and fashion that bound her, remembers that in her day to be a little free you had to be a George Sand and shock the folks, and wishes she had lived a bit later

Even those of us fair who do none of these strenuous things love to watch the other girls do them, and are proud and glad they can.—NELL BRINKLEY.

Daily Pattern of Boston American

By MARIAN MARTIN

PATTERN 9432

Illustrated Step-by-Step Making Instructions Included With This Pattern.

THIS FLATTERING cape collar with surplice closing an exponent of feminine charm for the matron, boasts dainty scalloping The skirt seamming and gusset yoke give that slim line so desired and so seldom found. As for fabrics, small printed motifs or solid colors if you prefer them and flat crepe, voile, sw ss or chiffon are smart and attractive.

Pattern 9432 may be ordered only in sizes 36 to 46. Size 36 requires 3⅞ yards 39-inch fabric

To get a pattern of this model send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred). Please write very plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern ordered.

Address all orders to Boston Evening American Pattern Department, 332 West 18th street, [illegible]

The Marry-Go-Round

Summer—The Acid Test

By HELEN ROWLAND

THIS IS the season when the most timid and susceptible bachelor can safely put away his sales resistance, unbuckle his heart and give free reign to his lighter emotions. He is fairly safe from maddng women

• • •

Summer is supposed to be the season of romance; but if any romance can survive the eye-shockers and sad revelations one sees on the beach at this time of year, it is more than a mere "romance"—it is a miracle of LOVE!

• • •

Next to blackening her teeth and shaving her head, nothing can do so much to transform a woman from a thing of beauty into a cartoon of herself as a few weeks by the wild, wild waves, caressed by the actinic rays and wooed by the ardent breezes. Pretty much-house lovers, three two! And f there is any way of wre king a woman's beauty, they find it!

• • •

If she is white-skinned and red-headed, dear old King Sol will leave a large, unsightly freckle with his every kiss on her face and arms. If her hair is dry-ger, he'll burn it or fade it out, and leave it to the sweet salt breezes to make it limp and sticky. If her ivory neck and curving shoulders are her chief charm, he'll promptly start peeling them—and a peeling shoulder is no more alluring than a peeled onion! But he has a way of kissing most passionately the girl whose classic nose protrudes a little beyond her sun hat.

HE IS FAIRLY SAFE FROM THE MADDING WOMEN

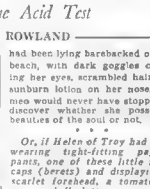
• • •

had been lying barebacked on the beach, with dark goggles covering her eyes, scrambled hair and sunburn lotion on her nose, Romeo would never have stopped to discover whether she possessed beauties of the soul or not.

• • •

Or, if Helen of Troy had been wearing tight-fitting pajama pants, one of these little skull caps (berets) and displaying a scarlet forehead, a tomato-red nose and fly-bitten arms when

BIGGER AND BRIGHTER MOONS IN SUMMER



Paris caught sight of her, he would have gone back home to papa and there would have been no Trojan war.

• • •

And Marc Antony would have been true to his wife forever if Cleopatra had appeared before him in a midsummer coat of suntan, with a peeling spine, a red nose on her throat and white rings around her eyes, left by the sunglasses.

• • •

Of course, the sun finally DOES go down, even in daylight saving time, and the moonlight softens everything, including the feminine face and the masculine heart. Which is probably why the Lord gave us bigger and brighter moons in summer when these two NEED so much more softening.

• • •

But summer is NOT the season of romance. It is the season when most romances are wrecked—and only the fittest and strongest survive

• • •

Men fall in love in spring, winter or fall, when women get into their imaginations. But summer is the acid test of love! That's why I'm a sun-hater!

(Copyright, 1932, for the Boston Evening American.)

Hints From the Ever-Handy Beauty Box

IF A WOMAN is determined to dye her hair, there are facts she ought to know. One is that if a liquid dye is used, the hot iron should not be applied for 24 hours; the heat is likely to cause streaks in the color. Another, the hair pushes out to the tune of one inch every two months so hair close to the scalp must be touched up that often. A third, it is not safe to apply one dye atop another without getting professional advice. Dye chemicals have been known to fight. The results are terrible.

THERE ARE a few long haired girls still with us and they find it difficult to devise a coiffure The bob does not appeal to them, or perhaps they just like to play with their lengthened tresses An arrangement that gives the effect of long hair, and which can be packed into a small bat, is made by cutting and thinning the left side at the back, having the long hair at the right waved, combing it across the back of the head, tucking the ends away under the undulation.

Buy by the Case—when you buy your daily groceries

Ask for SIMPSON SPRING BEVERAGES

If it's a Simpson Spring Beverage It's a good beverage

Correct Manners

Proper Form for Girl's Writing Paper

By MRS. BEECKMAN

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you kindly tell me if it is proper for a girl to have her name and address on writing paper?

A.

Letter-paper with her name and address printed or engraved on it is correct for a girl to use for business or professional letters but it is not correct for social letters. For social letters her paper should be monogrammed or engraved with her street address only or with her monogram and street address, her monogram on the left and her street address on the right.

Party Invitation

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I have a daughter who is to be graduated from high school. I want to take members of her class to a dinner in the city. Some of the girls I know, and some I do not know. Should I set the date for the dinner and write them, or should my daughter ask them?

MOTHER.

The best form would be for you to write notes to the mothers of the girls who are to be your guests, asking them if their daughters may go with you for this party. Also, if you wish, you may, at the same time write notes to the girls, inviting them to the party and saying that you have written their mothers for their permission.

Shaking Hands

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it correct for a young lady to offer to shake hands with a gentleman when he is introduced to her? S

It is perfectly correct for the lady to offer her hand for a handshake when a gentleman is presented to her, but it is not very customary now. Especially is it usually not "done" in the customary casual introduction.

Suggestions of Latest Fashions

HOLD ON to the newest way of holding up a beach pajama bodice. This is a choker fashioned of huge white beads. Pajamas styled without shoulder straps are cut with a high bodice which fastens at back and front over the necklace.

• • •

ALL WRAPPED up in wrap-around frocks will be the rule for autumn. For that season Paris is showing a frock of rich rose-red wool, with three-quarter sleeves bordered in black fox Loose pieces give a high waist to the bodice. These come from the body of the frock in back. The dress unfastens at the left shoulder, unwinds to the waist at back and then unbuttons down the side back. The skirt is also wrap-around.

Daily True Story

Losing to Win

DORIS was most unhappy. Ever since she had quarreled with Harry her vacation at Seaview had been a failure. And the quarrel was "so silly"—just because she had laughed at him when she beat him in the swim from the beach to the float anchored out on the edge of the channel.

Doris had not meant to offend him, but Harry's temper had flared up and hers had met it half way. He had left Seaview without saying good-bye.

So today Doris sat alone on the edge of the old float, a solitary figure in her scarlet bathing suit, dangling her feet in the rippling water and thinking rather sadly of the lad who went away in a temper

At last Doris straightened up. She had reached a decision. She rose to her feet and the next moment was a crimson flash, diving into the bay and cleaving for shore.

In a booth at the little hotel Doris was calling Baycrest, where Bill Sayre, pal of Harry, had his bungalow. Fortune was with her. She smiled as she recognized the booming voice of Bill

"Oh, Billy, will you do something for me—this is Doris" . . . No, Billy, this is not a proposal do be serious . . . Can you get Harry out of your piece soon? . . . You say he's really due there this afternoon? . . . Get him into your motor boat, Billy, in a bathing suit—then run up here to Seaview, will you? . . . Yes, I'll be out on the old float—he sure to recognize me as soon as will right me . . . I'll be wearing my red suit. . . .

"Oh, we had a little spat and Harry ran away . . . Yes, I want him back, Billy, and you've got to help me."

WAITS FOR BILL

Doris hung up and turned away from the phone with a hopeful smile.

Bill's motorboat was chugging along bravely, now within plain sight of the beach and scattered bungalows of Seaview.

Harry was wearing a rather long face, for the scene brought back to him vividly all the details of the foolish quarrel

"Couldn't you find any place to go except this?" growled Harry

"What's the matter with it?" I think it's one of the prettiest along the shore and it's a better beach than anything within miles," replied Bill.

Harry dabbled a hand in the rushing water and still looked glum

"Why, say," exclaimed Bill suddenly, "I think I know that girl over there on the float and so do you. It's Doris Swan."

Harry's head went up quickly. He was momentarily startled

The motorboat was rapidly drawing closer to the float. The girl in red turned and saw it. She stood for a moment motionless as a statue. Harry's eyes were fixed on her hungrily, in spite of an inward resolve not to look.

Then the girl came to life. As the boat swung alongside the float she uttered a little cry which seemed to be half of surprise, half of alarm, and dived into the water to make for shore.

Harry hesitated only an instant. Then all his stubborn pride faded away. He, too, dived, almost overturning Bill's boat.

Doris managed to get a look at him over her shoulder and though she appeared to be making a more desperate effort to outdistance him, she was, as a matter of fact, slowing her stroke.

HARRY IS HAPPY

Harry swam desperately. He gained on her. He slowly forged ahead of her. Increased the distance apparently despite her efforts. He reached the shallow water yards ahead of her, then stood waiting for her feet to make ground.

Doris, with eyes averted, came out of the water to the sand of the beach, where Harry stood waiting. He smiled at her. He couldn't help it.

"Well," said he, triumphantly, as Doris came up to him, "I beat you that time, honey, didn't I?"

"You certainly did," replied Doris graciously. "That was some pace."

"I'm sorry I lost my temper," he said. "Let's forget it, Doris. I've been miserable."

"So have I," answered Doris with a glad smile. "Let's."

(All names of characters in this story are FICTITIOUS.)

Walk and Enjoy the Open Road for Health

By DR. R. S. COPELAND

FOR SOME unfortunates various forms of exercises are more harmful than beneficial, but there is at least one exercise that can be safely practiced by everyone. It costs nothing, yet I can think of no better exercise than walking. Golf and some other forms of recreation are expensive, but walking requires no equipment beyond a good pair of shoes and the willness to indulge in it.

Dr. Copeland.

Walking once was popular. Walking clubs and well organized hiking parties were heard of throughout the country. But this beneficial form of exercise unfortunately has declined in popularity. Few of us walk today unless we are compelled to do so. The street car, the train and the automobile take us to our destinations.

I believe the health of the nation has suffered as a result of some of man's inventions. Poor complexion, indigestion, insomnia, headache and irritability are signs of poor health caused by lack of proper exercise and physical activity. Machines should not take the place of feet and well directed muscular effort.

Every individual should make it a practice to walk at least one mile each day. Instead of riding every day, walk to work occasionally. Your daily duties will prove more interesting and less fatiguing.

As you walk, keep the body erect, the head up and the abdomen in. The chest should be high and the shoulders thrown back. The arms should swing freely from the shoulders. Point the toes straight forward and walk on the balls of your feet.

Perhaps you have been suffering from lack of appetite, poor digestion, constipation and loss of sleep. I can think of no better cure for these ailments than walking. It will stimulate your appetite, aid digestion and promote proper elimination. Be outdoors and in the sunlight as much as possible.

(Copyright, 1932, for the Boston Evening American.)

"Another new sweater, Judy—you extravagant girl!"

"Goodness, this isn't new—shall I tell you my secret?"

"I KEEP my sweaters (whether they're silk, wool or the new lacy cotton ones) new looking by washing them in Lux. First, I cut a paper pattern the size of the sweater. Then I swish my sweater gently through lukewarm Lux suds—(rubbing with cake soap tends to shrink sweaters)—rinse in lukewarm water, ease back to size of pattern, In no time your sweater is lovely as new. Lux contains no harmful alkali. Anything safe in water alone is safe in Lux."

LUX won't fade colors—won't shrink woolens

MARTHA LEE'S PAGE

Gelatine Desserts Aid Slender Silhouette

Snow Pudding Tasty Dessert for Summer

Not all of us are able to spend the August days in the shade of our favorite tree or splashing about in the surf. Ours is the problem of keeping our families cool, comfortable, happy and healthy right at home.

I've discovered that a cold supper, brightened up with corn on the cob, will appease even a hot hand who possesses a hale and hearty appetite on the hottest day. Try serving your corn piping hot, spread with a little golden mayonnaise dressing. Yum! Yum!

TOMATO COCKTAIL

If you'll start your dinner with tomato cocktail, or cold tomato soup served with a dab of whipped cream, cold slices of thin cut meat, crunchy slices of cucumber and Spanish onions in French dressing and the hot corn on the cob, you really won't need more. But, if you feel you must, you can add a non-fattening gelatine dessert.

What the calorie-counter, seeking a more slender silhouette would do without the gentine dessert. I am sure I don't know. And how the Jack Sprats hostess whose ambition is to tempt the eye as well as the palate, would manage her sweet course without them is just one of those questions.

GO TWICE AS FAR

The whipped gelatines have the virtue of being non fattening yet satisfying. And, best of all, go twice as far as the unwhipped kind. A quart measure set in a bowl of ice makes the most satisfying container for the whipping process. Simply prepare your gelatine and when it begins to gel empey into it into the quart measure and beat with an egg beater until it will hold its shape like whipped cream. Then pour into the molds and chill thoroughly.

Here's a Snow Pudding that's as dainty as it is delicious and is guaranteed to add not one jot nor one tittle to your weight

SNOW PUDDING

One tbsp. of granulated gelatine, ¼ cup of cold water, 1 cup boiling water, ¾ cup of sugar, ½ cup of lemon juice, whites of 3 eggs.

Soak the gelatine in the cold water and then dissolve it in the hot water. After adding the sugar and lemon juice, strain and set aside to cool, stirring occasionally. When it is quite thick, beat with an egg beater. Add the well beaten egg whites and continue to beat until it is stiff enough to hold its shape. Mold or pile by spoon fuls on a glass dish. Serve with a soft custard made with the egg yolks.

MAKE GOOD FOOD FRIENDS

This Snow Pudding makes an ideal summer dessert—and best of all is guaranteed to add not one extra ounce to the slender silhouette.

FAMED BEVERAGES' HOME

Next time you're driving in the vicinity of Taunton, why not take time to visit the home of the famous Simpson Spring beverages, a New England institution for over 50 years. The home of Simpson Spring beverages is located a few rods off the main Boston Taunton and Fall River highway. From this trunk line, just beyond the village center of South Easton a smooth macadam road winds through beautiful groves of pines maples elms and birches to its very door.

From a beginning 54 years ago of bottling and selling the pure crystal-clear Simpson Spring water has developed a plant with thousands of feet of floor space an enterprise most typical of New England ingenuity and hustle.

This spring water, famous for generations, even back to King Philips time is used exclusively in Simpson Spring Beverages. It is a soft and beneficial pure spring water.

A visit will be a revelation and you will be most welcome. Courteous guides will be delighted to show you through the plant.

Real Pedigreed Frankfurters Are Best

I've just done my good deed for the day. A lady was denying her 10-year-old son the toasted frank furter sandwich that he coveted because she believed, apparently, that frankfurters were made of snips and snails and puppy dogs tails. So I told her about a trip I made some little time ago through a packing house where frankfurters are made fresh daily for your delectation incextra charge for the Joe words.

I told her of the fresh, tender pork and choice beef that was used in preparing these wholesome economical frankfurters. Of the spotless surroundings and white-clad employes

We have many questions as to "How can I keep frankfurters from bursting while cooking?" And the answer to that one is, "Don't cook them." Put them in the cold water and bring the water to a boil when they'll be thoroughly heated through and ready to serve.

Next time you're at a loss to know what to have for lunch to try this:

POTATO AND FRANKFURTER SALAD

9 frankfurters, French dressing
8 medium sized cold cooked potatoes, diced
1 small onion, peeled and minced
2 tbsps. chopped parsley
½ cup diced celery
6 medium sized tomatoes

Heat the frankfurters in boiling water. Then drain, skin them if necessary and cut in thick slices wise. Chill well add ¾ cup of French dressing and let stand half hour. Combine with potatoes, onion minced onion chopped parsley and diced celery. Add enough well seasoned French dressing to moisten well about 1-3 cup. Chill thoroughly then heap in a mound in the center of a cold platter. Arrange the frankurters around the potato salad and then group thin slices of tomato which have been sprinkled with salt and pepper at the ends of the platter. Serves six P. S. This is not a blanket recommendation for all frankurters The trimmings from the materni ty hospital's plant is speak of are sold for a few cents to less particular people who lengthen them with mistreated bread, cereal and other products of questionable merit to produce a cheap frank which is no good for neither man nor beast.

John's Arrival Is Surprise to Sondra

Continued from Page 1, 2nd Sec.

Lomax is out, or I shouldn't have dared to call. Saw her on Fifth ave half an hour ago. Oughtn't you to get your hat on?"

"I don't know what in the world you're talking about," Sondra said limply. "Wouldn't it be as well to explain?"

FACE WAS A BLANK

His face looked a blank for a moment then he said:

"But you're coming, aren't you?"

She made a gesture of despair.

"Coming where? I'm not a thought-reader."

Cass explained at last

"To the pier, of course. The boat's in at six-forty. John will be on it."

There was a profound silence

"John!" Sondra said; she had not quite realized.

"Are you sure," she asked with an effort.

Cass stared at her. "Didn't you know John was getting in today?" he asked naively.

She shook her head "No—" then she laughed. "Why should I know." Anyway . . . I can't go to meet him. I've got an engagement."

It was not the truth but not for anything in the world would she have allowed him to know it

John on his way home—almost home and she knew nothing about it

There seemed to be a queer little space in her mind, and as she stood staring at Cass a bewildered face into that space crept a picture of a girl's face—a pretty face with a saucy provoking smile Nathalie Sermon

Cass was fumbling with his watch.

"Well . . . better be off then—" he mumbled. "Don't want to miss him." He moved round the room as if from habit. "Give him your love, I suppose?" he queried vaguely.

"Oh, yes, give him my love, of course," Sondra said lightly.

She went down to the door with him and waved him goodbye But her steps dragged as she mounted the stairs again, and there was a heavy feeling at her heart.

John was home, and he had not let her know.

As a tide, if he had been in Europe, he cabled her when he sailed

Well, it was no concern of hers but she would take very good care to be out not only tonight, but all day tomorrow, and unable to see him if he called or rang up.

She went to her own room and shut the door.

There was a photograph of John Anderson on the mantelpiece, and she went across to it and looked at it with curious eyes

He had gone away three days after Mark sailed.

Mark had not forgotten her she knew; Mark would never forget her, but John

Supposing she had lost his friendship for ever

Then she laughed at herself for the thought. How absurd! They had only to meet and everything would be as it had always been

Still, it was strange he had not told her that he was coming home

Sondra was going to bed that night when Flora came knocking at her door

"Can I come in?"

"Oh, yes—" Sondra said wearily She was feeling bored and dispirited; she had spent the evening with some dull people in order to be out of the house if John Anderson rang up, and after all she need not have troubled for he had not they called nor rung up.

Of course he had only been in town a few hours; she tried hard to make excuses for him even while she could only remember that the last time he returned from Europe he had come directly to her to find out why she had not met him at the pier

Apparently this time he was not interested to know the explanation of her absence

Flora came into the room wrapped in an elaborate lounging robe and smoking a cigarette

"I've had a row with Ben," she announced briefly

Sondra said nothing; she knew of what these "rows" consisted

They were usually a burst of storming and nagging on Flora's part because she could not immediately get something she wanted until, in sheer desperation Ben gave in.

Flora sat down on the side of the bed and looked at her sister

"So, I'm not the usual sort of row," she said, reading Sondra's thoughts. "It's serious this time, in fact . . . I'm going away."

"Alone?" Sondra asked without much interest, and she wondered whose hospitality she herself could ask, seeing that Ben did not care for her to stay in the house when his wife was not there

"Alone—and for ever," Flora said quietly

Sondra turned round

"Nonsense," she said sharply.

"It's quite true," Flora laughed "I'm fed-up, fed-up, fed-up," she said with a fierce note in her voice. "So fed up in fact that I lost my temper tonight and told Ben exactly what I thought of him."

"And what do you think of him?" Sondra asked.

She had so often wondered Flora never discussed her husband though she treated him as cypher.

(Copyright, 1932, by Ruby M. Ayres.)

"I've had a row with Ben. It's serious this time," Flora tells Sondra tomorrow.

SKYSCRAPER

Novel from Which M-G-M Made the Cosmopolitan Film 'Skyscraper Souls'

By Faith Baldwin

(Continued From Yesterday)

"I WON'T see him again," Lynn decided.

But she did.

Seeing him was a perilous pleasure Impossible not to realize that he was attracted by her, more than ever, by the mystery that surrounded her. Where would it end? she wondered. She knew that the way I lead wherever she wanted it to lead

He was married; and had a child and knew every gradation of unmarried. She faced that squarely enough. She was aware of his reputation. And she was frightened her—and Tom, too.

Tom was no longer in the picture. He'd gone to wander, to come back. What was there left for her? Years of work, of climbing the ladder, of reaching Steph—perhaps sometime? Not a one her job too but her place in the scheme of things. An apartment, perhaps with another woman Being busy in a trivial way; trying always to believe she wasn't lonely.

IF DWIGHT WANTED HER

If Dwight wanted her . . .

All the storm the stress would be on his side she told herself dumbly. On her? Oh comfort ease . . . great den and on her emotions things must be more comfortable that was what she wanted it to be!

He was a fine thing for her to have. She could not make time much longer. Some one must speak What would he say? What would he answer?

Lynn asked that question for one morning in January the telephone on Lynn's desk shrilled loudly. She answered, astonished to hear Jennie's voice, broken, rough and with anxiety, "Lynn, can you come up here to see me—quick? It's awfully important."

Lynn looked at her watch. It was after eleven "I'll take my lunch an hour early. What's wrong, Jennie? Are you ill?"

"No. Oh, step on it!" cried Jennie, the self-reliant

An overexcited and mulatto attitude Lynn in Jennie's apartment Jennie was walking around the living room, half dressed. Her face was gray-white; her eyes had dark circles beneath them For the first time Lynn saw her face bare of make-up, the lips pale and dry That startled her

"What's happened?" asked Lynn

At the sound of her voice Jennie pulled herself together "Plenty," she replied briefly Lynn cast a look at the vanishing back of the maid. "It doesn't matter," Jennie told her wanly "She'll listen at the door, anyway she knows enough as it is."

"Tell me, Heavens, Jennie, you look awful!"

"I feel worse. It's him. Oh, I was a fool. It was easy, when—when I didn't know as much as I do now. But, since—since Jake, it was different somehow I was bored, too, fed up, couldn't call my soul my own. Lonely. And Slim hung around. Last night he came here. Not the first time—the third.

IT WAS PRETTY BAD

"Don't look at me like that, Lynn! I can't help it. I couldn't help it! Anyway Jake showed up. I don't know if he just took it into his head to come on or whether someone had tipped him off. That girl's in his pay, I suppose. Or was. I pay her plenty more now.

"Well, the night elevator man tipped me off, I slid him down there, while I got Slim out by the freight elevator. It was—pretty bad. If it hadn't been for that man . . ."

"But what do you want me to do?" asked Lynn helplessly.

"See him," Jennie besought her. "Tell him to keep away. I don't care about myself. I can go back to living on my salary. Tell him I'm going to Evanston. Jake said last night he wanted me to come and live—nearer. I said I would."

"Jennie, don't! Let him go; live on your salary. There'll be Slim; you'll be happy."

"Not me. Slim's sick at himself already, I'm sick of myself, too He—he wouldn't marry me now, you know. He's funny that way. Old-fashioned," Jennie told her with a futile attempt at wise-cracking, and laughed. "Lynn, please see him. Tell him I'm going away; tell him I never want to see him again."

"Jennie, don't you care for him at all?"

JENNIE LOOKED

Jennie looked at her friend Her eyes were a little mad. "Lynn, get wise to yourself. I'll never get over it if I didn't, I'd stay on and two time pay roll. Or give him the air become a working girl again —with a sweetie. But it can't be don't you see that? I'd just drag Slim down. I've done it already. What a fool I've been!" she said bitterly. "I can't see him" I count on you, I'm pulling out of here as soon as I can get packed Jake will stand for the broken lease He'll be good sport."

Lynn said, feeling as if her mind had been beaten black and blue "Then—don't see him, Jennie."

"Probably not. Don't let that worry you." She put her hands on Lynn's shoulders. "You're a good kid. Look here, whatever's wrong between you and Tom, make it up. It doesn't pay not to. You don't know how lucky you are. I do."

"You don't understand."

TOM WAS SUNK

"Yes, I suppose not. Slim told me something, though. Said Tom was sunk. Said he couldn't find out what ails Tom, would say was that you'd let him down; believed something that wasn't so. Don't be that way, Lynn. I don't know what you think he's done or hasn't done. I don't care. Only, if he's your man, what does it matter? Slim's a good sport, he wouldn't to me, murder, arson, robbery

"Lord, if a good guy loves you and is yours—I sound like a torch song. But I mean it. Don't you suppose I'd give all I'm worth for Slim, now that I know? But I was always the dance in my class. I always knew how to do the latest. Well, I'm doing the next best thing for him."

She asked again. "You'll see him won't you? Some one must get to him what I've told you. Just say She's leaving town—and you stay on your own side of the fence."

Lynn promised. A moment later she was out in the corridor The door was shut Jennie was whistling —what was it?—the blues song they had heard at Dwight's so very long ago. Lynn shrank as if she'd been struck.

She went on her way, shuddering as if she had escaped some terrific danger. She had escaped Jennie had shown her the way in which madness lies. There was no longer any temptation in the thought of Dwight

SHE TELEPHONED

That afternoon she telephoned the house on Perry Street If Tom was in Waiting, she felt ill with fear—and with hope

Slim answered

"This is Lynn. I want to see you. It's important I have to go to a class uptown Could you ride up a way with me?"

"Sure I will, Lynn; glad to," he replied, thinking she wanted to talk about Tom. "I had sort of a date, but it's off now, I guess."

He's been trying to phone Jennie, she thought

He came along presently. She was waiting outside the apartment They boarded a bus, found an empty seat.

"What's on your mind?" he asked her.

"I've seen Jennie

"Oh!" He flushed He said, with an effort, "I suppose she—told you?"

Sparing him as much as she could, she denied it. "No, nothing Except I ask me to see you at once and tell you she's leaving she's going away. I can . . . Soon"

"Leaving town?" He was silent a moment. He said presently, "Running away, eh? I suppose she thought I'd follow her. She's wrong."

Lynn said I don't understand Don't be so cryptic Slim" She paused, biting her lip. "I promised her to see you and interpret Jennie to him. It might do him"

"Jennie said I quit, but will I was crazy about her. I wanted her to marry me once She wouldn't

NOTHING HE COULD SAY

He was silent. There was nothing he could say of he things crowding and sounding his mind He had loathed the whole situation It hadn't been his fault he told himself Jennie knew he was crazy about her She must have known how he felt when—when she moved uptown Sick disgusted hating her hating everything. But love even a little sister of love, couldn't. She'd known that too, played him asked him up. Everything was wrong. Everything was spoiled He hates her now more than ever and himself.

Now she was to be the tender, unlonely message Well, good riddance! she'd played pish with him all right

He asked thickly, "Is—is there anything more?"

"No, Slim; that's all," Lynn said

But her eyes pleaded although her mouth was mute Tom! He was her! What was he doing? Did he miss her? Slim Slim tell me about Tom!

Despite his preoccupation, her unspoken longing reached him He said, awkwardly, "Gee, Lynn, I'm sorry about you and Tom. He hasn't say much, but gosh, he's sick! He's working hard, making good. They like him up there. Hasn't says he'll do something big some day; he wants to get into the lab ratory end. If—what'd I tell him I saw you?"

HER MOOD CHANGED

Now her mood had changed, She answered briefly, "If don't care what you tell him, Slim."

"I see" He was silent a moment Then he said, pressing the button "I'll be getting off here. Thanks for calling me."

She said, as he rose, "Jennie shall I tell her—?"

"Never mind telling her anything," he said, in his turn.

She watched him get off, then leaned back and closed her eyes Why had she been so obstinate? Couldn't she have asked first "Has he Tom?" Couldn't she have said "Why doesn't he call me up?" Darn pride, anyway; here; Tom's Slim's, which wouldn't give Jennie the comfort of a word!

She called Jennie at the first opportunity. "I saw him," she stated. There was silence on the other end of the wire.

(To Be Continued)

Copyright, 1932, by International Magazine Co., Inc.

Banana and Peanut Butter Sandwiches

Spread creamed butter on half the slices of bread and peanut butter on the others. On each of the latter slices place a leaf of crisp lettuce, or shredded lettuce, and cover with sliced bananas. Spread with mayonnaise and a dash of salt, and put sandwiches together

Rich Dressing for Pear Combination

A delicious pear combination is to cut the pears in slices and arrange on watercress and lettuce. Make a thick mayonnaise dressing with unbeaten heavy cream and lemon juice so that it is smooth and runny, but not as thin as a French dressing. Pour this over the pears and sprinkle with finely shredded English walnuts and paprika.

Marketing with MARTHA

Good Food Values in and Around Boston

A THIN DIME

WELL RING YOU a copy of that splendid book on entertaining, by a national authority. Recipes, table setting, decorating and serving, menus for dinner menus, fresh ideas for Sunday night suppers and teas, all about buffet receptions, bridge parties, birthday parties for the little folks, parties for every taining and what-not. Let me tell you where to send to get this mighty fine book. The cost of many of the above more elaborately turned out, for $2.00

DELICIOUSLY DIFFERENT is a certain Scotch ham. Mild delicate flavor. Unsmoked. Sweet pickled. Spice and rub flour and brown sugar, dot with cloves cover with milk and bake 45 minutes. Serve with sweet potatoes, candied sweet marshmallows, or fried pineapple slices A product of New England.

ICE BOX COOKIES are aces at bridge parties. Tell darnell, shaped molds with your favorite cookie dough Chill in molds, cut and bake in fast fire. Recipes for Cream Cheese Cookies, Chocolate Dainties, Butter Cookies and Marzipan Dainties, Coffee Leaves and Almond Cookies with every set of molds.

PURE CALIFORNIA grape brandy, with cane sugar is a newcomer in the food world. For sauces, pudding, pastry, flavorings. Improves and mellows cake fillings, toppings, custards, fruit sherbets, ices, sundaes, milk punches, egg nogs, and jellies. Substitute it in place of the sweet called for in your favorite recipes and give your family a treat. Approved by Mr. Volstead

BUY LIFE-TIME INSURANCE against lumpy gravy and sauces. With a nifty sifter. Dip this clever little contraption into flour, shake it lightly over the fat. Blends perfectly. Ideal for sprinkling pies, doughnuts, cakes and cookies with powdered sugar. Sprinkles grated cheese on macaroni bread or cover cover fish and meats, sugar on waffles. Rust-proof. Will last a life time. 35c.

WORTH REPEATING is the news about the "d'fferent" dish towels. Three times as absorbent as the ordinary kind. One dries all the dishes from four-course meal. Need no breaking in. Easy to wash. Lint free and extra large—16x26. And inexpensive when six big ones are only $1.

TAKE THE GUESS WORK out of your cooking. Use government standard measuring cups. One cup, ½ cup, ⅓ cup and ¼ cup sizes. All nested together to hang on one hook. Heavily coated to last a life time. Absolutely accurate. 50c a set of four.

FOR FULL INFORMATION on one or all of these items, send along to me with a loose 3c stamp and the column clipped and checked—and that necessary name and address. More next week, from

Yours faithfully,

MARTHA LEE

for LIGHT CRISPY THRIFTY TASTY

THE SEAL OF ECONOMY & EXCELLENCE

SUMMER SALADS

Fancy Wet Pack SHRIMP or Pink Alaska Salmon 3 CANS 25c

Ecco Shrimp Fancy Large Size 2 cans 25c

Red Salmon Alaska tall can 19c

BEST FOODS or HELLMANN'S MAYONNAISE 8 oz jar 15c pint 29c

ECCO MAYONNAISE 8 oz jar 13c pint 25c

Kirkman's Soap 8 cakes 25c

Mazola Oil pint can 19c

A Very Low Price on Boston's Popular Dish B&M BEANS

Price 8 Months Ago 19c Can

2 CANS LARGE 27c

Choice of California Pea, Yellow Eye or Kidney

Ecco Baked Beans 2 cans 25c

Budweiser Malt can 53c

Sealect Milk Or Van Camp's Evaporated tall can 5c

FREE! PLAY BALL!

With Every Purchase of MILCO MALT

Makes a delicious chocolate drink Serve hot or cold

lb can 39c

Bartlett PEARS Fancy California doz. 25c

Valencia ORANGES California, Good Size doz. 25c

Gravenstein APPLES Fancy 4 lbs 25c

ECONOMY GROCERY STORES ALSO OPERATING GRAY-UNITED STORES

7% Like the Rock of Ages this great Hearst Nationwide Group of 21 to 91 years old newspapers show EARNINGS substantially TWICE over DIVIDENDS in each of the years 1926 1927 1928 1929 1930 1931

ANALYZE OUR RECORD

Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc.

Cumulative Participating Class "A" Shares

Preferred as to Assets and Dividends There Is No Substitute for Earnings

Price $25 a Share

May be purchased on monthly payments

$5 Down and $2 Monthly

All payments earn 7% from date received.

NEW ENGLAND NEWSPAPER PUBLISHING CO
Since Beles Dept. 1 Winthrop Sq., Boston Mass

Please send detailed information regarding Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc., Class "A" shares.

Name .....

Street .....

City .....

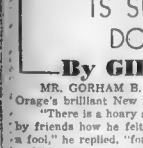
True to Type

DIVIDENDS FOR ALL IS SLOGAN OF DOUGLASITES

By GILBERT SELDES

MR. GORHAM B. MUNSON, representative in America of Orage's brilliant New English Weekly, writes:

"There is a hoary anecdote about the Initiate who was asked by friends how he felt when the Mystery was revealed. "Like a fool," he replied, "for not having discovered the truth for myself." If that is the case with religious Mysteries, how much more the case it must be with purely secular and practical problems (or lesser mysteries) like Economics. When we get to the bottom, we shall find only common sense, which is to say, however, we shall put our hands on something elusive and rare and very difficult to get at. Our trouble in Economics is to realize the simple facts.



GILBERT SELDES

A-B-C to X

"Some months ago I saw in an English periodical a page headed, "Do You Know What You Are Talking About?" The page was filled up with definitions of terms like Gold Standard, Capital, Money, Commodity, and so on. This was an excellent idea. The first thing to do, I should say, in combatting our trade paralysis is to know what we are talking about; so many employers and employed and unemployed and intellectuals do not. If it is the least spectacular of suggestions to urge the putting aside of a little time to acquaint oneself with the fundamentals of Economics (a week of evenings would take one well within the wood), but it would certainly lead to more revolutionary results than the blind protests now accumulating so fast. The dangerous man is the man who has taken thought and then resolved on action; he knows where to strike and what object to gain—unlike the sailors we say in blind mutiny in the film 'Potemkin.'

"But how to begin one's self-education in Economics? Obviously the first step is to define the subject. Well then, Economics is the science of the production and distribution of goods as, when and where required. No one will, no one can, dispute the definition, but scarcely any one grips it hard enough, particularly the part about distribution. For distribution of goods requires, as all of us know, distribution of money or the tickets to claim goods, and we should discover what all of us do not know, that there are in fact two branches of Economics, one Industrial, the other Financial. This classification, obvious as it is when made, is already revolutionary, for practically all reformers today confine themselves to Industrial Economics This is particularly true of Socialists and Communists, whose ignorance of Finance, the controller of Industry is abysmal.

"It is, in fact, hard to grow accustomed to the similarity in technology of the Communist and the Fascist, the Liberal and the Conservative, the workingman and his boss. Yet all alike agree that in the words of Mr. Dooley the aim of an economic system is 'to protect th' poor wurrukin' man so that he'll have to go on wurrukin.' Not one of them has a new attitude toward work and leisure; all share in the notion that jobs must be provided for all and men must be compelled to the them. It makes one wonder what in Heaven's name machinery was invented for, to give more opportunity for leisure to men or to be an obstacle to be painfully surmounted as that men can slave as much as ever? It will be seen that we have progressed from definitions to an inquiry into the purpose of an economic system, and the proposal was once made that the community should vote on this question. Well, why not?

"Major C. H Douglas of England one of the extremely few men revolutionary enough to dream of a completely communist and stand-patter alike, made the proposal of a vote on this question, "Do you want employment, or do you want goods?" Note that a victory for the jobs-program would be a popular approval of the present economic systems of the United States Soviet Russia, Italy and all the other countries. It would say that the people wanted discipline and morals woven into their economic structure, and maybe when the propagandists had finished with their words, the people would vote that way, would endorse a system of reward and punishment disguised as an economic system.

"The campaigners on the other side would argue that what people really want is goods. They will have a Will to Economic Plenty and the sole aim of an economic system is to see that they get it. If it takes only a few men a few hours with the aid of machinery to glut a society, then why introduce friction by employing more men than are needed? Suppose the election went in favor of the goods program then what? There would be more stupendous unemployment than ever before. The sign of progress! Millions retired to the leisure class

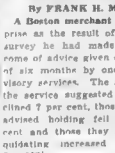
SERVICE STUDY RESULT GIVES BIG SURPRISE

By FRANK H. MELOON

A Boston merchant got a big surprise as the result of a statistical survey he had made of the outcome of advice given over a period of six months by one of the advisory services. The stocks which the service suggested as buys declined 7 per cent, those which they advised holding fell back 5 per cent and those they suggested liquidating increased in value 3 per cent.

* * *

Rep. Richard B. Wigglesworth at Washington assures Quincy doubters that some Quincy granite will be used in the Granite City's new postoffice addition. Every time a new federal building goes up there appears to be about the same amount of talk about Quincy granite, and the unfortunate result is that comparatively little granite is used. When King's Chapel was built some scores of years ago, the writers of history declared not enough granite could be found hereabouts to duplicate it. Which shows that the authorities of the day are not always well-informed.



Congressman R. B. Wigglesworth

Asso. Press Photo

* * *

Another writer calls attention to the increase in public ownership of securities frequently noted in this column. The increasingly broad spread of ownership in basic industries, as indicated by the increase in number of stockholders points directly to a newer and sounder economic structure in America, according to John Y Robbins president of Administrative and Research Corp. New York

"When the stockholders in 100 leading corporations increase from one American citizen in every 20 in 1928, to one in every 16 at the present time it is strong evidence that the masses are keenly interested in rebuilding, not only their personal fortunes but also the welfare and prosperity of their country," says Mr. Robbins. "These stockholders are rebuilding on a basis of stability. They are buying to hold, having for future income and appreciation in mind. In the future these millions of Partners in our great industries will demand of the executives of their companies the management and the economic acumen to avoid the overwhelming losses that is always a part of periods of unusual production and profits, and which results in such periods as we are now experiencing."

Universal Service study shows 15 presidents will long their jobs if the rail unification, plan succeeds. That, finds, to be out the conclusion published here, quite at variance with the one given generally. Our conclusion was that the railroad mergers would be the reverse of helpful to the employment situation. However, it can be pointed out that the mergers are a long way from consummation.

FINANCIAL GAIN WOULD STIMULATE TRADE

By B. C. FORBES

'Twas another encouraging day in the financial world yesterday.

Let security values continue to improve even modestly, and the effect throughout the entire nation is certain to be beneficial. We may dislike the thought that "Wall Street" exercises powerful influence on national sentiment, on business, on commodities, on employment, but the indisputable truth is that what happens in the security markets does have a potent effect upon our whole economic situation.

The present rally is interpreted as the most encouraging of any since the spring of 1930. Bonds have improved even more impressively than stocks. Also, there have lately been very sharp gains in preferred stocks. Traditionally, bonds and preferred stocks lead security recoveries. Improvement proverbially starts at the top, among the best investments, and percolates downwards.

There hasn't been a time in more than two years when so many people were wondering whether the definite turn has at last come. Admittedly, trade and employment have not yet increased substantially. In the old days the security markets were looked to for leadership either upwards or downwards. It may be that once again the security markets are moving ahead of business and that the betterment in bonds and stocks possesses deep significance. Here's hoping!

Opportunity for the Banks

It can be done. America's banks, as a whole, have not earned a reputation for leadership since things began to go wrong. Instead of courage, the public complains that banks have exhibited cowardice, that they set an example in hoarding, that they have aggravated deflation, that they have totally failed to exhibit faith in the future.

Reference recently was made in this column to the fact that banks, instead of having combatted conditions by aggressive, forceful, reassuring advertising, have been guilty of the very reverse.

One bank which struck out bolding three months ago, waging a most vigorous advertising campaign, has actually attracted 130,000 new depositors and $51,000,000 new deposits.

The bank is the Bank of America, of California, and the banker responsible is A. P. Giannini.

Surely that record should prod other important financial institutions into progressive action. If the banks in each of our 12 Federal Reserve districts could be induced to conduct the right kind of campaign in their respective territories, the whole economic tide might be turned, especially now that other vitally important helpful influences are at work.

Shorter Hours Due Workers

Is it any wonder that there is increasing demand for shortening work hours? Consider what has happened in our most important industry, agriculture.

Thanks to mechanical aids, the gain in efficiency per worker has been from 4000 to 12,000 per cent. This has meant a labor deplacement of 97½ to fully 99 per cent.

"These figures," reports the National Industrial Conference Board, a pre-eminently trustworthy research organization, "are based upon the records of the principal wheat growing states of this country."

The amount of labor thus saved can be imagined when it is considered that there are fully 20 farms for each manufacturing concern in the country— more than six million farmers against less than three hundred thousand manufacturing units.

After all, why multiply invention and machinery if the human race is not to be thereby benefitted? It has been benefitted in the past and will be benefitted in the future by wider and wider use of invention and machinery. Temporarily grave trouble has arisen because there was allowed to develop a disparity between machinery and men. Present indications are that the way out lies through shorter work-hours. Happily, progress in this direction is being registered. Unhappily, it has been too slow to prevent appalling unemployment.

Speed up readjustments!

(Copyright, 1932, by B. C. Forbes)

STATE ST.—Hears:

That commission houses generally advised the retention of long stock in the event a corrective reaction develop. They feel that the best near term policy will be accumulation on setbacks for trading purposes, with investment buying held in abeyance for a while longer. A few shorts were active, but for the most part such selling is held up awaiting definite evidence that the rally has exhausted the available good trade news.

Bonds Behave Well

As consistently pointed out here the action of bond prices is of the utmost importance. Once this department is on its feet stocks will take care of themselves. Many vague phrases about the securities pool have created a great deal of uncertainty in the mind of the average investor

On reliable authority, the writer learns that the pool has only accumulated high-grade items. It has entered bids under current prices for some second-grade issues, and at times these bids that current speculation is taking place. Stocks and low-grade stuff are not bought for holding.

Some equities and tertiary liens have apparently been held, but only when some individual or institution was being bailed out. As far as the banks are concerned, it is reported that switching is now taking place with little new buying outside of governments.

Ticker Talk

Douglas Aircraft is said to be in line for a good share of the fall contracts for Government needs This company is regarded as the leader in its field. It specializes in construction, leaving air traffic to the other companies. About $8 a share is available as working capital

If any sizeable liquidation is still to be seen it is likely to show up in the utilities. Important interests are reported to be disposing of long lines in Public Service and Consolidated Gas It may be the last chance to step out of investment holdings in the group.

Allied Chemical, despite the favor in which the chemical group is held, is in heavy supply just above 51. The reason is difficult to locate. Inside of the secrecy surrounding company affairs. It may be that there is something to reports intimating the trade trend is bearish.

Odds and Ends

One of the most astute Washington observers says that important people feel the depression is over . . . At present, the same source says, the country is traveling through the trough, which could last from 60 to 90 days . . . Good news, but no reason to hurry investment programs.

H. E. B

TODAY'S NEWS OF WALL ST. LEADERS

INTEREST centered on the Steel preferred action due after the market closes today. Whatever action is voted will be accompanied by the corporation's second quarter statement and this will hardly make pleasant reading. If the directors maintain the regular dividend, it will therefore be a concession to the revival campaign.

Sees Improved Business Sentiment

According to a highly regarded private Washington source, sentiment is leaning toward a definite turn in the business tide within 60 days.

Bear Ranks Losing Many Constituents

Gradual extension of the stock market rally has begun to thin out the ranks of the speculative bear following, financial circles state. Although reports say one or two aggressive bears still maintain a sizeable short position, it is understood that the upturn thus far has shaken out a large portion of the so-called novices in the art of short selling. Appreciable recoveries scored by some of the low priced specialties recently adds strength to this contention. Some closers to headquarters of the more prominent bear groups assert the position of the latter has undergone little change within the last two weeks.

Banking Opinions More Encouraging

Some important banking opinions heretofore persistently and extremely cautious is now taking a more encouraging view of conditions.

Chesapeake Corp. Yield Is Viewed

Extraordinary yield of about 2[illegible] per cent on Chesapeake Corporation at current prices casts strong suspicion on the safety of the $2 annual dividend The high return prevails in spite of the substantial earnings the corporation still receives from dividends paid on its Chesapeake & Ohio investment, representing its principal asset. Despite this, however, Chesapeake Corporation shares have little or no equity value. The status of the stock depends to a large extent on the outcome of the next Chesapeake & Ohio directors' meeting for dividend action. Expected reduction in the $2.50 rate now paid on the railway stock according to some estimates, would barely enable the Corporation to cover fixed charges.

Consolidated Gas Dividend Outlook

Consolidated Gas directors are expected to declare the usual $1 quarterly dividend on Thursday.

High Yield Senior Stocks in Demand

Recent advance enjoyed by certain low priced preferred stocks suggests that speculative buying of securities affording abnormally high yields is in progress. This demand gave the bond market its initial impetus toward its subsequent impressive gains. Many preferred issues which on present dividends give a return of 20 per cent or so have been conspicuous in the late recovery.

SPECTATOR—Says:

Combined with the facts stocks have been going up with little interruption since the middle of last week, it is well to begin watching your step. Your caution should include the short side as well, however. There is no secret about the resistance level, everyone is looking for a reaction there, and bearing the market at this point may cause you trouble.

Test Point

The market has advanced in within striking distance of the 81-82 level on the industrial averages, an important test point.

Stocks have been taking a lot of profit-taking in the last two days and haven't been affected very much. The way the rails turned up after only a slight setback is an example.

One important change in the situation is that some smart traders are switching ground to the belief the market is a buy on reactions rather than a sale on rallies.

Leadership Seen

If this wins more converts, it will be significant since "sell 'em on rallies" has been the slogan for a long time . . . while obviously artificial, it must be said that the market has some leadership . . . the pace is being set by the best stocks on the board, like Standard of New Jersey, Steel, Telephone, Can, Gas, Union Pacific and Atchison . . .

The volatile Auburn has been quiet, much to everyone's relief, for few days it might run into another spill and spoil things . . . Of course, a lot of low-priced and less desirable issues are being dressed up for window effect as if they were going places, but this always develops when the market improves.

LOFT SALES IN HALF-YEAR UP

Loft, Inc., reports sales in June totaled $1,019,355, a gain of $17,755 over June last year, or 4.01 per cent. Sales for the first six months of 1932 were $5,913,795, a gain of 7.5 per cent above the first half of 1931

The company reports an increase in expenditures for newspaper advertising during the first half of 1932 of $70,000, approximately 35 per cent over the sum spent in the first six months of the preceding year

During the first half of the year, the company states, customers increased by 1,347,636

New York Bonds

	High	Low	Last
Lib 3½s 1932-47	102 2	101 2	102 2
Lib 4¼s-4s 47-52	103 24	103 24	103 24
Lib 4¼s 1933-38	103 24	103 24	103 24
Treas 4½s 1947-52	106 18	106 14	106 14
Treas 4¼s reg 1952	109 28	109 28	109 28
Treas 3¼s 1946-56	101 2	101 2	101 2
Treas 3¼s 1943-47	103	103	103
Treas 3¼s 40-43 Jun	100	99 10	99 10
Treas 3¼s 41-43 Mar	100	99 10	99 10
Treas 3¼s 46-49	96 27	96 27	96 27
Treasury 4s 1944-54	109 28	109 28	109 28
Antioch Bridge 5s 53	24½	22½	23½
Ark Wat Wks cons 1st 6s	102	102	102
Ark Wat Wks ref 1st 6s	85	85	85
Atl Coast Ln 4s 52 ctf	70	70	70
Balti & Ohio 4½s 60	27½	26½	26½
Balti & Ohio 5s 1950	27½	26½	26½
Beaver Bd 6s 1951	85	85	85
Bell Tel Pa 5s A	102½	102½	102½
Can Gt Ch Ry 4s 61	40	40	40
Can Nat 4½s 51	83	83	83
Can Nat 4s 51	83	83	83
Can Pac 4s 1960	77	77	77
Can Pac 5s 1942	76	76	76
Chesapeake Ohio 5s 47	102	102	102
Chesapeake Ohio 5s 56	102	102	102
Chi Mil & St Pa 4½s	21	20½	20½
Chi Mil & St Pa 5s A	21	20½	20½
Chi & N W 4½s conv A 49	18	17	17
Chi & N W 5s 1987	19	18½	18½
Chi R I & Pac 4½s 52	13	12	12
Chi R I & Pac 5s 1934	45	45	45
Chi R I & Pac 5s 1952	13	12	12
Chi R I & Pac 6s 1952	13	12	12
Chi Ter R R 4½s 1960	87	87	87
Chi Ter R R 5s 1960	87	87	87
Colo & Sou 4½s 80	20½	20	20
Colo & Sou 4½s A 80	20½	20	20
Columbia T&R 6s 47	100	100	100
Cuba Nor Ry 5½s ser F 77	50	50	50
Del Lack & W 5s 1963	84	84	84
Denver & R G 5½s 1955	27½	27½	27½
Denver & R G 5½s 1978	27½	27½	27½
Humble O & R 5s 37	102	102	102
Ill Cent 4s 66 ctf	36	35½	35½
Ill Cent 5s 1963	36	35½	35½
Int Rap Tr cv 5s 52	68	68	68
Interstate Pr 5s 48	32	32	32
Int Pap 6s 55	15½	14½	14½
Kendall Mill 6s ser 48	100	100	100
Kentucky & T 5s 50 ww	11	11	11
Laclede Gas 5½s 53	50	50	50
Leh V (Cal) con 4½s 2003	42½	42½	42½
Leh V (N Y) 4½s 2003	42½	42½	42½
L & N 4s 40	78½	78½	78½
Mid Steel Pr 6s 67	75	75	75
Mo P RR gen 4s 75	13½	12½	12½
Mo P RR ref 5s A 77	13½	12½	12½
Mo P RR 5s G 78	27½	27½	27½
Nat Dairy 5½s 48	85½	84	84
Nat Dairy 5½s 48	85½	84	84
Kendall Mill 6s ser 48	100	100	100
NYC & St L 4½s 78	23	22	22
N Y Cent 4½s 2013	56	55½	55½
N Y Ed 5s C 51	102	101	101
N Y Ed 5s ref 1st 52	102½	102½	102½
Pac Pub Ser 5s '36	9½	9½	9½
Paramt Pict 5½s 47	39	39	39
Penn Cri Ry 5½s	103½	103	103
Penn R R gen 4½s 65	33	33	33
Phila R C & I 4s 49	38
Phila Rap Tr 5s 62	36	35	35
Singer Mfg	90½	90	90
Smith A O	18½	18½	19½
Southern Ry Royalty	18	18	18
Std Oil Ind	21½	21½	21½
Std Oil Ky	18	18	18
Std Oil Nat	13	13	13
Sun Inv pf	19½	19½	19½
Swift & Co new	12	11½	11½
Syracuse Ry 5s	2½	2½	2½
Technicolor	1½	1½	1½
Teck Hughes G	2	2	2
Tobac Prod Exp 5½s	8 16	8 16	8 16
Trans Lux	2	2	2
United Corp war	1¾	1½	1¾
United Elec Serv	¾	¾	¾
Un Founders Corp	¾	¾	¾
United Gas
do pf	25½	25½	25½
United L & P A	2½	2½	2½
United Shoe M	28½	28½	28½
Utility Equity
Utilit P&L pf	15½	15½	15½
Venezuela	¾	¾	¾

New York Curb

	High	Low	Last
Allied Mills	3	3	3
Alum Co of Am	38½	38½	38
Alum Co of Am pf	42½	41½	42½
Alum Ltd pf	24¾	24¾	24¾
Am Beverage	5¾	5¾	5¾
Am Cities Pwr B	1¾	1½	1¾
Am Cyanam B	2¾	2¾	2¾
Am F Pw war	1¾	1¾	1¾
Am Gas & El	19¾	19	19½
Am Light & T	15¾	15¾	15¾
Am Maracaibo	1	1	1
Am Superpower	1¾	1¾	1¾
Ark Natl Gas A	1¾	1¾	1¾
Assoc Gas & E A	1¾	1¾	1¾
Atlas Corp	5¾	5¾	5¾
Atlas Util pf A	33¾	33¾	33½
Axton Fisher A	30	30	30
Brazil Trac	8½	8½	8½
Ruft N & EP inf	80½	80½	80½
Bulova Watch pf	9½	9½	9½
Cana Dry	26	26	26
Cent Hud G & E vtc	12¾	12¾	12¾
Cent Sta El	¾	¾	¾
Chain Stores	4	4	4
Cities Serv	2¾	2¾	2¾
Cities S P & L 6 pf	18¾	18½	18½
Claude Neon Ltd	¾	¾	¾
Cleveland El Ill	24	24	24
Colon Oil	1	¾	1
Colum G&E cv pf 53	52½	53
Colum Oil & Gas vtc	¾	¾	¾
Comm Edison	59	59	59
Cmnwl & S war	5-16	5-16	5-16
Cons Gas Balto	49¾	48¾	48¾
Cord Corp	2¾	2¾	2¾
Creole Petrol	23¾	23¾	23¾
Cresson Con S & Ir	5-16	5-16	5-16
Crown Cent Pet	¾	¾	¾
Crown Cork Int A	2¾	2¾	2¾
Davega Stores	6	6	6
DeForest Rad	¾	¾	¾
East Gas & F	7¾	7	7
Elec B & S	7¾	7¾	7¾
Elec B & S pf	27	26	27
Elec B & S cum pf	25	24	24
Elec Pwr Assn	4	4	4
Elec P Assn A	3¾	3¾	3¾
Elec P & L 2 pf	9¾	9¾	9¾
Empire G&F 6½ pf	18	18	18
Empire D El pf	16¾	16¾	16¾
Engel Motors	¾	¾	¾
Federal Bake Shops	1¾	1¾	1¾
Ford of Can A	6½	6½	6½
Gen Pub Svc 6 pf	15¾	15¾	15¾
Glen Alden Coal	11¾	11	11¾
Gray Tel PS	24	24	24
Gt A&P Tea nv	110	110	110
Gt A&P Tea 7 pf	116½	116½	116½
Gulf Oil	33¾	33¾	33¾
Hudson Bay	1¾	1¾	1¾
Hydro Elec Sec	5¾	5¾	5¾
Imper Oil Can new	8¾	8¾	8¾
Indep Terr Oil B	2¾	2¾	2¾
Insull Ut Inv	¾	¾	¾
Internat Pet	10¼	10¼	10¼
Kress Co sp pf	10	10	10
Lake Shore Mines	26½	26½	26½
Lefcourt Realty	1½	1½	1½
Leonard Oil	¾	¾	¾
Lone Star G	5¾	5¾	5¾
McCord Rad B	1	1	1
Metro Edison pf	48	48	48
Mountain Prod	3¾	3¾	3¾
Nat Aviation	3	3	3
Nat Bond & Sh	21¾	21¾	21¾
Nat Fuel Gas	10	10	10
Nat P&L pf	57	56	57
New Eng Pow pf	30½	30½	30½
New Jersey Zinc	28¾	28¾	28¾
New Mex & Ari	¾	¾	¾
Newmont Min	7¾	7¾	7¾
Nlag Hud Pow n	9¾	9¾	9¾
Ohio Brass B	51	51	51
Pacific Gas pf	25¾	25¾	25¾
Pantepec Oil	5-16	¼	5-16
Pennroad vtc	2	1¾	1¾
Penn Water	41¾	41¾	41¾
Pen Mills pf	78¾	78¾	78¾
Phila Co	7½	7½	7½
Phila Co	7½	7½	7½
Pitney Bowes	21	21	21
Pittsb Pl Glass	13¼	13¼	13¼
Pyrene Mfg	2¾	2¾	2¾
Radio Corp	5¾	5¾	5¾
Rwy & Li Sec	4	4	4
Royal Typewr	4¼	4¼	4¼
St Anthony Gold	1-16	1-16	1-16
St Regis Pap	2¼	2¼	2¼
Salt Creek Pro	4¾	4¾	4¾
Sec Allied Corp	5	5	5
Seval Lock	¾	¾	¾
Select Indus	¾	¾	¾
Select Ind 2 pf	36	36	36
Singer Mfg	90¼	90	90
Smith A O	18¾	18¼	19¼
Southern Ry Royalty	18	18	18
Std Oil Ind	21¾	21½	21¾
Std Oil Ky	18	18	18
Std Oil Nat	13	13	13
Sun Inv pf	19¾	19¼	19¼
Swift & Co new	12	11¾	11¾
Syracuse Ry	2¾	2½	2½
Technicolor	1¾	1¾	1¾
Teck Hughes G	2	2	2
Tobac Prod Exp 5½s	8 16	8 16	8 16
Trans Lux	2	2	2
United Corp war	1¾	1½	1¾
United Elec Serv	¾	¾	¾
Un Founders Corp	¾	¾	¾
United Gas
do pf	25½	25½	25½
United L & P A	2½	2½	2½
United Shoe M	28¾	28¾	28¾
Utility Equity
Utilit P&L pf	15¾	15¾	15¾
Venezuela	¾	¾	¾

BRITISH BAR SPEECH U. S. RADIO NETWORK CARRIED

By N. F. T.

Our Anglo-Saxon cousins in charge of our air activity across the Atlantic, appear to have become jolly-well hard boiled about their bally old broadcasting, by jove!

* * *

LITTERANCES UNWELCOME

In merrie old England wireless is a strictly government owned proposition. And this past week one of John Bull's revered royals was denied permission to make an address he had previously delivered via American network facilities Winston Churchill is the notable whose remarks were rejected by British Broadcasting Company leaders. According to conservative "mike" moguls of Britannia, his criticism having to do with monetary systems of the world, should hardly be heralded at this time

* * *

Uncle Sam allowed his nephews and nieces to hear the same speech by Churchill over our own NBC chain last May. Moreover, the most damaging statement during it all seemed to be: "I believe something has gone wrong with the monetary system." It's difficult to conceive that expression crashing out of the air to threaten a world hard at work. Thus we get an idea of the rigid censorship restrictions in force there on those isles. When their George Bernard Shaw holds forth, however, and facetiously banters about us as "boobs," they laugh loudly. In fact, we ourselves relish his periodical radio rollicking, even if we don't exactly spit our sides.

* * *

DECIDEDLY DIFFERENT

Head men for the BBC insist upon looking over speeches of all prominent figures, both native and foreign born, before airing any address. Listeners of America are not denied voices of European thinkers on this basis so there may be something in that old wheeze regarding our international sense of humor seeming superior.

We are not likely to hear a lot of what Winston Churchill thinks henceforth. What a bloomin' pity, eh! We're sincerely sorry, old chap, really! Cheerio, anyhow.

* * *

OUT OF TOWN OPINION

Since your sometimes critical "colyum" pilot is at present vacationing in the vicinity of Philadelphia, he naturally takes in comparing radio offerings heard in Philly studios with those staged in Bay State sound sanctums. Trying to avoid being provincially prejudiced, his opinion of "The Children's Hour" featured Sundays over WCAU doesn't measure up to Boston juvenile programs directed by Bob (Big Brother) Emery through WNAC-WAAB. Not by a lengthy lot.

Evening American on the Air

THE GLOBE TROTTER

of the Boston American and Hearst Metrotone News

A complete radio daily newspaper—75 minutes of news, markets, fashions, features, sports and special entertainment.

213 M.—STATION WAAB—1410 Kil.

250 M.—WORC, Worcester—1200 Kil.

7:45- 8:00 A. M.—CITY EDITION OF THE AIR.
11:00-11:15 A. M.—FEATURE PERIOD
Mon., Wed., and Fri.—Martha Lee's Homemaking Class.
Tuesday—Uncle Ted, Farm and Garden Talk.
Thursday—Ann Arden on Fashions.
Saturday—Feature Forecaster; News Flashes.
12:00-12:15 P. M.—PEACH EDITION OF THE AIR
2:45- 3.00 P. M.—SEVEN STAR EDITION OF THE AIR.
Stock Market Quotations; News Flashes
7:00- 7:15 P. M.—SEVEN O'CLOCK EDITION OF THE AIR
News Flashes; Features.

For Those Who Dance

6:45—WAAB—Noble Sissle music
7:15—WNAC—Ozzie Nelson music
8:15—WNAC—Abe Lyman Band.
8:30—WAAB—Dietaters.
9:00—WNAC—Hal Kemp music
10:00—WEEI—"Magic Carpet."
10:15—WBZ—Rines' Orchestra.
10:30—WAAB—Isham Jones' music.
11:00—WAAB—Martin Orchestra.
11:30—WNAC—Sodero Orchestra.
12:15—WNAC—Harold Stern music.
13:30—WNAC—Gus Arnheim music.

Ten High Spots

8:00—WAAB—Kenneth Collins.
7:45—WNAC—Georgie Price.
8.00—WBZ—"Skyscraper."
8.30—WEEI—Walter Smith Band
9:00—WBZ—Edgar A. Guest.
9:30—WEEI—Ed Wynn.
10.00—WNAC—Alex Gray.
11:15—WBZ—Sodero concert.
11:30—WAAB—Sherman concert.
12:00—WAAB—Little Jack Little.

Tuesday, July 26

8:00 P. M.

WAAB—Kenneth Collins, talk
WNAC—Scores: news; variety.
WBZ—Sport talk; organ: news
WEEI—Daily Tatler.
WLOE—Mother Goose Club.
6:15 P. M.
WAAB—Reis and Dunn.
6:30 P. M.
WAAB—Scores: Jack Miller music
WNAC—Big Brother.
WBZ—Gov. Winant of N. H.
WEEI—News; organ.
WHDH—Wabash Poet.
WLOE—Bennie's Orchestra.
6 45 P. M.
WAAB—Noble Sissle music.
WNAC—Chandu
WBZ—Lowell Thomas Topics.
7:00 P. M.
WAAB—American Globe Trotter; Ed Young, Yankee Philosopher.
WNAC—Ukulele Ike.
WBZ—Amos 'n' Andy.
WEEI—Phil Saltman, piano
WHDH—Privateers
7:15 P. M.
WAAB—Big Brother.
WNAC—Ozzie Nelson orchestra
WBZ—William Cronin, songs.
WEEI—Al Bernard, songs.
7:30 P. M.
WAAB—Piano recital
WNAC—Connie Boswell.
WBZ—Stebbins Boys.
WEEI—Ray Perkins.
WHDH—Radio program.
WLOE—Play Shop.
7:45 P. M.
WAAB—Sherman Band.
WNAC—Georgie Price.
WBZ—Violin recital.
WEEI—Rise of the Goldbergs.
8:00 P. M.
WAAB—Gossipers.
WNAC—Edwin C. Hill.
WBZ—Skyscraper.
WEEI—Crumit and Sanderson.
WLOE—Recital; variety hour.
8:15 P. M.
WAAB—Dance Marathon.
WNAC—Abe Lyman Band.
WHDH—Scotch fiddlers.
8:30 P. M.
WAAB—Fred Rich Dictators.
WNAC—Adrian O'Brien.
WBZ—Jack and Jane.
WEEI—Walter Smith concert.
8:45 P. M.
WAAB—Book chat.
WNAC—Joe Palooka.
WBZ—Gil Hamlin, tenor.
9:00 P. M.
WAAB—"Cobra."
WNAC—Ben Bernie's music.
WBZ—Celebrities.
WHDH—Blue Rhythm Boys.
9:30 P. M.
WAAB—Watertown A. L. Band
WNAC—Crime Club.
WBZ—Goldman's Band.
WEEI—Fire Chiefs.
10:00 P. M.
WAAB—Scores; news
WNAC—Music That Satisfies.
WBZ—Country Doctor
WEEI—"Magic Carpet" hour.
10:15 P. M.
WAAB—Fast Freight.
WNAC—Dance Orchestra.
WBZ—Joe Rines' Orchestra
10:30 P. M.
WAAB—Isham Jones' music.
WNAC—Johnny Hamp's music.
10:45 P. M.
WBZ—News.
11:00 P. M.
WAAB—Martin's Orchestra.
WNAC—News.
WBZ—Sport review.
WEEI—Forecasts; news.
11:15 P. M.
WNAC—Orrin Tucker.
WBZ—Sodero concert.
WEEI—Ventre's Orchestra
11:30 P. M.
WAAB—Barlow Orchestra.
WNAC—Moore's Orchestra.
12:00 MID.
WNAC—Little Jack Little.
12:15 A. M.
WNAC—Stern's Orchestra.
12:30 A. M.
WNAC—Gus Arnheim Orchestra.

Boston Stations

Kilocycles		Meters
1410	WAAB	213
1230	WNAC	244
900	WBZ	333
590	WEEI	508
1500	WLOE	200
880	WHDH	341
920	WBSO	326

PRICE CHANGES PROVE NARROW IN WALL ST.

New York, July 26—Price changes proved narrow in today's trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The market coursed into a moderate flurry of profit taking in the first hour, but the selling movement son spent itself, and partial recovery was soon accomplished.

STEEL PREFERRED ERRATIC

U. S. Steel preferred rose a point at the opening, reacted to sell 1¼ under, and stiffened again. American Sumatra Tobacco was a firm feature, up over 1 to a new 1932 high.

Losses of from ¾ to 1¼ were partly regained in such issues as Standard of N. J., American Can, American Tobacco B, Eastern, National Biscuit, Corn Products and Union Pacific. U. S. Steel common and American Telephone sagged about ½ point before meeting support.

Prices continued on the ascendancy for the most part in bond dealings, through with resistance level at which it had been turned back in June, was surprising even to the more optimistic.

While overnight news included some further indications of scattered business pickups, and of a seasonal character, indications of fundamental changes in business were still lacking. But the action of the market had made a decidedly favorable impression in financial quarters, although a number of brokerage advices suggested that the rally may have been too fast, and that a setback may be in order.

Weekly consolidated condition statement of reserve member banks in 101 leading cities again indicated no letup in curtailment of bank credit. Loans and investments dropped $165,000,000 during the week, with the principal shrinkage in the New York area.

The principal drop was $113,000,000 in "all other" or commercial loans, indicating that business borrowers are either not seeking or getting credit. Pressure of security collateral loan liquidation was also heavy, this item declining only $8,000,000. Investments were cut by $24,000,000, of which two-thirds represented sales of United States governments, possibly in anticipation of the new offering.

Boston Stocks

	High	Low	2:00	Chge.
Am Can	86¾	84½	86½	+ ½
Am Pow Pr	3¾	3¾	3¾
Am Sugar	21¾	22½	21¾	+ ¼
Atchison RR	28½	27½	28¼	– ¾
Am Tel	70¾	70	70¾
Am Wool pf	22¾	21¾	22¾	+ ¾
Anaconda	4¾	4¾	4¾	+ ⅛
Balt & Ohio	4¾	4½	4¾
Bendix	6¾	6¾	6¾	– ⅛
Beth Steel	12¼	12¼	12¼	– ⅛
Bos & Me	84½	84½	84½
Bos Elevated	71	70	71	+ ¾
B & M	8	8	8
do pr	20	20	20	+2½
do A stp	8	8	8	+ ⅛
Briggs	3⅞	3⅞	3⅞
Brown & Co pf	1	1	1
Chrysler	8½	8¼	8⅜	+ ⅛
Col Gas	8	7⅞	8	+ ⅛
Commw'th Sv	2⅜	2⅜	2⅜
Con Gas	42¼	41¾	41¾	+ ¾
Cop Range	1½	1½	1½
E G & E A	8	7	7	– ½
do pr	46	46	46	+2
do p pr	58½	57½	58¼	– ⅛
Eastern S S	6¾	6¾	6¾
Edison	150	148	150	+5
Employers Grp	4¾	4¾	4¾	+ ⅛
Elec B & S	3	3	3
First Nat St	42¾	42¼	42¾	– ⅛
Gen Capital	12¼	12	12¼	+1⅛
Gen Electric	12¼	12¼	12¼
Gen Foods	24¾	23¾	24¼	+ ½
Gillette	17¼	16¾	16¾	– ¾
Goodyear	10¼	10¼	10¼
Hygr Spiy pr	55	55	55	+5
Int Hyd Elec	5¼	5	5¼
Int Tel	2⅜	2⅜	2⅜
Mergenthaler	23	22	23	+ 2
Mohawk	11¾	11¼	11½
Mont Ward	11¾	11¼	11¾	+ ¼
Nash	10	10	10
N E Tel	70¾	69	70¾	+ 1¾
New York Air	19¾	19¾	19¾
No American	19	18½	18⅝	– ⅛
Old Colony	64	60	64	+14
Pacific Mills	6¾	6¾	6¾	+ ⅛
Packard	2¼	2	2¼	+ ¼
Penn RR	10¾	9¾	10¾	+ ⅝
Quincy	4	4	4
Radio Corp	4⅞	4⅜	4⅞	+ ⅛
Reece B H	5	5	5	+1
Shawmut	5	5¼	5¼	– ⅛
Std Brands	12¾	12	12¾	– ⅛
Stone & Web	6¾	6¾	6¾
Sullivan Mach	6	6	6
Swift & Co	12¾	11¾	11¾	– ⅜
Torrington	27½	26¾	27	+ ¼
Un Aircraft	10¾	10¼	10¾	+ ¼
Un Carbide	19¾	18¾	18¾	– ⅝
Un Gas	6¾	6½	6¾	+ ⅛
Un Founders	1	1	1	+ ⅛
United Fruit	20¼	19½	19¾	– ⅝
Un Shoe Mch	14¾	14¼	14¾	+ ⅛
United Shoe	28¾	28¼	28¾	+ ¾
do pf	30	30	30	+ ½
U S Steel	26¾	25¾	26¾	+ ⅝
Utah Apex	40c	40c	40c	–5c
Vt & Mass	68	68	68	+ 5
WaithmWpr pf	80	80	80
Warren Bros	3¾	3¼	3¼
Westinghouse	20¾	19¾	20¾	+ ⅝

BONDS

E Mass 6s	28½	28½	28½	– ½

Boston Curb

Sales	High	Low	Last
70 Appleton Co	2¾	2	2¾
200 Blk Hawk Con	14c	14c	14c
100 Castype Cor Am	2¼	2¼	2¼
100 Cons M & Pr	50c	50c	50c
25 Dollar Inv Tr	1¼	1¼	1¼
100 Stnd'k Den Mng	1¼	1¼	1¼
25 Un Verde Ext	1¾	1¾	1¾
800 Utah Vana Aer	1¼	1 1-16	1¼

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

Yesterday's sales 1,500,000
Week ago 800,000
Year ago 572,580

1932 to date 190,780,910
1931 to date 360,645,675
1930 to date 360,715,125

1932— High	Low	Stock	Sales Hundreds	Open	High	Low	2:00	Net Change
		—A—
23	½	Abitibi P & Pa	400	¾	¾	¾	¾
5¾	1¼	Abr & Strauss	100	12½	13½	12½	13½	+1
5¾	1¼	Adams Ex	1400	2¾	3¼	2¾	3¼	+½
61¾	1.40	Affiliated Prod	100	6¾	6¾	6¾	6¾
62½	30¾	Air Reduction	1200	38¼	38¾	37½	38	– ¼
		Airway Elec	100	¾	¾	¾	¾
18¾	7¾	Alaska Juneau	400	11	11	10¾	10¾	– ⅛
73¾	29¾	Allegh Corp	200
7¾	¾	Allen C of ww	800	1¼	1¼	1¼	1¼
13	5¼	Alleghany Sti	100	7¾	7¾	7¾	7¾
87½	46¾	Allied Ch & Dy	10200	81¾	85½	80¾	80¾	– ¾
13¾	4	Allis-Chalm	400	5¾	6¼	5¾	5¾	+ ⅛
10	4¼	Alpha Port C	100	6¼	6¼	6¼	6¼	– ⅛
18	12	Amerada Corp	100	18	18	18	18
7½	3½	Am Agri Chem	100	5¼	5¼	5¼	5¼	+ ¼
18¾	3¼	Am Bk Note	200	5¾	5¾	5¾	5¾
15¾	6½	Am B Sh Fdy	600	9	9	9	9	+ ½
73¾	29¾	American Can	12700	85¾	89¾	84½	85¼	+ ¼
129	93¾	Amer Can pf	100	105¼	105¼	105¼	105¼	+ ¼
6	3¼	Am Cr & Fdv	200	5¾	6¼	6¼	6¼	+ ¼
39¾	16	Am C & Fdv pf	200	24¾	24¾	24¾	24¾	+ ¼
26	7	Am Encaus Pf	100	10	10	10	10	+1½
37¾	18	2.25 Amer Chicle	200	29	29	28½	28½	– ½
15¾	5	Am Com Alco	1100	14¾	15	14¾	14¾	– ⅛
5	1	Am Encaus Til	500	1½	1½	1½	1½	+ ⅛
10¾	2¾	Am Euro Sec	200	4	4	4	4
9¼	3¾	Amer For Pwr	200	3¾	3¾	3¾	3¾
38½	5	Am F Pwr pf	400	12¾	13	12¾	13	+ ⅜
17¾	2¾	Am F Sec pf	300	7¼	7¼	7¼	7¼	+ ¼
1¾	1	Am H & Lea	100	1¼	1¼	1¼	1¼	– ⅛
51¾	25	4.20 Am Home Prd	1200	31¼	31½	30½	31½	+ ¾
21¾	8¾	Am Ice	400	10¾	10¾	10¾	10¾	– ¼
8¼	2½			4¾	4¾	4¾	4¾	+ ¼
9¼	7¾	Amer Loco	900	8¾	8¾	8¾	8¾
22¾	7¼	.80 Amer Mch F pf	500	10¾	10¾	10¼	10¼	– ¼
6¾	1½	Amer Metal	1000	2½	2½	2¼	2¼	+ ⅛
19¾	6¼	Am Mct Soc pf	100	8¾	8¾	8¾	8¾
16¾	3	Am Pwr & Lt	1800	5½	5¾	5½	5½	+ ⅛
49¾	10	Am P & L Soc pf	200	21¾	21¾	21¾	21¾	+ ¼
18	3¼	A P & L 1 pf	1000	15¾	15¾	15¾	15¾	+ ¼
1½	3¼	Am R & S San	4000	4¼	5	4¼	4¼	+ ⅛
8¾	3	Am Rolling M	600	6¼	6¾	6¼	6¾
38¾	24	Am San & Ref	2300	34	34¾	34	34¾
85	22	Am Sm & Rf	300	31	32¼	31	32	+1
8¾	3	Am Sti Fdry	300	5¼	5¼	5¼	5¼	+ ⅛
36¾	24	Amer Stores	100	26	26	26	26
59¾	13	Am Sugar Ref	200	21¾	21¾	21¾	21¾	– ¼
6	1¼	Am Sumatra	1100	3¾	4	3¾	4	+1⅛
137¾	70½	Am Tel & Tel	10600	70¾	73¾	70¾	73¾	– ¾
86¾	49¾	Am Tob	900	58½	59¾	58½	59¾
89¾	44	Am Tob B	6800	60½	60¾	58¾	59¾	– ¼
110¾	95½	Am Type Fdrs	100	109¼	110	109¼	110	+ ¼
70	30	Am Tvpw F pf	900	58½	59¾	58½	59¾	+ ¾
34½	11	Am Wat Wks	2400	15¾	15¾	14¾	14¾	– ¼
75	26	Am W Wks pf	100	50½	50½	50½	50½	– ¼
5¾	1¾	Am Woolen	100	2¾	2¾	2¾	2¾
20¾	15¼	Am Woolen pf	2600	22	23¾	22	23¾	+1
12¾	3	Anaconda Con	100	4¼	4¼	4¼	4¼	+ ⅛
17¾	3¼	Anderson C Corp	100	6¾	7¾	6¾	7¾	+ ¾
74	40	5.50 Anchor Cap pf	10	44	44	44	44
4¾	1¾	Andre Cor Mn	100	1¼	1¼	1¼	1¼	+ ⅛
2	1	Armour of Ill A	400	1¼	1½	1¼	1½	+ ⅛
8¾	3	Assoc Dry Gds	300	3¾	3¾	3¾	3¾	– ⅛
94	17¾	Atch T & S F	2600	27¾	28¼	27¾	28¼	– ¼
86	35	Atch T&SF pf	300	51	51½	51	51¼	+1⅛
41¾	9¾	Atl Coast Line	100	14¼	14¼	14	14	– ¼
15¾	9¾	Atl G & W I pf	200	8¾	8¾	8¾	8¾
16¾	8¾	Atlantic Ref	14300	16	16	15¾	15¾
1514	28¼	6.4 Auburn Auto	8600	55	57¾	54½	56¼	+ ¼
3½	1.a	Aviation Del	300	2¼	2¼	2¼	2¼	– ⅛
8½	2	Baldwin Loco	200	4½	4½	4¾	4¾	+ ⅛
28½	8	Bald Loco pf	90	14	14½	14	14	– ¾
21¾	4¾	Balt & Ohio	1500	8¼	8¼	8¼	8¼
41¾	6	Balt & Ohio pf	300	12	12¼	12	12
92	6.50	Bamberg Co pf	40	90½	90½	90½	90½	+1
43¾	16¼	Barnsdall Co	10300	5¾	5¾	5	5¼	– ⅛
43¾	16¼	Beatrice Cr	100	18¾	18¾	18½	18¾	– ⅛
44¾	29¾	Beech-N Pkng	100	34	34	34	34	+1
6¾	3¼	Beld Hem ww	100	3¾	3¾	3¾	3¾	– ⅛
18¾	4½	Bendix Aviation	500	6¾	6¾	6½	6½	– ⅛
24¾	4¾	Bendix & Co	1400	6¾	6¾	6¾	6¾	– ⅛
24¾	7¾	Bethlehem Stl	2600	12½	12½	12¾	12¾
43¾	16¾	Beth Stl Tec pf	3400	27¾	27¾	27½	27½
22¾	4¾	Bohn Alumin	200	8¾	8¾	8¾	8¾	+ ⅛
43¾	20	2 Borden Co	1800	25¾	25¾	25¾	25¾	– ⅛
3	¾	Borg Warner	100	5	5	5	5
14½	4	Bos & Me RR	400	5½	5	5½	5
11¾	2¾	Briggs Mfg	400	4	4	4	4
3¾	1¼	Brkway Mot T	400	1¾	1¾	1¾	1¾
50¼	11¾	Bklyn Manhat	4500	22½	22½	22¼	22½	+ ¼
78¾	31½	Bklyn Man rf	2100	54½	54¾	53¾	54¾	+ ¾
99½	46	5 Bklyn Un Gas	300	60	60¾	60	60¾
58	23¼	Bklyn Un rf	100	35¾	35¾	35¾	35¾	+1¼
		Brunswick Ter	100	¾	1	¾	1	+ ⅛
5	1½	Bucy Eric Co	100	3½	3½	3½	3½	– ⅛
8¼	2¼	Bus E C & V pf	100	4¾	4¾	4¾	4¾	+ ¼
3¾	½	Budd Mfg	100	⅞	⅞	⅞	⅞
13	6¾	.60 Burro A Mach	800	8	8	6¾	8
21¾	6¾	Bush Terminal	400	8	8	8	8	+ ⅛
85	12¾	7 Bush Trm deb	20	12	12¾	12	12¾	+1⅛
85	12¾	7 Bush T B rf	10	21	21	21	21
¾	¼	Butler Bros	200	¾	¾	¾	¾
19	7	Byers (A M) Co	2500	10¾	11¾	10½	11¼	+ ⅜
11¾	4¼	Calif Packing	100	6¾	6¾	6¾	6¾	+ ⅛
4	1¼	Cal & Hecla	200	2¾	2¾	2¾	2¾	+ ⅛
1¾	1.20	Can Dry Gin Ale	600	1¾	1¾	1¾	1¾
2¾	1.25	Canadian Pac	2900	13¾	13¾	13	13	– ⅛
6¾	1¼	Can Admin	100	4¼	4¼	4¼	4¼	+1
43¾	16¾	Case Thresh M	200	26¼	26¼	26¼	26¼
75	30	Case Threst pf	10	46½	50	46½	50	+7
15	6¾	Caterpillar	600	6¾	6¾	6¾	6¾	+ ⅛
16¾	7¾	1.50 Cent Aguir A	200	16	16	16	16	– ¼
7¾	25	Cent RR of NJ	100	42	42	42	42	+ ¾
6¾	2¾	Cent Stat Mills	100	6¼	6¼	6¼	6¼
15	3¼	Cerro De Pas	400	6	5¾	5¾	6	+ ⅛
3¾	1¾	Checker Cab	200	2¼	2¼	2¼	2¼	+ ⅛
20¾	4¾	Chesa Corp	200	6¾	6¾	6¾	6¾
31½	9¼	2.50 Chesap & O	3500	13¾	13¾	12¼	13¼	– ⅛
4¾	1¾	Chicago Gt W	200	2¾	2¾	2¾	2¾	+ ⅛
15¾	2½	Chi Gt West pf	300	6¾	6¾	6	6¼	+ ⅛
31¾	¾	Chi M & St P	100	1½	1½	1½	1½	+ ⅛
3¾	¾	C M & St P pf	200	2	2	1¾	2
2	2	Chi & Northw	1200	4¼	4¼	3¾	3¾
31	5	Chi & Nor pf	100	8¼	8¼	8¼	8¼	– ⅛
31	5	Chi Pneu of	100	8¼	8¼	8¼	8¼	– ⅛
10¾	7¼	Chi R I & Pac	600	4¼	4¼	4	4	+ ⅛
24½	2	C Rl&P Non of	100	6	6	6	6
27½	4¼	C Rl&P Tec of	100	7	7	7	7	+ ⅛
15¾	5	Chrysler Mot	1500	8¾	8¾	8¼	8¾	+ ⅜
28¾	11¾	3.50 City Ice & F	100	14	14	14	14
23¾	7¾	City Stores	500		½	½	½
12¾	7¾	Coca-Cola	400	81	81	80½	80½	– 1
11¾	11	Coleman Palm	100	12¼	12¼	12¼	12¼	+ ¼
93	65	Colg Palm pf	200	78¾	78¾	78	78½	+1
10¾	2¾	Collins & Aik	500	5¼	5¼	5¼	5¼
12¾	2¾	Colo Fuel & Ir	100	6¼	6¼	6¼	6¼
41¾	13¾	Col Carbon	1200	21¼	21¾	20¾	21¾	– ⅛
16¾	5¾	Col Gas & El	2500
6¾	1¾	Col G&E 5½ pr	1200	50½	50½	50½	50½	+ ⅝
8	4¼	Col Pictures	200	7¾	7¾	7¾	7¾
3¾	.50	Comm Credit	300	13¾	13¾	13¾	13¾
26¼	11¾	Comm Cr A	600	14¾	14¾	14¾	14¾	+1⅛
20¾	7¾	Comm Cr of B	100	15	15	15	15
27¾	10¾	Com'l Inv Tr	600	16	16¼	16	16¼	+ ¼
98	6.50	C I T Corp pf	70	91¾	92	91¾	92	+1
7¾	.30	Com Solvents	1800	7¼	7¾	6¾	7	– ⅛
11¾	.30	Conwith & Eq	4500	7¾	8	7¾	7¾	– ⅛
66¼	37¾	6	Comm & So of	1000	37	37½	36¾	37	– ⅛
11¾	6¼	Consolelum	100	8¼	8¼	8¼	8¼	– ⅛
6¾	2¼	Consol Cigar	300	6¼	6¼	6¼	6¼
11¾	2¾	Cons F Ind pf	200	4	4	4	4
44¾	31¾	4	Consol Gas	4000	42¾	42¾	41¾	41¾	– ¼
92¾	50	Consol Oil pf	200	90	90	90	90	+4
10¾	5	1	Consol Laund	600	5¾	6	5¾	5¾
10¾	3	Consol Oil	27900	7¼	7¾	7¼	7¾	+ ⅛
1¾		Consol Tex	100		¼	¼	¼
47¾	12¼	Cont Can	1900	21¾	23¼	21¾	23½	– ⅛
25¼	6¾	1.20 Cont Insur	1900	11½	12	11½	12	+1
7¾	3¾	Continental G	8400	6¾	6¾	6	6¼
6¾	2¾	Cont Motor Cor	400	3¾	3¾	3¾	3¾
47¾	24¾	3	Corn Products	4500	32½	33¾	32¾	33	– ⅜
128¾	90¾	7	Corn Prod pf	20	114½	114½	114½	+3¾
23	13¾	2.25	Cosden Oil	1700	17	17	17	17	+ ⅛
15¾	7¼	1.20	Crown C&Sal	200	10	10	10	10
27¾	2.70	Crown C&S	100	18	18	18	18	+3
49¾	15	1.60	Cuban Am Sug	600	23	23	22½	22½	– ⅛
1¾	¾	Cub Am Sugar	200	1¾	1¾	1¾	1¾
20	2.50	Cudahy Pack	100	28	28	28	28
31	7	Curtis Publish	200	12	12½	12	12
3¾	1¼	Curtiss Wright	300	1½	1¾	1	1
3¾	1¼	Curtiss Wr A	100	2	2	2	2	– ⅛
		Cutler Ham Mf	200	4¾	5	4¾	5	+ ⅛
		—D—
5½	1	Davison Chem	300	2½	2¾	2½	2¾	+ ⅛
1¾	.40	Deere & Co pf	200	7	7¼	7	7¼	+ ⅛
89½	32	9	Delaware & H	100	48¾	48¾	48¾	48¾
28¾	8½	Del Lack & W	100	15¾	15¾	15¾	15¾	– ⅛
7¾		Devoe & R A	100	7	7	7	7
11¾		Dome Mines	1900	10¼	10¾	10¼	10¾	– ⅛
23	5	3	Dresser A	200	7½	8	7½	8	+ ⅛
37¾	7	Drug Inc	3400	32¾	32¾	31¾	32
58½	22	Dupont DeN	9600	25¾	25¾	24¾	25¾	+ ¼
105	80¾	6	Duq Light pf	100	87	87	87	87
97¾	35½	5	Eastman Kod	2700	41	41½	39½	40½	– ½
8¾	3	Easton Car	100	4	4	4	4
3¾		Edington Sch	100	¾	¾	¾	¾
6¾	3	Elth Sch 1 pf	100	4	4	4	4
12¾	8¼	1.20	Elec Auto Lit	3200	12¾	12¾	11¾	12	– ⅛
8¾	2	Electric Boat	1000	3	3	3	3
13¾	3	Elec & Mus	1200	1¾	1¾	1½	1½	– ⅛
64	10¾	7	Elec Pow & L	1500	4¼	4¼	4¼	4¼
64	10¾	7	El P w & Lt pf	300	18	18	17	17	– 1
33¾	12¾	3	Elec Stor Bat	300	22	22¼	22	22¼	+ ¼
36¾	18	3	Endicott John	100	23	23	23	23	+2
87	18	3.50	Eng P S of ww	200	24¾	24¾	24¾	24¾
10	2	Erie R R	400	4¾	4¾	4½	4½	– ⅛
19¾	5	Erie R R 1 pf	200	9¾	9¾	9¾	9¾	– ⅛
9¾	2¾	Erie R R 2 pf	200	3¾	3¾	3¾	3¾	+ ⅛
7¾	2¼	Eureka Vacu	100	3¾	3¾	3¾	3¾	– ⅛
		—F—
47¾	20		Fair Morse pf	10	15	15	15	–5
14	8½	.60	Fed Dept Strs	200	9	9	9
10¾	3		Fed Water S	1100	3¾	4	3¾	4	+ ⅛
27¾	1.20		Fidelity-Phe F	100	11¼	11	11¼	11¼	+ ¼
15¾	10½	1	Firestone Tire	800	11	11	11¼	11	– ⅛
55½	35	2.50	First Nat Bos	250	50	49½	49½	50	+ ¼
47¾	¾		First Nat Stores	1100	42¾	43	42¾	43	+ ¼
1¾	¼		Fisk Rubber	1900	¼	¼	¼	¼
1¾	¼		Fisk R 1 pf cv	100	¼	¼	¼	¼
7¾	1		Fostr Wheel	100	7¾	7¾	7¾	7¾
21¾	1.15		Foundation C	100	2½	2½	2½	2½	+ ⅛
2¾			Fourth Nat In	100	15	15	15	15	+ ⅛
3¾	1		Fox Film A	800	2	2	1¾	1¾	– ⅛
19¾	10	2	Freeport Tex	1400	18¼	16¾	16¾	16¾	+ ¼
12	2¼		Fuller Brass	10	13	13	13	13
		—G—
37	16¾	2	Gamewell & Co	20	8½	9	8½	9	– ⅛
20¾	9¾	3	Gen Am Tk Cr	1400	12¼	12½	12¼	12¾	– ⅛
27¾	5¾	1	Gen Asphalt	200	9	9	9	9
19¾	10¾	1	Gen Cable A	100	2¼	2¼	2¼	2¼	+ ⅛
26¾	8¾	.40	Gen Electric	24200	12¾	13	12¾	13	+ ⅛
10¾	4¾	.60	Gen Elec spec	200	10¾	10¾	10¾	10¾	– ⅛
40¾	19¾	2	General Foods	2400	24¾	24¾	24	24¼	+ ⅛
3¾	¾		Gen G & El A	300	1¾	1¾	1¾	1¾
37	3		General Mills	1000	34¼	34¾	34¼	34¾	+ ¼
24¾	7¾	1	Gen Motors	5200	9¾	9¾	9¼	9¾	+ ⅛
26¾	6¾	3	Gen Mot Inc pf	300	6¾	6¾	6¾	6¾	+ ⅛
13¾	4¾	1	Gen Outdoor Ad	400	6¼	6¼	6¼	6¼	+ ⅛
5	1		Gen Pub Serv	200	1¾	1¾	1¾	1¾	– ⅛
26¾	6¾	1	Gen Refractor	100	10¼	10¼	10¼	10¼
24¾	10¾	1	Gen Refrigtor	100	5¾	5¾	5¾	5¾	– ⅛
24¾	10¾	1	Gillette S Raz	2400	17½	17½	16½	16½	– ¾
26¾	8¾		Gillette Saf R	2100	16¾	16¾	16¼	16¼	– ⅜
2¾	¾		Gimbel Bros	300	1¼	1¼	1¼	1¼
6¾	2¾		Gobel Inc	100	5¾	5¾	5¾	5¾
84¾	1.60		Gold Dust	1400	14¾	15	12¾	14	+1
23¾	3		Goodrich Rub	100	3¾	3¾	3¾	3¾	+ ⅛
7¾	1		Goodrich rf	100	3¾	3¾	3¾	3¾	+ ⅛
18¾	5¾		Goodyear T & R	800	10¾	10¾	10¾	10¾	+ ⅛
81¾	19¾		Goodyr T&R pf	200	25¾	25¾	24¾	24¾	+ ¼
18¾	7¾		Gotham Silk	500	15¾	15¾	15¾	15¾	– ⅛
4¾	1		Graham Paige	500	1¾	1¾	1¾	1¾
23¾	2¾		Granby Consol	100	3¾	3¾	3¾	3¾	+ ⅛
7¾	2¾		Grand Union	1000	4¾	5	4¾	5	+ ⅛
35¾	22¾	3	Grand Un 1st	100	27	27	27	27	+ ½
30¾	14¾

COOK-COOS

By TED COOK

An ordinance pending passage by local authorities specifies that all blind pedestrians carry white walking sticks so they can be easily seen by motorists.

This will make it much simpler for the motorist.

• • •

HOW ABOUT HIM?

(Lamar, Mo., Democrat)

Miss Pearl Ohler, one of Golden City's well-known school teachers, is suffering from a badly cut lip.

A week ago Thursday night Miss Ohler attended the Sunday school picnic where a party of the young folks started to playing Flying Dutchman. Miss Ohler engaged in the game, and in the process of its evolutions her mouth came in violent contact with the top of a male player's head. She will lose three upper front teeth as a result of the accident.

• • •

"But the best way to make some easy money," says Genevieve, the kitchen cynic, "is to convince another guy he's going to."

• • •

Doctors announce that your stomach ache may be the result of a mere emotional crisis.

But it's tougher when your emotional crisis produces a mere stomach ache in other people.

• • •

If I could only
Change my past,
I think I'd ain
My first sins last.

• • •

Q. and A. DEPARTMENT

Dear Madame—

How do you get your wife to stick by you when you're in trouble?—Discouraged.

Ans.—Have her arrested on the same charge.

A. (You're Welcome) Bella.

• • •

UH-HUH

(Address Before Motion Picture Executives)

"Our task is not alone measured by the money invested in the motion picture business, which must be put on a profitable basis. A greater responsibility is that great power for good or evil necessarily inherent in the selection of material for the screen."—Edward R. Tinker, banker and chairman of the board of the Fox Film Corp.

AMERICAN FOLK SONG

LOS ANGELES (Variety)—Something new in anti-dirt campaigns was seen here when members of the vice squad picketed a girl show at Fourth and Main streets.

• • •

Scene—Street in front of girl show full of vice squad officers and vice-crazed citizens.

CITIZENS
Officer! Officer!
Have a heart!
The show inside's
About to start.

And there's nothing that we hate
More than being just too late.
If you'll step aside, we'll be on our way.

OFFICERS
Oh, the long arm of the law
Fills its minions full of awe
And you'll get nowhere by Ranting or by storming—
We too much admire the laurels
We deserve for finding morals
Just when they appear to Need so much reforming.

CITIZENS
Officer! Officer!
Please be nice!
Please let us in,
To be precise.

OFFICERS
But we're really sure you should not
Go in, it's for your own good, not
Because of fun we'd dry up any source;
But it's not a show that's clean, it
Is obscene. We know, we've seen it.
We'd suggest that all you knzos
Join the force.

—Hap Hap.

• • •

FAMOUS LAST WORDS

Who's your bookmaker? That's the man I should have married.

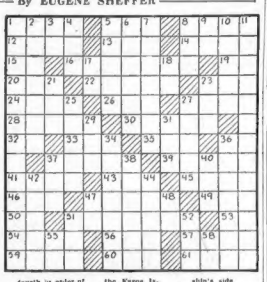
• • •

A complete rest is advised.

(Copyright, 1932, for the Boston Evening American.)

Daily Crossword Puzzle

By EUGENE SHEFFER



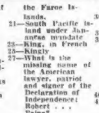
HORIZONTAL

1—Heavenly body
5—Perform
8—Froth
12—Composition for voice
13—Rank
14—Near what city in India did the Grand Mogul erect to his favorite wife the beautiful Taj Mahal?
15—Symbol for nickel
16—Who was the French Minister of Public Works in 1916 and Premier in 1924?
18—Part of to be
20—Weep
22—What popular male movie star played with Wallace Beery in "Hell Divers?"
23—Thing, in law
24—Bend
26—Salt
27—Siamese weight
28—Drive forward
30—What feminine screen star, recently emerged from retirement, is said to be planning a book to be entitled "My Confessions?"
32—Personal pronoun
33—What is the relative name in the following—and Mazie?
35—Female of the deer
36—Exclamation
37—What is the capital of Switzerland?
39—What nature is given to most of the negroid tribes of South Africa?
41—Notice
43—Bore
45—Binds
46—Hotel
47—Past tne
48—Central American rubber tree
50—An allegiance
51—Dash to pieces
53—Personal pronoun
54—Press
56—Sheltered side
57—Commissaries
58—Chair
59—Go astray
61—What planet is fourth in order of distance from the sun?

VERTICAL

1—Affecting hollows
2—What is the name in an ancient Roman calendar propelled with three banks of oars?
3—Three-toed sloth
4—Cheer
5—What French city noted for weaving was the native town of Robespierre?
6—Temple treasury at Jerusalem
7—Ribbed, ridged
8—Fleshy
9—Biblical king of Bashan
10—What steel angel in Milton's "Paradise Lost" was overthrown by Abdiel?
11—What state is known as the "Old Colony"?
17—For example (abbr.)
18—Whirlwind of the Faroe Islands.
21—South Pacific island under Japanese mandate
23—King, in French
25—Kind of
27—What is the missing name of the American lawyer, patriot and signer of the Declaration of Independence: Robert . . . Paine?
29—Tense
31—Mouthful
34—Upper edge of a

YESTERDAY'S ANSWERS



Copyright, 1932, for the Boston Evening American

ALL YOU NEED IS A TELEPHONE

—to help you find a room, an apartment, or Summer cottage—Phone

LIBerty 4000

Ask for Marion Crosby at the

FREE RENTAL BUREAU

Lists Furnished in various sections without charge or obligations.

BOSTON AMERICAN

THIMBLE THEATRE, starring POPEYE

Now Showing—"A Wet Skirt"

MAN OVERBOARD!
IS THEY A MAN OVERBOARD, OSCAR?
NO, SIR
SOMEBODY PLAYIN' TRICKS I SUSPOSE
NICE SAILIN' WEATHER, AIN'T IT, OSCAR?
YES SIR
I THOUGHT I HEARD A YELL FOR HELP - YA SURE THEY AIN'T A MAN OVERBOARD?
I'M SURE THERE ISN'T SIR
IT'S A WOMAN - MISS OLIVE OYL

BRINGING UP FATHER

Jiggs Wants To Hurry the Election

MR. TELLER, THE BANKER TO SEE YOU. DO YOU THINK HE'S GONNA VOTE FER YOU FER MAYOR?
GOSH! I DON'T KNOW. HE'S NOT ONLY A BANKER, BUT A LEADER OF SOCIETY IN THIS TOWN. I'VE ALWAYS WANTED TO SEE HIM
WELL! MR. JIGGS, I JUST RUN IN TO SAY I'M GOING TO CAST MY VOTE FOR YOU. I'M VERY MUCH OPPOSED TO THIS MISS LOTTA VOTES FOR MAYOR. WE NEED A MAN OF YOUR STANDARD.
SORRY, I MUST RUN ALONG AS I MUST SEE MY DOCTOR. BESIDES, I FORGOT TO TAKE MY MEDICINE.
DON'T HURRY.
WELL? ARE YOU GOIN' TO GIT HIS VOTE?
HUH! I DON'T KNOW. WELL HAVE TO HOLD THE ELECTION RIGHT AWAY AS I DON'T THINK HE'S GOIN' TO LAST.

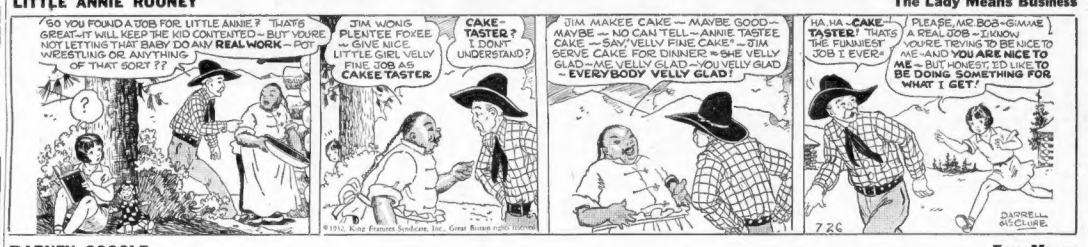
POLLY AND HER PALS

Tete-a-Tete for Two

IF AUNT MAGGIE WANTS TO TALK TO HERSELF, THAT'S HER PRIVILEGE, PA.
YOU DON'T GIT THE POINT, POLLY. THE PORE GAL IS GOOFY!
MEBBE IF SHE HAD SOMEONE TO TALK TO, SHE'D SNAP OUT OF IT!
MORNIN', MAGGIE, I THOUGHT I'D JOIN YE IN A LI'L CHAT!
THAT'S MIGHTY SWEET OF YOU, SAM'L.
-BUT TWO IS COMPANY, AN' THREE'S A CROWD!!

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY

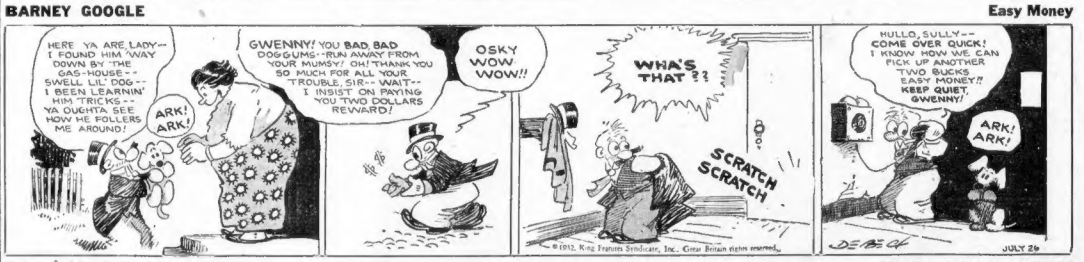
The Lady Means Business



SO YOU FOUND A JOB FOR LITTLE ANNIE? THAT'S GREAT—IT WILL KEEP THE KID CONTENTED—BUT YOURE NOT LETTING THAT BABY DO ANY REAL WORK—POT WRESTLING OR ANYTHING OF THAT SORT??
JIM WONG PLEATEE FOXEE — GIVE NICE LITTLE GIRL VELLY FINE JOB AS CAKE TASTER
CAKE-TASTER? I DONT UNDERSTAND?
JIM MAKEE CAKE — MAYBE GOOD — MAYBE — NO CAN TELL — ANNIE TASTEE CAKE — SAY, VELLY FINE CAKE." — JIM SERVE CAKE FOR DINNER — SHE VELLY GLAD — ME VELLY GLAD — YOU VELLY GLAD — EVERYBODY VELLY GLAD!
HA HA — CAKE-TASTER! THAT'S THE FUNNIEST JOB I EVER—
PLEASE, MR. BOB — GIMME A REAL JOB — I KNOW YOU'RE TRYING TO BE NICE TO ME — AND YOU ARE NICE TO ME — BUT HONEST, I'D LIKE TO BE DOING SOMETHING FOR WHAT I GET!

BARNEY GOOGLE

Easy Money



HERE YA ARE, LADY — I FOUND HIM AWAY DOWN BY THE GAS-HOUSE — SWELL LIL' DOG — I BEEN LEARNIN' HIM TRICKS — YA OUGHTA SEE HOW HE FOLLERS ME AROUND!
ARK! ARK!
GWENNY! YOU BAD, BAD DOGGUMS — RUN AWAY FROM YOUR MUMSY! OH! THANK YOU SO MUCH FOR ALL YOUR TROUBLE, SIR — WAIT — I INSIST ON PAYING YOU TWO DOLLARS REWARD!
OSKY WOW WOW!!
WHA'S THAT??
SCRATCH SCRATCH
HULLO, SULLY — COME OVER QUICK! I KNOW HOW WE CAN PICK UP ANOTHER TWO BUCKS EASY MONEY!! KEEP QUIET, GWENNY!
ARK! ARK!

TIM TYLER'S FLYING LUCK

The Reception Committee?

CAN YOU STILL SEE BOY AND BEETLE, TIM?
HEY, TIM—!! IT'S A GOOD THING I DROPPED OVER TO CHECK UP ON OUR PRISONER!! HE'S "RAN" TO GET OUT!!
PULL THAT FIN IN, BIG BOY, AN' MAKE IT SNAPPY!
THEY'RE OUT OF SIGHT NOW, SURE! BESIDES, I HOPE THEY'LL COME BACK SAFE
MEANWHILE BOY AND BEETLE HAVE MADE THEIR WAY THROUGH THE HEAVY UNDERGROWTH TOWARD THE CLUSTER OF WABAMI GRASS HUTS, NOW CLEARLY SEEN IN THE DISTANCE!
TOM-TOMS!!
YATEAU! WAZOOLA! HOT!
BONG BONG BONG BONG BONG
BONG BONG BONG BONG

KRAZY KAT

When Things Strike Home

WELL, IM HAVING A NEW HOUSE BUILT
YETZ?
ITS GOING TO BE MADE OF BRICKS BRICKS?
SURE
FENCY THAT, NOW
I ALWAYS HAD A IDA THAT 'BRICKS' WAS FOR MICE TO TOSS AT 'YETS' ZIP

THE VOICE OF BROADWAY

By LOUIS SOBOL

DOWN MEMORY LANE!

(With Martin Johnson, the explorer cameraman.)

Broadway . . .and my mind wanders back 33 years. And my first hotel, within a stone's throw of the old Broadway when the Flatiron Building threatened to penetrate the heavens, was a haymount for a livery stable in West 34th st. Signed, at 15, to help take care of horses bound for Antwerp—I discovered I was really chambermaid for cattle. I wandered all over Europe for six months slept under the elevated of Liverpool and amid the ruins of Pompeii. Stowed away in a cattle ship bound for Boston.

While hellhopping at the old Saratoga in Chicago I recall the Ringling Brothers headquartering there. Hugh Bert, another guest, was the toast of the Loop. I spent all my loose change rooting from the gallery of the Haymarket in Chicago, my favorites—Eva Tanguay, the Four Mortons, the Rogers Brothers. Back again to New York, again with horses and over to Europe with cattle. In London on orgies to the gallery of the old Palace and Victoria Palace, lucky to have the two pence half penny. I put on the complete show with my Bonnie Sea Flower, at the Victoria Palace 10 years later and played there 14 weeks. And 20 years later played the Palace with "Simba" for 12 weeks.

Shocked a vagabond I met in the East End of London when I told him I had never heard of Jack London. Returning to New York again on a cattle boat, picked up an old issue of Ladies Home Companion with a splash article on me by Jack London and his itinerary for a proposed trip around the world on the 45-foot sloop, the Snark. Taking a long chance, I wrote Jack and was knocked out of my chair when I received a reply and a wire from London need: "Can you cook? Can you take trick at wheel? Salary $25 per month." I did not know how to fry an egg and naught about any kind of wheel. But wired: "Can cook. Will take trick at wheel. Salary no object!" The job was mine by wire. Arriving at Jack London's home in Oakland, Cal., in the midst of an unusual California rainstorm, I was met by Mrs. Jack and found London playing poker with Geo. George Sterling, the famous poet; Jimmy Hopper, then an unknown, now one of the highest-priced writers, and Dick Partington, the artist. Two years and three months we spent on the Snark—and I made good as a cook and engineer.

I was in Honolulu with Jack London when Alice Roosevelt shocked society with smoking a cigarette at a reception given by Queen Lilinokalani, the last ruler of Hawaii. At Solomon Islands we discovered the movies had arrived—three Pathe cameramen were down with fever. I became interested in their camera, as my dad was the first Kodak dealer in the West. So I induced them to let me use their camera and made my first and the first motion pictures taken in the Solomon Seas. Later, with one of the two motion picture cameras in Australia, shot the Johnson-Burns fight at Sydney.

In Paris I kicked things up a bit with Count De Castellane, who later married Anna Gould. Ejecting a party of high-hats trying to "crash" the gate at Luna Park in Paree, forcibly making one of them behave—I discovered later that he was Baron Rothschild, Europe's richest man at that time! I had a grand chuckle over the incident with his son, the present Baron Rothschild, at Tanganyika, Africa, two years ago. There I came back and married Osa. The world was mine—and I aimed to become a second Marcus Loew, operating five theaters in southern Kansas. The world wasn't mine—we went broke.

Came then the wildcatting period with the Jack London pictures—and my touring days with Osa started. At the Majestic in Chicago, starting on the Orpheum circuit, with Chic Sale, on the same bill, making his timid debut. Getting a route from Martin Beck and Charley Bray that took one year and five months—without a break—to fill.

Martin Johnson

Back to Broadway . . . where Charley Ray and Al Woods sold me a corking bill of goods and booked me into the Criterion Theater with the first motion picture shown there, "Wonders of the South Seas." Then back to England to show my picture for Sir Alfred Butt at the Victoria Palace. Back again to the U. S. A. and now thoroughly imbued with the exploration bug. Off I went to the South Sea Islands for "Cannibals of the South Seas" that Robertson-Cole released. Another plunge into the South Seas and back with "Captured by Cannibals," followed by another expedition there and the birth of "On the Borderland of Civilization." I made a pal of the Sultan of Sulu, who had never heard of George Ade, who wrote the musical comedy "The Sultan of Sulu."

Sam Rothafel, who was yet to be called Roxy, had just finished building the Strand Theater and booked "Captured by Cannibals." Next he opened the Rivoli and exhibited my "Borderland of Civilization." Roxy at the Capitol played my "Jungle Adventure," made in Borneo. And Roxy, in the theater bearing his name, played my "Across the World."

Africa—and our first safari, where Duke of Orleans, Pretender to the French throne, was our host with Maj. Dugmore, then England's greatest hunter and now one of our foremost modern painters. Prince Yussof Kamal of Egypt on safari. Getting back to America with "Trailing African Wild Animals" and meeting for the first time, personally, late Marcus Loew and Carl Laemmle, two grand old men of the movies. Meeting Carl and Delia Akeley for the first time and experiencing one of my saddest moments when I decorated my old friend's grave on the slopes of Mount Mikeno in the gorilla country of the Belgian Congo.

Getting one of the biggest thrills of my life when I returned to Africa, sponsored by the American Museum of Natural History. And here started a lasting friendship with the late George Eastman, Gifford Pinchot, Trubee Davison, Daniel Pomeroy, Prof. Henry Fairfield Osborne. Adding joy to sport during the four years consumed in making "Simba," at Lake Paradise at the Abyssinia border, where we entertained the late George Eastman for five minutes, Daniel Pomeroy for nine months, the Duke and Duchess of York. But the big surprise came, when Osa and I entertained Mr. and Mrs. Charley Bray of our good old Orpheum days. Charley's first day was enlivened by being charged by a rhino. And that same night their hut was surrounded by elephants.

"Simba," completed and back to Broadway—and this time the Earl Carroll Theater. But Africa called again—and, with Mr. Eastman, Osa and I went through Europe and Egypt, up the Nile, across the Congo, into Uganda, where the kodak king shot white rhino and monster elephant. Exchanging notes with Prince William of Sweden and the Crown Prince of Belgium. Chuckling in the Africal jungle over Chic Sales' "The Specialist." Recalling the night when, with Chic Sale, 22 years ago, we wandered into the room of a Broadway hotel, met a very sick man lying in bed who became interested in my proposed trip to the South Seas, listening to the tale of woe regarding canceled vaudeville contracts and needy wife and children and getting a kick last month hearing Oklahoma cast 22 votes for the ailing thespian—Will Rogers—for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Vainly trying to "make" a Winter Garden show 18 years ago, and finally getting there this week with "Congorilla," the making of which marked my 12th safari.

Turning back the pages of time: "Wildcatting" on Osa playing the piano and singing Hawaiian songs, captured by cannibals and rescued by the British men-o'-war in the South Seas. Osa's month's captivity in Borneo with an angry tribe of head-hunters at our heels. Osa saving me from vicious attacks by elephants, rhino and lions and the enraged gorillas charging us during the making of "Congorilla"—and now, from the 34th floor of the Essex Hotel we look down over Central Park, wondering, wondering if all this were—and looking forward to flying over Africa this fall.

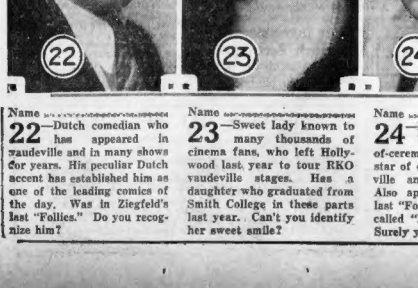
FIVE DAYS LEFT TO PICK STARS

Only five more days left for you folks to cash in on the $50 in real, honest-to-goodness money we are passing out daily to winners of the new popular vaudeville identification contest.

Each day the Boston Evening American will print three pictures of famous RKO vaudeville stars, with hints as to who they are; you fill in their names correctly and send them by mail then all together to the vaudeville contest editor, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston. Your entries must be postmarked no later than Monday, midnight. All readers of the Boston Evening American are eligible to enter except employes of this paper and RKO theaters.

Today we are showing pictures of two very brilliant stars of Ziegfeld's last "Follies"; both are well known in Boston. The sweet lady is familiar to movie fans, as well as vaudevillians who saw her when she appeared in Boston, in RKO vaudeville. Do you know them?

ANOTHER CHANCE TO TEST YOUR MEMORY



22

Name .....

22—Dutch comedian who has appeared in vaudeville and in many shows for years. His peculiar Dutch accent has established him as one of the leading comics of the day. Was in Ziegfeld's last "Follies." Do you recognize him?

23

Name .....

23—Sweet lady known to many thousands of cinema fans, who left Hollywood last year to tour RKO vaudeville stages. Has a daughter who graduated from Smith College in these parts last year. . Can't you identify her sweet smile?

24

Name .....

24—Probably one of the best known masters-of-ceremonies in the land; star of cafes, shows, vaudeville and musical comedy. Also appeared in Ziegfeld's last "Follies." Made a movie called "Puttin' on the Ritz." Surely you know him now?

In Politics

Gossip About People You Know

DENVIR APPOINTED

Robert F. Denvir of 29 Hooker st., Allston, was today appointed assistant chief clerk of the water division of the municipal public works department by Mayor Curley.

PREPARES FOR STUMP

John F. Nevins, president of Ward 15 Democratic Club of Dorchester, is studying speech making and English at Harvard summer school.

GRIFFIN IS CANDIDATE

John J Griffin, former president of the Old Rosary Y. M. C. C., today announced his candidacy for legislature in Ward 6, South Boston.

FOLEY FOR BENCH?

There is some talk in local political circles that Dist. Atty. William J. Foley would not refuse an appointment to the superior bench in the event Judge Lummus is confirmed for the supreme court bench.

ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY

Atty. Sidney Rosenberg has announced his candidacy for the House of Representatives from Ward 14, Roxbury-Dorchester, on the Republican ticket.

TEMPORARY POST

Joseph L. Quinn of 47 Tower st., Jamaica Plain, was today appointed temporary architectural draughtsman in the department of school buildings by Mayor Curley.

EXPERIENCE HIS ASSET

Former Congressman Harrison Atwood, of Dorchester, who is out for the seat in the Governor's Council now filled by Chester J. Campbell, of Quincy, regards his experience in public life as his greatest asset. In addition to having served in Washington, Atwood put in 10 years in the Legislature and was a member of the committee which in Coolidge's time consolidated some 150 boards and commissions into the present 20 departments.

Money to Loan

YOU CAN DO IT TOO!

YOU can solve any family financial problem with AN "INDUSTRIAL BANKERS" LOAN. Our service is prompt and confidential. The cost is low. SMALL MONTHLY PAYMENTS in keeping with present-day conditions and salaries.

PHONE—WRITE—OR VISIT THE MOST CONVENIENT INDUSTRIAL BANKERS' OFFICE

2 BOSTON OFFICES
44 BROMFIELD ST., Fidelity Bldg. 2nd Floor, License 209. Lib. 0979
72 TREMONT ST., Keith Memorial Bldg. 2nd Floor. License 25. Lafayette 3281

BROCKTON OFFICE
196 MAIN ST., Glyndon Bldg. 2nd fl. License 133 Brockton 2112

BROOKLINE OFFICE
569 BOYLSTON ST., Coolidge Cor. Bldg. Cor. Beacon St. License 106. Aspinwall 0095

2 CAMBRIDGE OFFICES
631 MASSACHUSETTS AVE., Central Sq. License 167 Unl. 3669
631½ MASSACHUSETTS AVE., Front St. at Central Sq. License 71. Porter 2070

CHELSEA OFFICE
445 BROADWAY, Chelsea Chamber of Commerce Bldg. License 195. Chel. 3266

DORCHESTER OFFICE
761 DUDLEY ST., Ephraims Corner 2nd Floor. License 66. Columbia 1373

EVERETT OFFICE
471 BROADWAY, Broward Bldg. 2nd Floor. License 197. Everett 2144

MALDEN OFFICE
419 PLEASANT ST., Roberts Bldg. 2nd Floor. License 107. Malden 3473

INDUSTRIAL BANKERS, Inc.

Deaths

ANDERSON—In Boston, July 25, 1932, Charles W. Anderson, in his 50th year. Relatives and friends invited to attend the services at the Graham Funeral Home, 9 Washington St., Somerville, Wednesday, July 26, at 2:30 p. m.

BAILEY—At Plum Island, Newburyport, July 25, 1932, Joseph W. Bailey, aged 66 years, 22 days. Funeral services will be held at the home of his brother, Harry W. Bayley, 79 Bromfield st., Everett, Wednesday, July 27, at 2:30 p. m. Relatives and friends invited. Burial private.

BROOKS—In Roxbury, July 24, Nathaniel Nelson Brooks, aged 68 years, 7 months, 4 days. Funeral services at the Rice Funeral Home, 25 Webster st., Roxbury, Wednesday.

CARD—In Everett, July 24, Violetta Irene of 62 Winthrop St., widow of Warren A. Card, aged 57 years. Funeral at the James A. Goudey Funeral Home, 40 Broadway, Everett, Wednesday, at 2:30 p. m. Relatives and friends invited.

CLARK—In Boston, July 25, Albert Merl, 133 West Springfield St., July 24, Charles Henry Clark of Boston. Funeral services will be held at the Home on Tuesday, July 26, at 2:30 p. m. Chance to attend. Relatives and friends are invited to attend.

DOHERTY—In Everett, July 24, Helen M., beloved daughter of Roger and Margaret (Doherty) Doherty, aged 19 years. Funeral from parents' residence, 29 Stuart st., Everett, Tuesday, July 26, at 2 p. m. Relatives and friends invited.

EARLY—In Quincy, July 24, Helen M., beloved wife of Walter A. Early, aged 62 years. Funeral services at Hughes Chapel, 450 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, on Wednesday, July 27, at 2 p. m. Relatives and friends invited.

EMMONS—Or Winthrop, July 24, Milton W. Emmons. Services at the Home on Tuesday, 17 Sunnyside Ave., Winthrop, Tuesday, July 26, at 3 p. m. Relatives and friends invited.

FARRELL—In this city, July 23, Thomas C., husband of the late Catherine Farrell. Funeral from late residence, 24 Ash sq., John J. Farrell, 447 Adams St., Dorchester, Tuesday, July 26, at 8:30 a. m., thence mass of requiem at St. Mary's Church, Dorchester, at 9 o'clock. Relatives and friends invited.

FASCIO—In Stoneham, July 24, Antonio G. (nee Gastonia) Fracco, wife of Antonio Fracco, Funeral from late residence, 3 Elm St., Wednesday, at 8:15. Solemn high mass of requiem at St. Patrick's Church at 9 o'clock. Relatives and friends invited.

FREEMAN—In South Truro, July 22, Lorena B., wife of the late Warren Wilcox Freeman, in her 80th year. Funeral services from late residence, South Truro, Tuesday, July 26, at 2 p. m.

GOODALL—At Wells, Maine, July 23, Florence Pierce, wife of the late Harry W. Goodall of Boston. Funeral services at late residence, 3 Ashley st., Boston, on Tuesday, July 26, at 2:30 p. m. Relatives and friends invited.

GROW—In Revere, July 24, 1932, K. Adelphia, widow of George H. Grow, aged 78 years. Service at residence, 35 Bartlett st., Tuesday at 2 p. m.

HOFFMANN—Ralph, of Mission Cave, Los Barbares, California, husband of the late of Gertrude Wesselhoeft Hoffmann, instantly killed July 22, on naturalist expedition.

HOOD—In Everett, July 24, Clarinda Hood, aged 75 years. Funeral services will be held at his late residence, 41 Argyle St., Tuesday, July 26, at 2 p. m. Relatives and friends invited.

JOHNSON—In Medfield, July 23, Cora Johnson (nee Plimpton), formerly of West Newton. Funeral services Tuesday, July 26, at 2 p. m., at the home of her son, Richard P. Johnson, 127 Main St., Medfield. Relatives and friends invited.

KENNEY—In Roxbury, July 25, Willard, beloved husband of Elsie (Clark) Kenney and son of Thomas J. and Catherine (Dempsey) Kenney. Funeral from parents' home, 44 Ward st., Tuesday, July 26, at 8:15. High mass at St. Patrick's Church at 8 o'clock. Relatives and friends respectfully invited. Late World War veteran.

LOHR—In Boston, July 24, Agnes Lohr, wife of Ralph R. Lohr of 1350 Commonwealth Ave. Services at Loring-Healy Funeral Home, 241 Forest st., Medford, Tuesday, at 2 o'clock. Relatives and friends invited.

LYONS—In Charlestown, July 23, Margaret, beloved daughter of the late Patrick Lyons. Funeral from her late residence, 246 Chelsea St., Tuesday, July 26, at 8:30. Solemn high mass of requiem at St. Catherine's Church at 9 o'clock. Relatives and friends invited to attend.

MacDONALD—In Malden, July 22, Daniel, husband of Margaret (Gahan) MacDonald. Funeral from his late residence, 30 Magnolia st., Malden, Tuesday at 8:30. Solemn high mass of requiem at the Church of the Sacred Heart, Main St., at 9 a. m. Relatives and friends invited. Burial at St. Andrew's Cemetery, Annisquam, N. S.

Funeral Directors

CRAN & MOLLINS
200 Meridian St., East Boston 0383.

AUTO and FURNITURE LOANS
ON YOUR OWN SIGNATURE; COLLATERAL REMAINS IN YOUR POSSESSION GLOBE PLAN
Liberty 7368 License 142 437 Park Sq. Bldg.

PILGRIM PLAN
LOANS on AUTOS and FURNITURE
Loans of $300 or less, under State supervision. Cash, money, or write. ILLINOIS ACCEPTANCE CORP., 24 School St., Room 401, 4th floor. CAPitol 3100

● L-O-A-N-S ●
FURNITURE—AUTOS
QUICK—COURTEOUS—CONFIDENTIAL
On Your Own Signature—No Endorsers
CAPITOL FINANCE CORP., 148 State House, Cor. Capitol and Whitney Sts.
AUTOMOBILE Furniture Loans. $50-$300. CITIZENS FINANCE CO. OF BOSTON 705 Beacon St. KENmore 4620. License 64.

Beauty Aids

Special Permanent $1.50
Regular $5. Limited Time Only
Shampoo and Finger Wave 50c
25c BEAUTY SALON
435 MAIN ST., DEXTER BLDG., Rm. 308. Lib.8814

PERMANENT WAVE $1.49
Realistic $6. Lenoil $4.50 Complete
KEEP HAIR EVEN, PERFECT RINGLET ENDS ASSURED. BEST MATERIALS USED BY EXPERTS.
5 WINTER STREET, RM. 218. LIB. 8287.

SPECIAL PRICE ON HAIR DYEING
By Specialist. Hair Bleaching a Specialty.
GRANT BLDG. BEAUTY STUDIO
444 Washington St. Liberty 1102

PERMANENT WAVE $2 Up
DONE BY EXPERTS
ELAINE
455 Washington St. Room 1109

HAIR Re-tailor hats permanently
Hats Cleaned, Blocked
Physicians' references. Molly Rapport,
125 Tremont St., Suite. Rm. 310. Han. 7285

Hair Dyeing, Bleaching, Permanent Waving in curly kwash, expert teachers; 8 weeks' course, $25 cash or easy terms. Send for circular. We help place graduates. 125 Tremont St. Rm. 503. Bus. 7634.

SPECIALTY EVERY WOMAN
Hair Cut, Shampoo, Finger or Marcel Wave $1
MARCEL 45¢ Wash 30c Rm. 817
PERMANENT REDUCED $2
Also $5 and $6. Expert operators.
Open 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Sun. 9 to 6. HOLT

LEARN BEAUTY CULTURE—6 weeks' course; practice guaranteed; day and evening classes. Hub Academy, 161 Mass. Ave.

Deaths

McCLOSKEY—In Brighton, July 24, Charles, beloved husband of Alice M. McCloskey, nee MacDonald. Funeral from late home, 6 Aldercrest St., Wednesday morning at 8:30. Solemn requiem high mass in St. Columbkille's Church at 9 o'clock. Relatives and friends invited. Late lieutenant of Station 14, B. F. D.

MORRIS—In Greenwood, July 25, Annie, wife of Patrick Morris of 30 Madison Ave., aged 71 years. Funeral services will be held at the chapel of J. E. Henderson Co., 817 Broadway, Everett, Tuesday, July 26, at 2 p. m. Relatives and friends invited.

O'REILLY—In New York, July 25, Daniel O'Reilly. Funeral from the home of his brother, William O'Reilly, 33 Kenwood st., Brookline, Wednesday, July 27, at 8 a. m. Solemn requiem mass at St. Mary's Church at 9. Relatives and friends invited.

SOMERS—In Boston, July 23, 1932, William F. Somers of 3 Bromfield St., in his 62d year. Relatives and friends are invited to attend the services at the Graham Funeral Home, 1770 Washington St., Somerville, Tuesday, July 26, at 2 p. m.

STEVENS—Of Melrose, July 22, suddenly, Dr. Agnes, daughter of Charles W. and Agnes (Dow) Stevens, in her 54th year. Private services will be held from her home, 31 Porter St., Melrose.

SUPPLE—At the family home in Jamaica Plain, July 25, the Right Rev. Patrick Supple, D. D. Late pastor of St. John's Church, High's Cherokee Mission. He will repose at his home in Holliston until Wednesday, July 27, at 10 o'clock, when the dead will be carried at St. John's Church, Boston, at 11 o'clock, after which he will be in state. Solemn high mass of requiem will be said on July 28 at St. John's Church at 10 o'clock, following which interment will take place at St. Mary's Cemetery, Holliston.

WASSERBERGER—In this city, July 23, Harriet E. Wasserberger, in her 60th year. Services at home, 25 Walnut Pl., Newtonville, Tuesday, July 26, at 2 p. m.

WHITFIELD—In South Boston, July 24, William A. Whitfield oof 4 Ondlow ter. Funeral services at Lewis E. Adams Funeral Home, 4326 Washington St., Roslindale, Tuesday, July 26, at 2 p. m. Relatives and friends invited.

REAL ESTATE

Houses for Sale

READING BARGAIN
BANK PROPERTY
ROADSIDE LOCATION
Store and 6-room house. 1,550 feet land on Main St., small amount of cash, bank mortgage for balance. Malden 3411. Home, Malden 0194.

$3999 NEW BUNGALOW
Wonderful bar rear Country Club, trains, schools, 5 rooms, 1000 ft. land, small amt. cash. Bal. as rent. Pratt's Lumber Co. Mys. 0800. Eve. Arl. 0439-J.

Sharon Repossessed Camp Lot $89
Originally sold for $225; $5 down, $1 or $2 weekly. Value guaranteed by local realty trustees. 136 So. Main St., Sharon, or 367 Washington St., Jamaica Plain.

Medford Single—New. Every improvement. Act location, $5500 or best offer. Mystic 3241-W

SOMERVILLE—Bank foreclosure. 6 families, 3 and 7 rooms, all tenants, fine location, price $4000, offer considered. Somerset 1543-M or 3044-W.

Lots for Sale

Lot and Tent $55
In pine woods, handy Concord River and Billerica canoe trips, 2 miles to bathing beach, full price $55, terms. Mystic 4912-J

4 Lots on Old Turnpike $40.
Handy Billerica Centre and Concord River. Terms. Call Stadium 6968.

$225 lot Mirror Lake, $400 ft. Mile from Mirror Lake. M-31, Boston American.

$50 CHOICE lots at beautiful shadow Lake within 30 miles of Boston, only $10 down; easy terms; 125 cottages now on property. Information write Box J-165, this paper.

Farms and Land for Sale

EQUIPPED 8-ROOM modern summer cottage, catering free. Stout Agency, 813B Old South Bldg., Boston—Lib. 7125.

Summer Camps or Cottages

CAPE COD bungalow, rent $20 week. Improvements. Owner, Melrose 0627-M.

CROW POINT — 4-room furnished cottage, electricity, gas and water, reduced rate for August. Stadium 6968.

HOUGHS NECK—3-room cottage, $15 to $20. 25 Allen ave., Quincy. Quincy 3-0-1-W.

NAHANT—6-room, ocean-front cottage for rent, newly furnished; also 3 rooms, remainder of season; weekly. Unl. 3397.

Houses for Rent

DEDHAM—Half duplex rooms, 6 rooms, all improvements; ideal location. Dedham 1132.

EAST MILTON—5-room bungalow, 2-car heated garage; modern. Milton 2095.

QUINCY—Adams Shore, 6-room, newly all impts., garage $45. Granite 7636-W.

Rooms for Housekeeping

BROOKLINE—Large front room, furnished; kitchen optional; reasonable. Asp. 0268.

CAMBRIDGE—5 Rice St.; large room, kitchen privilege; rooms, $3 up. Unl. 0139-M.

DORCHESTER—1-2-3 rooms, furnished, heated; beach; transit, $3 up. 39 Saxton St.

JAMAICA PLAIN—Large room for housekeeping; room, running water, $4; also room, $3.

MALDEN — 2 furnished, unfurnished rooms; private family; all conveniences; sink; car space; reasonable. Mal. 2996-M

ROXBURY—25 Highland St.; room with kitchen, screened porch; $4.50. Unl. 4811-J.

SOMERVILLE—Near Sullivan Sq.; furnished 2-room suites, $5-$6. Cha. 1788-M.

361 Washington St., Somerville. Cor. Kitchenette; everything furnished; free parking; laundry.

FURNISHED large front room, kitchenette, $8, including electric, gas. Rom. 1144-M.

82 HUNTINGTON AVE.—Rooms, $3.50-$5; electric refrigerator; garage. Ken. 6700.

663 TREMONT ST.—Housekeeping and furnished rooms; $3 up. Garrison 8118.

463 MASS. AVE.—Nicely furnished 2 room suite; separate entrance; reasonable.

Homes for Invalids

AN elderly lady or invalid cared for in pleasant Milton home; moderate rates; doctors' reference. Milton 1244.

INVALIDS and bed patients; graduate nurse's care. Tel. Gen. 5446

Children to Board

PRIVATE American family will board infant, good food, care, reasonable. Talbot 2243.

WANTED—Children, over 2; bear beach and school; private home. Granite 2086.

WANTED—Children to board over 2, summer months; good home. Unl. 1925-W.

WANTED—Child to board, any age; large yard; good care. Garrison 8778.

For Invalidism

FOUND BY POLICE
276011—Blueberries in wood before sale. Call Miss James, Liberty 4000

LOST—Brown link bracelet with green stones, between Harvard Ave., Allston and Kenmore Square Tuesday A. M. Cretty Newton 4213; reward.

LOST—Horn rim glasses, Friday evening at Nantasket; please return, 94 Stockton St., Dorchester; Milton 0278; reward.

LOST—A Nantasket, black handbag, initials, "W. B." Reward. Com. 0856.

Furniture

4-ROOM repossessed outfit complete for $59. Consisting of dining living room, 10-piece dining room, 10-piece bedroom and 9-piece kitchen. Many pieces. Terms. Brown's Furniture Co., 757 Washington St., Boston.

Exterminators

Roaches, Bedbugs, Rats
Safty Fume Destroys Moths, Germs
For Sale or service furnished. Safty Fumigant Co., 29 India St. Hub. 6370.

Miscellaneous for Sale

World Sign & Awning Co.
Window awnings made to order and erected. 41-76 and up. Geneva. 4775.

Oil Burners

RANGE OIL BURNERS
Complete—Guaranteed! $7.50
Factory Office 31 Hanover St., Lynn. Bunker 6702

Musical Instruments

AMPICO PIANO
CHICKERING Baby Grand, 5 years old. Excellent condition. Owner will sell at terrible sacrifice. Terms. Call for appointment. Call Milton 1740 or Hubbard 5925.

SONG WRITERS We revise words; write music, arrange, copyright, publish. Send poems to 926 Boylston st., Room 30. Kenmore 2148.

Refrigerators

MAJOR MAKES of refrigerators, including electric refrigerators, finest made, appreciable reductions. Write Box T-169, Boston American.

Building Materials

OAK FLOOR 3c Ft. and up to cover old floors, easily laid; prompt shipment anywhere. Friend Lumber Co., 474 Riverside Ave., Medford. Mystic 8460.

Unfurnished Apartments

Allston
1288 Commonwealth Ave.
7-Room Suites
$65-$70
Reception Hall and Bath.
Service includes steam heat, electrical refrigeration and resident janitor. Newly renovated throughout. Apply Supt. on premises or call Capitol 3456.

ALLSTON—Attractive, 6-7-room apartments, rents reduced. Call Stadium 2067.

ARLINGTON—Upper 6 rooms, all impts. Piazzas, garage optional. $40. Arl. 2741-M

BOSTON, 429 Brookline Ave.—3, 4 and 5-room apartments with kitchenette and bath; reasonable rent. Apply to janitor on premises, 70 Waverly St. Unl. 7430.

BRIGHTON—Modern 2 family, 5 rooms, reception hall, $45. Opposite Stadium. Stad. 6782.

BROOKLINE—Small suites, furnished, unfurnished, business people, housekeeping facilities, reasonable. 203 Winthrop Rd. Reg. 2901.

CAMBRIDGE—3 large rooms, modern; steam heat; $34 River St. Porter 0819-M.

CAMBRIDGE—5 rooms, heat, frigidaire, 2 family; 71 Magazine St. Unl. 2765.

CAMBRIDGE—6 rooms, heat, frigidaire, 3-family. 23 Hampton St. Unl. 2764.

CAMBRIDGE—5 rooms, modern, 2nd floor; $32, parking. Dahlgren St. Mil. 2647.

DORCHESTER—3-4 rooms, impts., $10 to $20 month; also first floor flats from $20 to $35. J. M. Hester, 1339 Dorchester Ave.

JAMAICA PLAIN—Large, sunny rooms, electric, clos., store, $3-$3.50 wk. Asp. 9931.

MEDFORD—Real sunny rooms, all modern, good location, garage optional, $40-$42. Devonshire 7997, week days, 12 n. 6-8 p. m.

MILTON—7 rooms, tile bath, 3 minutes Mattapan Sq. Reasonable. Milton 1437.

ROSLINDALE—8 rooms, 2½ floor, hot water heat, $60. Parkway 4297-W. Also churches. 6 Iona St., Parkway 4297-W.

ROXBURY—Five rooms, all improvements; piazza, newly renovated; quiet, ideal location; rent $30. 62 Beech Glen St. Unl. 1847.

ROXBURY—6 rooms, all impts., newly renovated; $35. Apply 39 Elmwood St.

WEST ROXBURY—5-6 rooms, $35; modern; parking. 124 Spring St.; Fitzroy 2225-R.

WEST ROXBURY—$35; 5 rooms, all impts., 5086 Washington St. Fitzroy 5358-M

WINTHROP HIGHLANDS — Attractive, small, heated suite, overlooking water, 3-room service, $35 up, moving concession. Ocean 2375.

Furnished Apartments

LOOK!!

My nicely furnished suite, including Murphy bed, dinette, large living room, bath, refrigeration; three blocks distance of Mass. Station; can rent fully furnished for short time, $20 weekly, monthly basis, for just what I pay unfurnished. Call anytime. Ken. 6700.

BROOKLINE—Six-room apartment, choice location, reasonable rent; also two-family house, for less rent than unfurnished; all heat, open fireplace, piazza; adults only. 1 Aspinwall 2606.

CHARLESTOWN—4 rooms, opposite hall park, $8 week. 18 Medford St. Cha. 1982.

ROXBURY—237 Warren St., 3rd rooms, furnished, $4. $3 weekly; handy location.

Rooms With Board

ROXBURY—Would like elderly person to board and room; private home. Gar. 0779

Rooms Without Board

BROOKLINE, Coolidge Cor., 13 Stearns Rd.—Large room, parking space, Regent 0282.

GRAND HOTEL—Under new management; 300 rooms, 300 baths; reasonable rates. 98 Dartmouth St., corner Columbus Ave.

JAMAICA PLAIN — Nicely furnished cool room, $4; business man. Jam. 4201-M.

NEAR ST. JAMES—$3 week. $8 week. Same rate for 1 or 2 persons. Twin Beds. Tourists $1 per person a day with bath.

Business Opportunities

Canoe Business
For sale on Newburyport, Turnpike, about 1 mile from Route 1. Business bought in practically new canoes and accessories. 449 Lynn St., Malden 0484.

Medical

X-RAY
Examination, consultation and trial treatment absolutely free to all who call before 2 p. m. Don't delay. Let the X-ray and mercury quarts light treatment in accomplishing wonders in cases of every description. No matter what your trouble may be, consult Dr. Daniel Walsh, M. D., fulfills the above offer.

STOMACH TROUBLE
Mrs. Marie Snyder, 41 Bickerstaff St., Boston, says: "I had suffered from Stomach Trouble for 5 years. After using the pain in my stomach was intolerable. I also had a choking sensation like hysteria. It seems to me that I have taken a cargo of medicine but without any permanent benefit; a friend told me of Dr. Walsh. She said that Dr. Walsh had helped her so much that she felt sure that Dr. Walsh could help me. I had Dr. Walsh treat me and he helped me so much I am glad of this opportunity to tell others, so they may know where to go for help."

(Signed) Mrs. Marie Snyder.

D. J. WALSH, M. D.
14 Boylston St., Boston, Mass.
Office Hours: Mon., Wed., Thurs. and Sat. 10 to 12 A. M. and 2 to 6 P. M. Tues. 10 to 12 A. M. Closed Sundays and Holidays.

Professional Services

MASSAGE TIRED, NERVOUS PEOPLE FOR WOMEN ONLY. No Juices. 11 Rutland Sq. Kenmore 9418-W

MASSAGE Hours 10 to 8. Miss Le Blanc. Laf. 0433

Help Wanted—Female

YOUNG refined woman to be placed at once. Work with manager, good salary and excellent advancement to right party. Room 206, 31 Bedford St.

Sales Help—Male

SALESMAN—Wanted with following to sell Chiropody supplies on commission basis. State experience and references. Write Box 1-1, Boston American Advertising Agency, Inc., 131 West 40th St., New York City.

WANTED—Experienced salesman, thoroughly familiar with small five cent boxes and with a following among one-stop trade to work Boston and New England states on commission basis. Address Electric City Box Co., Inc. Buffalo, N. Y.

Farm—Dairy Products

LOAM, 3 yards $6, grading and general landscaping. Parkway 2130.

Automobiles

FOR UNPAID NOTES

PHILCO RADIO PHOTOFED 1931 RCO ROYALE 8 SEDAN—Luxuriously outfitted, a lovely car in every detail; 6 wire wheels, chrome steel covers and drives only 4681 miles. Full equipment. Where you best the price you'll own it. Your present car as part payment. Demo for demonstration. Open evenings. 370 COMMONWEALTH AVE. KEN 4000 2910

100 CARS $25 to $150
ALL MAKES—ALL MODELS
CENTRAL AUTO SALES, Inc.
94 MASS. AVE., CAMBRIDGE Porter 1237. Open Eves. Tech

1930 ESSEX COACH, $295
Finished in tan, fenders redressed, looks like new model, motor excellent, 3 very good tires—1 fair, run 18,529 miles, A fine buy.

CAMBRIDGE MOTOR CO.
227 MASS. AVE., CAMBRIDGE Tro. 6400

Autos Wanted
We pay most cash. Beg on before selling. 1180 COMMONWEALTH AVE. ST. 1616 Unl. 1200

1928 Ford Sport Roadster $85
Rumble seat, 2 Hay Hitts, Inc., 1037 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, Aspinwall 2221.

1931 Chevrolet Sport Rdstr. $335
GROVE HALL CHEVROLET CO.
440 Blue Hill Ave., Roxbury. Dor. 0800

LATE 1929 HUDSON COACH
Perfect condition. W. Newton 2378. Cheap.

"28 CHEVROLET sedans and coaches, $75 to $150. STANLEY HARLOW CHEVROLET CORP., 340 MAIN ST. (MAILES-TOWN Square).

Ask About NO CASH DOWN Used Car Plan. $10, $20, $30 up
THE HENLEY KIMBALL CO.
656 Beacon St., Open Eves. Ken. 4010

SPARK plug sale. Bosch 3 for $1, regular $1 each. Fields, 1020 Commonwealth ave., Boston.

1929 CHEVROLET "99" Roadster A-1 condition. Must sell. Commonwealth 6316 Stadium 2617.

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN LARGEST NEW ENGLAND EVENING CIRCULATION

TUESDAY, JULY 26, 1932

HEARST PAPERS ADVOCATE

1—The five billion dollar loan to relieve unemployment and put billions of dollars into immediate circulation.

2—Adoption of 5 per cent sales tax and reduction in income taxes, releasing income to finance industry.

3—Immediate modification of the Volstead act, permitting light wines and beers, reviving industry and employment, providing government income, ending racketeering and restoring American personal liberty.

Germany's Public Works Program Points Way for American Economic Relief

Germany is inaugurating a new program of public works to provide employment for her unemployed.

Berlin dispatches tell of a public works program just approved by the German Cabinet "designed to put 100,000 jobless men back to work within the next nine months."

This is the solution of the unemployment problem long advocated by the Hearst newspapers, by eminent economists, by experienced leaders in agriculture, commerce, and labor, and by Mr. Hoover himself as a candidate for President in 1928.

This is the solution of the unemployment problem which many senators and representatives in Congress recommended at the session just ended.

The only reason why Congress did not adopt a comprehensive public works program to provide employment for our unemployed is because, as President, Mr. Hoover opposed the solution of the unemployment problem which he advocated as a candidate for President four years ago.

It was Mr. Hoover's veto that defeated the Garner unemployment relief bill because it contained a public works program designed to put many of our jobless millions back to work as swiftly as contracts could be let for new construction.

Had Mr. Hoover called Congress in extra session a year ago and recommended the five-thousand-million-dollar prosperity loan to finance a public works program along the lines advocated by the Hearst newspapers, millions of Americans now jobless would be at work, and millions more of their dependents would not now be living on the bread of charity.

Not only would a prosperity loan to finance a public works program reduce unemployment, but it would also check deflation.

It would put millions of men to work and thousands of millions of dollars into circulation.

It would restore confidence, quicken the wheels of industry, commerce, and labor, revive business, and hasten the return of prosperity.

To say that the American people would not welcome the opportunity in this crisis to support such a loan, would be to challenge their intelligence, and deny their patriotism.

A nation that bought in excess of twenty billions of dollars' worth of bonds in less than two years to finance the destructive and non-reproductive purposes of a great war could be relied upon to subscribe enthusiastically to an issue of five or even ten billion dollars of bonds for the constructive and reproductive purposes which a public works program in these critical times would fulfill.

The German Government trusts the German people. That is why Germany, although defeated in war, is financing a public works program to put her jobless to work.

But the Hoover administration apparently has more faith in the banks than it has in the American people. That is why it refuses to give the people the opportunity to subscribe to a prosperity loan that would finance a public works program, put millions of unemployed men to work, and thousands of millions of idle dollars into circulation.

Instead of relieving our unemployed millions by giving them work, the Hoover administration insists upon financing our financiers at home, and offering to our debtors abroad various schemes of postponement and eventual cancellation of the eleven thousand million dollars these European nations owe us. Meanwhile ten million Americans seek work and are unable to find it.

The Great Glorifier

A figure of the first rank and a most dynamic personality is lost to the American stage in the passing of Florenz Ziegfeld.

For thirty-six years the man himself was as much of widespread interest as any of his illustrious "Follies." He created a hundred stars. Like Jupiter, he made his own galaxy out of hand. But, it might be asked if he had ever created one more extraordinary than himself.

Ziegfeld will be known in stage history as the great Glorifier. There is much to be said for a man who glorifies anything and adds to the sum total of human happiness. Ziegfeld did that. He kept up interest in the stage—no mean feat nowadays. He brought gaiety to an epoch in sore need of it. He was an apostle of good popular music, and the vast quantity of it that he purveyed was high in taste and melody.

To an age regarded as drab, he brought pomp, jollity, fervor and the lusty tone of the Pagan days. If there is something of ancient Rome in Manhattan, it is because the Saturnalia lives again in the musical comedy theaters, and Ziegfeld as the Lictor was its astute guiding genius.

Countless people who never saw him will regard his death as a personal loss. But it can't be said of Florenz Ziegfeld that his curtain has fallen. His influence survives him and the epilogue of his career twinkles on brightly.

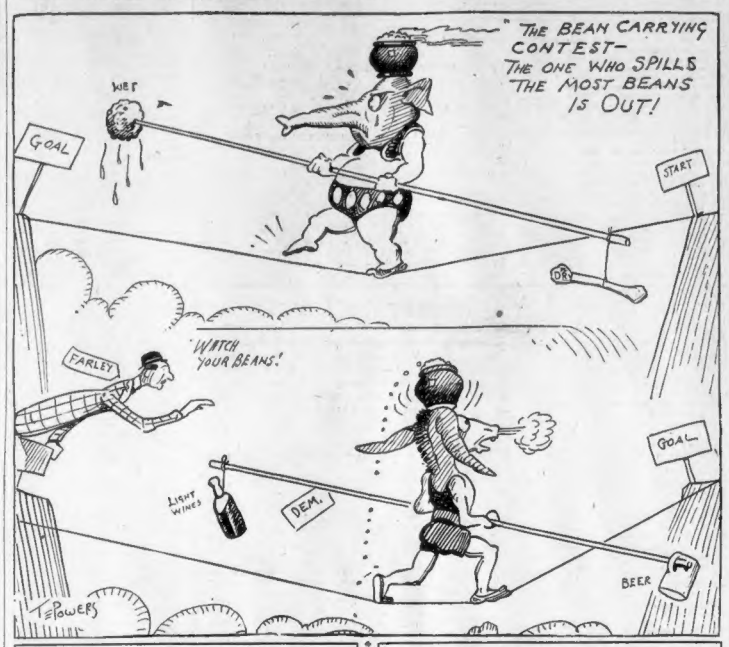
Why Hide That List of 130?

Somebody in authority is suppressing the list of 130 persons drawing relief money from the city treasury who have been arrested for various offenses by police. Some of these persons are said to be parole violators, who are being warmed, fed and possibly armed by the taxpayers.

The Evening American is told that this list has been sent to city Hall by Police Commissioner Hultman. It was sent on request from relief department officials, following orders from Mayor Curley for an investigation by police of each of the 25,000 families who are getting $1,000,000 or more a month of taxpayers' money.

Who is holding up this list, and WHY?

Political Athletes -:- -:- By T. E. Powers



O. O. McIntyre

New York Day by Day

Old New York

NEW YORK, July 26—Caroline D. Emerson has written a history of old New York for children that strikes me as vastly exciting for grown-ups. One learns. Chatham Square once had a marvelous natural spring, known as Tea Water Pump. Carts came from everywhere trundling casks to be filled.

Market dealers sold their wares by lusty poetic chants. For instance, the clam man sang:

"They're good to roast, they're good to fry,
They're good to make a clam pot pie."

Cat-tails were sold to the poor as stuffing for the mattresses and the "cat-tail man" was always the children's friend, telling stories in the manner of the radio bed-time uncle. All shops hung out signs bearing pictures. The leading livery stable was called, "The Two Running Horses."

The tinsmith shop was "The Cat and the Kettle," with a tabby asleep in front of the brass kettle. "The Sun and the Breeches" was the tailor. There were no street numbers, so people were directed by shop signs. Hence: "We live two doors from The Andiron and Candlestick."

* * *

A blessed pagan, untouched in a recent corporation shakeup, writes to Charlie Driscoll of his "promotion."

* * *

Ethelbert and Gwendolyn, the family goldfish, have rounded out six months in their new abode. "Rounded out" is a propitious term for, like civilization, in a similar period, they have been sweeping around and around, winding up just where they started. Their orbit is one of those enormously flanged brandy glasses. It has been a vagrant thought to relieve their tedium by giving them a day's freedom in a filled bath tub. But a goldfish expert—and how does he know?—tells me they would not like that. They would merely be like Kasper Hauser, who babbled in the light for return to the dungeon.

* * *

My enthusiasm for goldfish continues passive. As a decorative bit, I suppose they are all right, but I ve never reached the point of talking baby talk to them. That's the true test of devotion to household pets. A satisfying point, however, is their upkeep. They set you back about a dime a year. Incidentally, someone tells me, Lou Tellegen eats goldfish fried in butter.

* * *

On the Waldorf roof, I enjoyed watching a thoroughly Occidental pair of young Japanese in the dance floor. He was in correct full dress with an American gloss to his hair and a silver chain looping from a trousse pocket. She was in white silk with a bright red shoulder flower, and puffed a cigarette from a long red holder. During a tango, they executed steps so expertly, a handful of other tangoists withdrew to watch. Suddenly conscious of attention, they flushed and quickly left the floor. Passing our table, she turned to him and exclaimed: "I never felt so deliciously sappy."

* * *

They were airing James Montgomery Flagg's indifference to flattery. From the porticoed leafiness surrounding the patio of the gone and regretted Park Avenue hotel, one evening, I eavesdropped on a group of al fresco diners below which included Flagg. During festivities, a gurgling pool, mincing over from another table, tapped the artist on the shoulder and cooed: "Mr. Flagg, may I pay you a compliment?" He nodded and added: "But make it snappy!"

* * *

Chained to a typewriter in this daily grind, the slightest interruption often sends thoughts spraying in absurd shoots. A young man, delivering an autographed volume this morning, has completely gummed up the works. He sported a bright green tie, and the sight of it set off a gnawing crave for green apples and salt, that has fretted a hot, pale forehead almost beyond endurance.

* * *

Another ecstatic yearn—Freudians would probably give it some inferiority significance—is launched every time I pass the 46th street front of the Roosevelt Hotel. Its gray-black curlicues inspire a stinging hunger for a hefty slice of marble-cake.

(Copyright, 1932, for the Boston Evening American.)

Listen, World!

By Elsie Robinson

We Make Own Penalties

ELLEN WARD wonders whether she should take that new position. It's always a risk, changing jobs; particularly now—

Of course, she's been sick of her old job for a long time. It has no future. She does not care for the type of people she meets. But the hours are easy. She has little responsibility. She can do about as she pleases.

On the other hand, there'd be harder work and much more responsibility in the new position; but it would be delightful work, with a fine future and interesting associates.

Elsie Robinson

Yet, suppose the work proved too hard or the responsibility became a nuisance? And, then there's the fuss of moving and making a new set of friends.

Oh, it's so hard to decide! If she could only be sure that she'd like it, she'd take it in a second. But all her life it has been like that—always waiting for the big opportunity, and every time it came there was something wrong with it. Doesn't seem as if she could ever have luck like other people—get just the right breaks.

Sounds familiar, doesn't it, stranger? Almost as if I were writing about you? I am! Ellen Ward isn't a particular working girl. She's you, and I, and the whole wobbly human race.

"WE'RE ALWAYS YELLING FOR OUR BIG OPPORTUNITY. EVERY ONE OF US; YET WE ALWAYS KICK AND PEEVE AND WHINE AND SIDE-STEP WHEN IT COMES ALONG. AND TRY TO BARGAIN FOR A BETTER BREAK.

For, of course, it never comes just as we think it should come. It never fits our pet notions and habits. There's always a risk to run, or a price to say—

And so we pass it up—wait for something better—for "just-the-right-break."

But there are no just-the-right breaks. There's always danger and difficulty and discomfort with every opportunity. And that isn't because God is an old meanie who wants to crab our act, and puts a penalty on progress, because He doesn't approve of happiness.

WE CRAB OUR OWN ACTS. WE PUT OUR OWN PENALTIES ON PROGRESS.

Consider Ellen again. Ellen hesitates to take that new job because it means changes. But that isn't because changes, in themselves, are dreadful. It is because Ellen has so coddled her own cowardice that any change terrifies her.

IF SHE HADN'T LET HERSELF BECOME A COWARD, CHANGE WOULDN'T SEEM A HANDICAP.

Ellen shrinks from that new responsibility. But responsibility, in itself, isn't bad medicine. Each new responsibility is a new adventure in living—a BRING-'EM-BACK-ALIVE adventure. But such adventures are certainly tough on lazy folks, and though she doesn't know it, Ellen has let herself grow soft.

IF ELLEN WEREN'T LAZY, RESPONSIBILITY WOULDN'T SEEM SUCH A BURDEN.

And so it goes. There's always a price to pay for progress. But that price wasn't put there by malicious fate. It is the result of our own cussedness.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS AT EVERY MAN'S DOOR.

BUT THE MAN, HIMSELF, MUST OPEN THE DOOR—AND SOME OF US HAVE LET OUR HINGES GET MIGHTY RUSTY.

(Copyright, 1932, for the Boston Evening American.)

By Edgar A. Guest

Just Folks

Why

"Why is the factory closed down?"
A youngster asked his dad
As they were strolling through the town.
"Because the times are bad,"
The troubled father made reply,
But still the small boy questioned: "Why?

"Why are the times so bad?" said he.
"Why don't the wheels go round?
They made such pretty things to see.
Why don't the hammers pound?
Why aren't the men at work today?
What's wrong with business anyway!"

"There is no work for men to do,"
The father sadly said.
"And little boys and girls like you
Go hungry oft to bed.
And there will be no jobs for men
Till people start to spend again."

Again the youngster questioned: "Why?"
The father said: "My son,
Unless the people start to buy
No factory can run.
And these sad times will never end
Til men grow brave enough to spend."

(Copyright, 1932, Edgar A. Guest.)

Wise Sayings

Woman changeable we find.
As a feather in the wind.
—Italian Prov.

An old bachelor is only half of a pair of scissors. —Franklin.

All I am, or can be, I owe to my angel mother.
—Abraham Lincoln.

Daily Bible Text— "When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee; when thou walkest through the fire, thou shalt not be burned."—Isaiah xliii, 2.

By Rev. Dr. C. S. Otto, superintendent of Boston district of Methodist churches. Next text by Rev. P. L. Cosman, Calvary Baptist Church, Salem.

Ottawa Conference, A Hoover 'Triumph'

—By Claude G. Bowers—

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for the Boston Evening American.

THERE IS AMPLE justification for the "anxiety" felt in Washington over the proceedings of the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa. The purpose of that conference is to work out a plan of tariff preferentials that will operate to the advantage of the empire, and, incidentally at least, work to the grave disadvantage of the United States.

The conference was called because of the trade war launched by this country at the behest of Joe Grundy, the lobbyist, and his associates who "raised a million dollars for the election of Mr. Hoover" four years ago.

The challenge we then made has been accepted all along the line, and the nations we have so extravagantly excluded from our markets have been retaliating with tariff barriers that exclude us from the markets of the other nations.

The attitude of Canada, which so long had been one of our best customers, has been revealed in higher tariffs against us which have greatly reduced our sales in the Dominion. She is now proposing a plan in the conference which would cost us billions in loss, and practically exclude from the British Empire our steel products, except in the case of U. S. Steel, which, anticipating some such move, has built an enormous plant in Canada beyond our tariff walls.

We are just beginning to understand that it is very difficult for us to eat our cake and have it too.

* * *

Mr. Hoover Vetoed the Bill

It was because this sort of trade war against us was inevitable if we built the Grundy Chinese wall against foreign trade, that the Democrats, supported by the economists, financiers, many manufacturers, and merchants, opposed the passage of the present tariff act.

It was because that which these Democrats feared has come to pass, that Congress passed the tariff measure in the last session providing for an international economic conference to end this madness, and for negotiations looking to reciprocal concessions among our former customers. Mr. Hoover vetoed the bill.

* * *

Among the outstanding achievements of the Hoover Administration the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa will loom large.

* * *

Responsible for the Unemployment

We note that the Bourbons in Administration circles are still hopeful that we may not be subjected to a complete economic isolation. These pretend to be satisfied with the present losses—amounting to billions. These losses up to this time are responsible for the unemployment of one-fifth of all the jobless; and affect the economic well being of from seven to eight million men, women and children.

The Bourbons hope these conditions will not become worse.

But if the conference in Ottawa works out as planned, they will become much worse.

Canada, as far as the disposal of our products go, will be wiped off the map.

* * *

"Huge Investments" in British Territory

These Administration Bourbons, living in the remote past, hope that Canada and other nations of the empire will not further resent our short-sighted selfishness, out of appreciation of the 'huge American investments" in British territory.

It is true that the American investments in British territory are huge, and they are huger because of the Grundy Chinese wall. Our great industries, knowing that retaliation would be certain, have been building branch factories beyond our Chinese wall so they can continue to sell their products to British subjects. U. S. Steel and the Aluminum Company have such "huge investments" in Canada.

And if we make a fetish of this prohibitive tariff, and maintain it, most of the building of factories by American money will be in other countries. This is harmful for us and beneficial to them. For while American capital will build the factories, these factories will be manned with foreign workers who will spend their wages with foreign merchants.

It is well known that the motive of Spain in putting a prohibitive tariff on American motor cars is to force the automobile manufacturers here to build branch factories in Spain and give employment to the unemployed of Spain.

* * *

South America Planning Reprisals

And these devotees of the Grundy philosophy try to intimidate the British with the foolish threat that we may enter into preferential agreements with South American countries and exclude British products from that continent.

The stupidity of this lies in the fact that South America has been even more vociferous in protest against our Chinese trade wall than the British Empire. Nowhere has the resentment of this wall been more bitter than in Latin-America. Even now the statesmen of South America are planning the same kind of reprisals against us as are possible in Ottawa.

And these "leaders" of ours in the Administration are locking the door of the stable after the horse is stolen—as usual with them. For Argentina has already entered into an agreement with the British Empire for mutual concessions, aimed at us

* * *

In Trade Circles We Have No Friends

The truth is that in trade circles we have no friends anywhere. We have lost the best customers we ever had—by an act so stupid that it is incredible. Switzerland always bought far more from us than we ever bought from Switzerland; but in swinish mood our "leaders" of the Administration variety resented the fact that our people were able to buy anything from Switzerland at all. And so we put up the bars as much as possible against the Swiss—with the idiotic notion that the Swiss would continue to buy as much as ever from us.

Well, the Swiss are now buying everything they formerly bought from us from other countries when possible. And who can blame them?

* * *

Not a Triumph for the American People

Senator Hull, who cannot see America prospering as a "hermit nation," says:

"An international economic conference could undoubtedly agree on a common policy that might well be carried out somewhat simultaneously or in concert, as such policy would relate to restoration of business confidence, of higher commodity prices, of the collapsed international credit, exchange and trade structure, and the readjustment downward to a level of moderation of excessive tariffs in all countries."

And this, he says, is the plan approved "by all respectable financial and economic authorities the world over"—outside the Hoover Administration.

The Ottawa conference is another of the "triumphs" of the Administration.

But it is not a triumph for the American people.

(Copyright, 1932.)

WHERE TO REGISTER

Voters registered last year and listed by police April 1 need not re-register for the presidential election.)

If you are not registered you can do so at:
City Hall Annex, Room 111.
Now until August 23. Hours 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.
August 23 to August 31. Hours 9 a. m. to 10 p. m.
September 21 to October 4. Hours 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.
October 5 to October 18. Hours 9 a. m. to 10 p. m.
The principal voting place of your ward will also be open between 6 and 10 p. m., August 23 to August 31, and October 5 to 18.